

In the little world in which children have their existence, there is nothing so finely perceived and so finely felt as injustice.—Dickens

CHAPEL HILL CHAFF

By Louis Graves

One afternoon last week when I dropped in at the home of Mrs. Drew Patterson she showed me a letter she had just received from Philip Mountbatten, former Prince of Greece, now Duke of Edinburgh and Prince of the United Kingdom. He had written to thank her for a letter, that she had sent him, from his grandfather, King George the First of Greece, to her father, Eben Alexander, when he was U. S. Minister in Athens.

King George wrote it in the time of diplomatic crisis preceding the Graeco-Turkish War. The war broke out February 4, 1897. About two months after that the Alexanders came home. Mr. Alexander had been appointed to the post in Athens by Grover Cleveland in 1893. The coming into office in March 1897 of the victorious William McKinley meant, of course, that all Democratic appointees were replaced by Republicans.

Mr. Alexander, a Yale graduate of 1873, came here from his native Tennessee as professor of Greek in 1886 and was on the faculty till his death in 1909. He was dean of the University for nine years. His going on leave of absence to enter the diplomatic service resulted from the friendships that began at Yale. What his friends said about him convinced Cleveland of his merit, and their assurances were borne out by his performance.

The news of his appointment (Continued on Page 2)

Culbreth Attends Meeting

Grey Culbreth, chairman of the Chapel Hill City Board of Education, last week attended the meeting of the National School Board Association in Miami, Florida.

Calendar of EVENTS

- Thursday, April 24
 - 7 p.m., UNC Alumni Association meets, Carolina Inn.
 - 8 p.m., Miss Chapel Hill Beauty Contest, Chapel Hill High School auditorium.
 - 8 p.m., Carrboro Citizens Committee for Better Schools meets, Carrboro Elementary School.
 - Friday, April 25
 - 3:30 p.m., UNC baseball team plays Clemson, Emerson Field.
 - 7 p.m., Mrs. English Bagby's sixth grade dance class has party, Country Club.
 - 8 p.m., UNC Men's Glee Club and Hollins College Women's Chorus give concert, Hill Hall.
 - 8:30 p.m., Mrs. English Bagby's eighth grade dance class has party, Country Club.
 - Saturday, April 26
 - 2 p.m., Jaycees' Teen-Age Rodeo, University intramural field.
 - 3 p.m., UNC baseball team plays South Carolina, Emerson Field.
 - 8 p.m., Mrs. English Bagby's high school dance club has party, Country Club.
 - Sunday, April 27
 - 6:30 a.m., Chapel Hill Bird Club takes walk.
 - Monday, April 28
 - 7:30 p.m., Orange Methodist Church holds revival service.
- Morehead Planetarium: "Things That Fall From The Sky," 8:30 p.m. daily plus 11 a.m., 3 p.m., Sat.; 3 p.m., 4 p.m., Sun.
- Varsity Theatre: Thur., "Made-moisele Striptease," Brigitte Bardot. Fri., "Man of a Thousand Faces," James Cagney, Dorothy Malone; Sat., "The Golden Age of Comedy," Sun., Mon., "St. Louis Blues," Nat Cole, Eartha Kitt.
- Carolina Theatre: Thur., Fri., "Saddle the Wind," Robert Taylor, Julie London; Sat., "Apache Warrior," Keith Larson; late show Sat., Sun., Mon., "St. Louis Blues," Nat Cole, Eartha Kitt.

Y-Teens Play Role In Many Projects

Christian Development And Community Service Are The Primary Objectives

By Helene Ivey

The Chapel Hill-Carrboro Y-Teens Club, an organization of 146 high school girls, is dedicated to Christian development and community service. Freshmen and sophomores compose the Junior Y-Teens and juniors and seniors form the Senior Y-Teens.

The members meet once every two weeks and committee meetings are held before each club meeting.

All such meetings are designed to help the girl grow as a person, to grow in friendship with people of all races, religions, and nationalities and to grow in the knowledge and love of God.

UNC Professor Dies

WILLIAM E. ROSENSTENGEL

Funeral services for William Everett Rosenstengel, 61, who died at Memorial Hospital after suffering a heart attack at his office in Peabody Hall Wednesday morning, will be held Friday, April 24, at 2 p.m. at the Walker Funeral Home on Franklin Street. The Rev. Vance Barron will officiate. Burial will be in Chapel Hill Cemetery.

A professor of education in the University, he came to Chapel Hill in 1941, has taught in the School of Education, performed distinguished research, was the author of numerous publications relating to schools and educational processes, and aided in the conduct of over 15 surveys for school plants in North Carolina.

He was born December 4, 1896, in Perry, Missouri, and received his B.S. degree at Northeast Missouri State Teachers College in 1923, and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Missouri in 1927 and 1931.

He was married to the former Miss Freda Woodruff, who survives him. He is survived also by a son, William E. Rosenstengel Jr. of Kings Mountain, and by three granddaughters.

He was in the public schools in Missouri, as teacher, principal, superintendent, and was for nine years superintendent of the State Department of Education in Missouri. He was afterwards a professor of education at Northeast Missouri State Teachers College and at the University of Missouri. He served in France in the United States Army during World War I.

He was co-author of "Public School Administration" and author of "School Finance," as well as author of numerous other articles in education journals of national, regional and state significance. He had served as chairman of the Kellogg Project Committee in the University of North Carolina, and served as special adviser in North and South Carolina in school building programs. He directed graduate students in the preparation of master's degrees and doctoral dissertations.

George Barclay Is New President Of Orange County Polio Group

George Barclay recently was elected president of the Orange County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for the 1958-59 year. He succeeds Crowell Little.

The other new officers named at the annual meeting were Odell Clayton of Hillsboro, vice-president; Mrs. W. B. Aycock, secretary; and D. M. Fambrough, treasurer.

During the period from 1950 to 1957 the Orange County Chapter spent $57,203, of which $8,045 was realized from this year's drive, according to E. Carrington Smith, County March of Dimes chairman this past winter.

Mr. Little, the outgoing president, made two recommendations to the new administration. First, that further study be made of the possibility of asking the next General Assembly to pass legislation requiring Salk polio vaccinations

WEEKLY PHOTO—BILL PROUTY

20 YEARS' SERVICE—E. Carrington Smith, left, recently was honored with a plaque and certificate by the Orange County Chapter of the National Polio Foundation for his outstanding work in leading the March of Dimes in the area for the past 20 years. Crowell Little, past president of the County Chapter, presents the award to Mr. Smith along with Mrs. Caro Mae Russell, state director of the National Polio Foundation. Mr. Smith said he was very pleased with the response of local people to the March of Dimes each year and said that he hoped people would continue to be as generous as they have been since there is still much research to be done and vaccine to be purchased to stop the dread disease.

Umstead Wins Award

John Umstead Jr., for many years a representative in the State Legislature and chairman of the State Hospitals Control Board, was honored by the North Carolina Conference for Social Service last Monday night.

He was given a plaque by the organization which mentioned his abiding interest, tireless service, and dedicated leadership in the field of social service.

Actually three typewritten pages were used to express all that the organization thought of the fine work Mr. Umstead had done in behalf of the less fortunate people.

Mr. Umstead has been instrumental in abolishing the long waiting lists for the state mental hospital by having people cured; he has championed the cause of the youthful first offenders and other prisoners; he led the fight for a raise for the school teachers in an effort to improve education in the public schools; his efforts in behalf of higher education have been tireless. Thus wherever help was needed to promote the development of the people of the state, Mr. Umstead gave his tireless leadership.

Soprano Helen Boatwright Will Sing At Symphony Concert Here

The North Carolina Symphony will make its annual Chapel Hill appearance at Memorial Hall on Wednesday, April 30 at 8:30 p.m. The nationally known 60-man Orchestra, directed by Benjamin Swalin, will present an outstanding program of symphonic music. The concert is open to all members of the North Carolina Symphony Society.

Helen Boatwright began singing in the family choir before she could read. Her first public appearance was at the age of 14 as soprano soloist in a performance of Haydn's "The Creation" in her home town of Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

When she was 18, she won a scholarship at Oberlin Conservatory from which she received her master's degree. Since then her career has taken her all over the United States, Mexico, and Canada.

Perhaps the most unusual aspect of Miss Boatwright's art is the range of her repertoire. During one spring season she was soloist with Paul Hindemith's Collegium Musicum at Yale University in a concert of 15th century music, soloist at the famous Kowsky's "The Letter Scene,"

First In A Series

Community Council Necessary

Eleven years ago Chapel Hill was in the midst of its post-war expansion. The ex-GI's with their families were coming to get an education at the University, and the town was growing in population as well as geographically. More services—commercial, governmental and civic—were needed to meet this and successive growths. Realizing the urgent need at that time and in the future for a non-governmental advisory coordinating agency in Chapel Hill, a group of residents got together to form such an organization.

On December 1, 1947, the Chapel Hill Community Council held its first meeting, at which Mrs. U. T. Holmes served as chairman pro tem. After a constitution and by-laws were enacted, the Community Council began its operation. From the beginning the Council decided to act with these purposes in mind: (1) "To provide a means of consultation and conference or

Festival Of Dramatics Starts Here

The Carolina Dramatic Association, representing high school, college, and little theatre producing organizations, will convene on the campus of the University today through Saturday for its annual play festival. With headquarters in the Playmakers Theatre, the meeting will feature the presentation of 25 one-act plays, and one full-length original. All of the plays to be presented are winners of district festivals.

The program will open today with the presentation of plays from city high schools with the Mummies group of Durham; the Broughton High School Little Theatre, Raleigh; Myers Park High School, Charlotte; and Rocky Mount High School represented. Senior colleges, which will be seen Thursday evening, include Appalachian State Teachers College, Boone; Atlantic Christian College, Wilson; and North Carolina State College, Raleigh.

On Friday morning, Myers Park High School, Charlotte; Greensboro Senior High School; A. L. Brown High School, Kannapolis; and New Hanover High School, Wilmington, will be seen. County high schools will be represented on Friday afternoon, with West Jefferson, Wake Forest, and Crossmore presenting plays.

Three original plays will be seen on Friday evening. The Junior Playmakers of the Durham Theatre Guild will present "Split Second," by Virginia Ferguson; and East Carolina College, Greenville, will enact "In Remembrance," by Lloyd J. Bray.

A special feature of the festival will be a presentation of a new play by Bernice Kelly Harris, entitled "Pete's Siding." The full-length work will be performed by the Goldsboro Community Players.

Following a breakfast and business meeting on Saturday morning, there will be a Theatre Arts Exhibit and discussion hour at the UNC Library.

Jaycees' Pageant To Be On Tonight

Ten Girls Compete In Miss Chapel Hill Beauty Contest Tonight At High School

Ten lovely contestants will compete in the Miss Chapel Hill Beauty Contest at 8 o'clock tonight (Thursday) at the Chapel Hill High School auditorium. The winner of the Jaycee sponsored event tonight will have a chance in the state competition and possibly in the Miss America Beauty Pageant.

Of the ten girls competing in the contest, several are co-eds at the University who are from Chapel Hill, one is a Carrboro girl, and a number are co-eds from North Carolina and other states attending the University here. The girls are Kay Proctor, Helen Adcock, Gail Minnich, Ruth Hoffman, Pat McAuley, Diana Johnson, Ann Riggsbee, Jean Neville, Cecilia Hubbards, and Louise Crumley.

Pageant Co-chairman Lyman Wilkins said previous entrants in the contest will model Miss Chapel Hill's wardrobe which is being donated by J. B. Robbins. The models, which are pictured below, will be Joanne Aldridge, the reigning beauty queen, wearing a bathing suit; Judy Dockery, wearing a bathing suit; and Clara Tucker, sports outfit. Jim Crisp's combo will provide the music for the event, and several other entertainments are planned.

The judges will be State Jaycee President Jack Sharpe of Kannapolis, Elaine Herndon, Miss North Carolina of 1957, Mrs. J. B. Brame of Durham, past Jaycee president Bill Henderson of Raleigh, and newspaper columnist Charles Craven of Raleigh.

Miss Proctor, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Proctor of Chapel Hill, is a sophomore radio, television and motion picture major at the University. She will give a modern dance as her talent presentation. At Chapel Hill High School Miss Proctor was named to the yearbook beauty court, and was also a home economics contest winner.

Another Chapel Hillian, Miss Hubbards is a third-year co-ed at UNC and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hubbards of Roseboro. (Continued on Page 12)

Registration Books will be open at the Carrboro Town Hall and at the White Cross Grange Hall, the two precinct headquarters, this Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. in order that people may register for the special election May 20.

In order to vote in the May 20 school merger and tax supplement election a person must register in these books. No other registration for elections can be used since the area involved in no way coincides with other political boundaries.

The books for this special registration will be at the precinct headquarters listed above this Saturday, Saturday, May 3, and Saturday, May 10. The books will be open for anyone to register at the home of the registrars, Mrs. L. R. Sturdivant who lives on the Hillsboro Road of Carrboro and Mrs. Thomas Y. Teer of White Cross, during the same hours Monday through Friday through May 16. On May 17 the books will be open at the precinct headquarters for challenge of vote.

Jaycees' Safe Driving Rodeo To Be Saturday

The Safe Driving Teenage Scholarship Rodeo sponsored annually by the Jaycees will be held this Saturday. The event will begin with a written examination, similar to the written part of the state drivers' tests, at 11 o'clock at the Woolen Gymnasium. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon on the University's intramural field the driving tests will begin. Each driver will be given obstacle tests and parking tests. All grading will be done on the point system.

The cars for the Rodeo will be furnished by three local car dealers. All drivers under 18 years of age are eligible to enter the contest.

chapel hill Scenes

describing in a word or two what your friends are saying, thinking, and doing...

BOB RUSH describing vividly his "only automobile accident"...

MRS. EMMIE WADE off on a motor sojourn to Florida. HANK KOON enjoying a Sunday afternoon "Coke" break with his family...

SANDY HOFT depositing his boxer, "Butch," with LOU VINE...

BILLIE KNIGHT telling of her beautiful, blooming crab apple tree...

BOB LESTER and friend enveloped in the lobby crowd at the Carolina after "The Young Lions"...

The all-male can-can chorus convulsing the Country Club audience...

ANN and CHARLIE KNIGHT beaming through the windshield of their 1958 red station wagon...

NANCY SHIELDS trying to remember the key word in a joke...

WILLIS KNIGHT buying his favorite customer a soft drink...

ROD SARLE wondering how this column sees so much...

MARGARET WATTS deftly maneuvering her new all-white Dodge out of traffic...

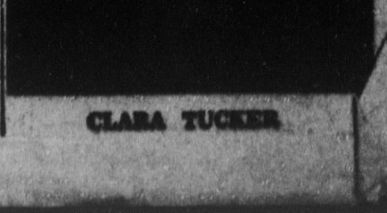

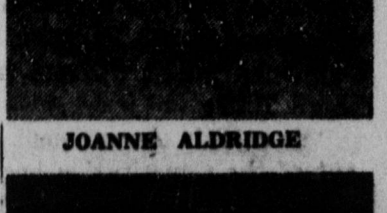

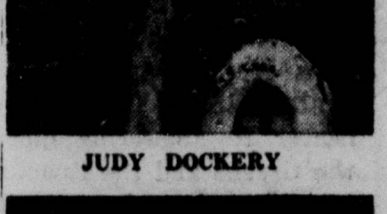

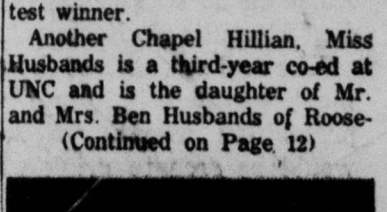

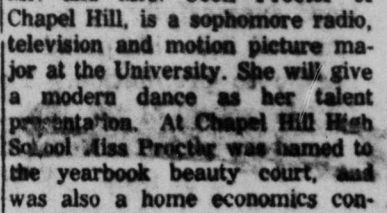

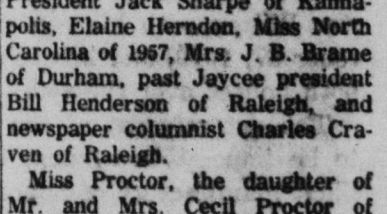

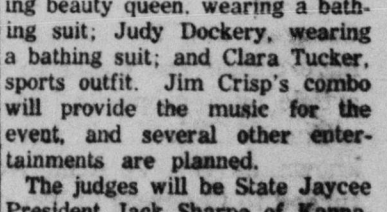

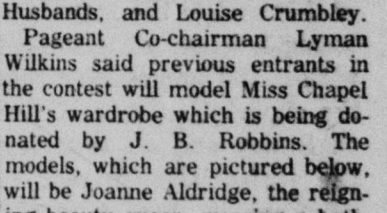

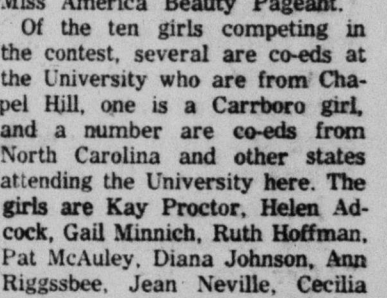

MILTON JULIAN completing details of opening a new outlet in Atlanta...

SHELDON BURMAN showing a companion the sights in his English car...

KAI and JO JURGENSON elatedly announcing their plans to go to Denmark next fall...

JOHN CARSWELL telling of his sale of more than 500 copies of the paperback edition of "Peyton Place"...

TOM PATTERSON busily engaged in writing outdoor drama for production in the West.

JUDY DOCKERY

JOANNE ALDRIDGE

CLARA TUCKER