

The Chapel Hill Weekly

WEDNESDAY
ISSUE

Serving the Chapel Hill Area Since 1923

Volume 41, Number 53

5 Cents a Copy

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 3, 1963

Published Every Sunday and Wednesday

When a man says we should put teeth in our laws, he may not mean wisdom teeth.

Housing Authority Executive Chosen

Mrs. Sarah G. Rains Will Assume New Duties July 12

The Chapel Hill Housing Authority Monday night chose Mrs. Sarah G. Rains as executive director of Chapel Hill's projected low rent housing development.

The appointment was effective Monday. For several years Mrs. Rains has been a University employee in the Buildings Department. In this work she has gained considerable experience in the maintenance and operation of rental buildings.

Legion Brass Take Office Here Sunday

Judge L. J. Phipps will be installed as Commander of the North Carolina Department of the American Legion in ceremonies at the Legion Home here Sunday. Judge Phipps was chosen by the Legion at its 45th State convention in Charlotte last week. He is the second State commander to come from Chapel Hill. Another Chapel Hillian, Paul Robertson, held the Legion's top post a number of years ago.

Being installed with Judge Phipps will be Nash McKee of Raleigh, Department Adjutant; Clarence C. Boyan of High Point, Department Judge Advocate; William Carpenter of Cherryville, Department Historian; Rev. Robert H. Poole of St. Pauls, Department Chaplain.

Also to be inducted in the ceremonies are Ike Davis of Manteo, vice commander, Division 1; Gerald Massey of Clinton, vice commander for Division 2; Robert A. Tart of Benson, vice commander for Division 3; G. Frank Jones of Winston-Salem, vice commander for Division 4; Jarvis Beck of Cherokee, vice commander for Division 5; Benjamin F. Smith of Durham, vice commander for Division 7.

32 District Commanders and 32 District vice commanders will also be installed.

Officers of Chapel Hill Post No. 6 to be installed are W. G. Kilpatrick, commander; D. M. Hornor, first commander; Austin Watts, second vice commander; Sam Taylor, third vice commander; Ural Wright, adjutant; Frank Blocksidge Jr., finance officer; Paul Robertson and Carl Seymour, chaplains.

Post No. 6 Auxiliary officers to be installed are Mrs. Donald A. Lowe, president; Mrs. W. L. Colville, first vice president; Mrs. D. M. Hornor, second vice president; Mrs. Alta Singletary, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John J. Keller, recording secretary; Mrs. Ira L. Ward, treasurer; Mrs. Lester Foley, chaplain; Mrs. Iva Brooks, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Paul Sexton, historian.

Officers of Voiture 1266 of the Forty and Eight to be installed include J. Frank Ray of Hillsboro, Chef de Gare; and T. E. Bevans of Hillsboro, correspondent.

Central Carolina Plans New Branch

Central Carolina Bank & Trust Company has applied to the State Banking Commission for authority to establish a branch in Eastgate Shopping Center.

A hearing on the application will be held on July 24 at 11 a.m. in room 316 of the Motor Vehicles Building in Raleigh. All interested persons will be heard.

If approved, the Eastgate office will be the second Central Carolina branch in Chapel Hill. In addition to the main office on Franklin Street, the bank has a branch office at Franklin and Columbia Streets.

Weather Report

Partly cloudy and hot tomorrow, with possibility of scattered showers.

High Low Prec.
Sunday 89 73 —
Monday 92 69 —
Tuesday 91 70 1.50

Daily high temperatures in Chapel Hill are being recorded through 5:30 a.m. and the low through 5 p.m. Rain is being recorded almost every day during winter.

SWEARING—New members of the Chapel Hill School Board and school officials were given oaths of office Monday night by Recorder's Court Judge William Stewart. From left are Dr. Howard Thompson, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Marie Lancaster, treasurer for the Chapel Hill school system; Judge Stewart; Ed Tenney and Ben Perry, new board members; and Grey Culbreth and Dr. Richard Peters, incumbent members of the board.

—Photo by Town & Country

Picketer's Trial Is Postponed

Trial of Robert V. N. Brown, a local integration leader charged with assault after an alleged incident during West Franklin Street picketing last week, has been continued until Tuesday, July 16.

Mr. Brown was to have been tried in Chapel Hill Recorder's Court yesterday, charged with assault after John Carswell Jr., son of Colonial Drug Store proprietor John Carswell, told his father he had been hit on the head with the sign Mr. Brown was carrying in the picket line.

Mr. Carswell subsequently swore out a warrant against Mr. Brown charging him with simple assault.

Chapel Hill Police Chief W. D. Blake said the officer on duty at the picketing did not see Mr. Brown's sign touch young Carswell's head. Chief Blake also said that Mr. Brown did not know his sign had touched anybody, and that Mr. Carswell Sr. did not see the incident either.

Mr. Carswell is represented by attorney Harold Edwards. Mr. Brown will be represented by Durham NAACP attorney Floyd McKissick.

July Fourth Protest March Is Planned

An Independence Day march will be held in downtown Chapel Hill tomorrow by the Chapel Hill Committee for Open Business.

The anti-segregation demonstration will begin at 12:45 at St. Joseph's Church on Rosemary Street. The route of march was not announced. Marchers were asked to bring American flags.

A bring-your-own picnic will be held by the demonstrators at the Roberson Street Community Center immediately following the demonstration.

The regular Wednesday demonstration at Colonial Drug Store on Franklin Street was scheduled to be held this afternoon at 5:30. Two more marches are scheduled this week, on Saturday and Sunday at 12:30.

At a public meeting of the Committee last night, Robert V. N. Brown reported that participation in demonstrations had been increasing considerably.

About 250 took part in a march through downtown Chapel Hill last Saturday. Last Saturday's march was interrupted suddenly at the intersection of Franklin and Columbia Street by two fire trucks answering a call at Julian's College Shop. The alarm reportedly resulted from a short-circuit at Julian's.

About 200 took part in last Sunday's regularly scheduled demonstration.

The Open Business Committee's picketing of Colonial Drug Store was halted last weekend for 24 hours after one of the picketers reported he had been threatened. As it developed, the report threat was only a misunderstanding and picketing was resumed Sunday evening. No other incidents were reported on the picket line.

About 100 Negroes and Whites attended last night's meeting at the Roberson Street Community Center. Jesse Jackson, a 21-year-old leader in the Greensboro integration movement, was the guest speaker. He is a native of Greenville, S. C., where he has also led sit-in demonstrations.

Mr. Jackson, student government president-elect at North Carolina A & T College, is free under a total of $18,000 in bail bonds. In Greensboro he has been charged with inciting to riot.

Discussing the integration movement in general Mr. Jackson said, "Any mayor, city councilman, governor or president who stands against the flow of the tides of history will be hurt politically, morally, and spiritually."

Nearly 3,000 Are Expected For 'Old Fashioned Fourth'

Nearly 3,000 people are expected to attend the Old Fashioned Fourth of July celebration Thursday afternoon and evening on Fetzer Field. Admission is free, but tickets must be purchased for the picnic supper.

The celebration, sponsored by the Chapel Hill chapter of the American Field Service, will begin at about 2:30 with a softball game, and will continue throughout the afternoon with games, concessions, and other activities.

Late in the afternoon a picnic supper will be served by the Chapel Hill Altrusa Club. Tickets for the supper, which will be served only to ticket holders, are $1.25 for adults, 75 cents for children under 12. Tickets have been on sale at a booth on Franklin Street, and may be bought from any member of the Chapel Hill High School Student Council or at the Fetzer Field gate Thursday.

About 1,000 people are expected for the supper, which will consist of fried chicken, potato salad, pickles, chips, rolls, and chocolate cake.

There will be no band concert at the celebration this year, but a five-piece miniature band will play at various times at various places on the field.

The fireworks display will be twice as big as last year's. The fireworks will begin at nightfall. The University has contributed to the cost of fireworks.

Entries in the Children's Pet show, sponsored by the Junior Service League, must be brought to the pet pavilion by 4:30 Thursday. Judging will be held at 5:30. Judges this year are Ted Danziger, Ed Adkins, Roland Giduz, and Dr. Robert Chambliss. In addition to first, second, and third prizes, awards will be given for the best groomed, prettiest, biggest, smallest, and most unusual pets.

Any pets are invited, but they must be either attended or caged.

Object of the Old Fashioned Fourth is to raise funds to help pay the annual cost of the AFS student exchange program in Chapel Hill. Profits from all concession stands operated by the civic clubs will go to the local program. This is the ninth year that the community has taken part in the international high school student exchange program. Each year, a foreign student has come to Chapel Hill and lived for a year with a local family while attending high school as a senior. The 1962-63 student was Len Salmon, from Quito, Ecuador, who resided with the Dr. Charles Bream family on Laurel Hill Road.

Both Lanks will be closed. Chapel Hill and Carrboro Town offices will be closed. Chapel Hill and Carrboro will each divide their Thursday garbage collections between Wednesday and Friday. Friday's and Saturday's garbage collections will not be affected.

One or two drug stores may be open Thursday, as will some filling stations. Restaurants planning to remain open are the NC Cafeteria, Brady's, the Carolina Coffee Shop, the Portholes, the Rathskeller, the Ranch House, the Village Cafeteria (through lunch only), Harry's Grill, the College Cafe, the Carolina Inn Cafeteria, and the Pines.

Memorial Hospital, the Chapel Hill and Carrboro Police Departments, and the Fire Department will operate as usual.

The Planning Board moved Tuesday night toward solution of Central Business District zoning.

The Board, its ranks decimated by vacations and illness, adopted a report prepared by its zoning sub-committee under the chairmanship of Roy Martin. The report recommended elimination of the earlier proposed division of downtown Chapel Hill into two separate sub-districts with different parking requirements.

Also set forth in the recommendation was a proposal for doubling the permissible height of downtown buildings to 90 feet. If the suggestion is adopted, downtown buildings can be constructed to a maximum height of 90 feet with no setback, side-yard or backyard requirements unless the building is adjacent to a residential district. Specific provisions of the report, as adopted:

Coming This Sunday

DESEGREGATION IN CHAPEL HILL is the topic discussed by two panels of Townspeople. One panel, made up of representatives of the Committee for Open Business, and another made up of residents with somewhat different views, discussed Chapel Hill's racial situation at length with two Weekly reporters.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

MRS. OTELIA CONNOR, Chapel Hill's gadfly of student manners and morals, is the talker in one of J. A. C. Dunn's talk pieces.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

MISS ORANGE COUNTY, a talented singer and dancer, leaves Tuesday for the Miss North Carolina pageant in Greensboro. She is the subject of a piece by Weekly Women's News Editor Paquita Fine.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

You'll find them in this coming Sunday's issue of the Chapel Hill Weekly, along with a full page of look news and reviews, Ola Maie Foushee's news of North Carolina's art world, and the latest news of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro community.

School Allotment Raised By County

County Budget Of $2,275,000
Raises Tax Rate By Two Cents

The Orange County Commissioners Monday raised the County tax rate two cents to $1.12 per $100 valuation and set a County budget of $2,275,000 for the coming year.

The new budget not only provides for routine operation of County agencies, but also increases the County's per-pupil school allotment by $3 to $41, and establishes an emergency fund that could provide air conditioning for the County courtroom.

The new budget is $85,905 larger than last year's. But, if all budget requests had been granted, the tax rate would have been increased by nine cents instead of by two.

The emergency fund created by the increased tax rate was not earmarked by the Commissioners, but suggested uses for it were air conditioning the County courtroom, school emergencies, land acquisitions, and possible pay raises not accounted for in other parts of the budget.

In school capital outlay funds, the Commissioners allocated $339,107 to the County system, $234,093 to the Chapel Hill system. Chapel Hill will get about $169,000, the County $192,000, in current expense funds.

Other principal accounts financed by the County tax dollar include about $300,000 in public assistance and general welfare programs, and $308,000 in school bond debt service.

Built into the budget are funds for anticipated pay raises that will result from a reclassification of county personnel now being conducted by the Institute of Government. Exact amounts of the raises will be determined when the study is completed.

In other business, the commissioners appointed Hezekiah Dobson to replace Don Lowe on the Carrboro Planning Board.

The commissioners also met with the Orange County ABC Board and received a promise of $225,000 in ABC profits to the county treasury.

Thompson Is Pleased By Increase

Chapel Hill School Superintendent Howard E. Thompson expressed satisfaction yesterday with the County Commissioners' allocation of school funds to Chapel Hill Schools for the coming year.

The Commissioners approved a net increase of $3 per pupil for the District, up to $41 from last year's $38. The Chapel Hill School Board in its budget request to the Commissioners had requested a $4 per-pupil increase to $42.

Dr. Thompson said he felt "good" about the increase, and was not particularly bothered about the one-dollar paring. "They gave us all our capital outlay requests. The cut was in current expenses. There will be certain reductions to be sure, but they will just rest with the Board and my office to be made. It isn't a big item, it amounts to about $8,000. You take $8,000 out of a budget of over $170,000, that isn't much of a cut for my money."

"The County Commissioners, I thought, were exceedingly considerate of us. They did all they could. I think we'll come out all right. There are a lot of things we believe we need right at the moment, but they can be postponed for a year. After all, we're going to have to ask the County Commissioners for money for more buildings in another year. The School Board, if passed, will help us on that."

Dr. Thompson said a new chairman for the Chapel Hill School Board would probably be named July 10 at the Board's special meeting. The naming of a chairman was delayed at last Monday's meeting since only four board members were present.

The main item of business at the Board's July 10 meeting will be hearing of appeals from denial of re-assignment. Thus far Dr. Thompson said the Board had denied 26 requests for re-assignment of children within the School District. Five have appealed the denial, all of them Negroes. Other appeals were expected before today's deadline for filing.

SCENES

Purloined road sign (MEN AT WORK) and two snudge pots on the front door stop of a Rosemary Street rooming house, removed by police. . . . ROBERT LESTER replacing the sunglasses his baby crushed. . . . Several citizens wandering around last night with glazed eyes and twitching lips after Time and Newsweek failed to arrive on time. . . . BYRON FREEMAN, taking his ease with friends at the Carolina Coffee Shop, asked by a waitress if he wanted some coffee, thundering in reply, "What! Me drink that rotgut?" . . . WHILD POWELL leaving a sick bed to make it a quorum at the Planning Board meeting last night. . . . Town Manager ROBERT PECK exacting the Boy Scout's oath from a reporter before agreeing to discuss Town business. . . . MARSHALL SMITH, a high functionary of the Chapel Hill Telephone Company, obligingly delivering a load of laundry to the car of a disgruntled customer of the University Laundry. . . . OTELIA CONNOR, practically beside herself after being photographed and interviewed by Town Magazine. . . . CLARENCE GRAY having a . . . LOAN with . . . about . . .

New Proposal Offered For Downtown Zoning

The Planning Board moved Tuesday night toward solution of Central Business District zoning.

The Board, its ranks decimated by vacations and illness, adopted a report prepared by its zoning sub-committee under the chairmanship of Roy Martin. The report recommended elimination of the earlier proposed division of downtown Chapel Hill into two separate sub-districts with different parking requirements.

Specific provisions of the report, as adopted:

One Central Business District with uniform off-street parking provisions for all. Off-street parking to be required for all new buildings built after adoption of the amendment.

Off-street parking to be required for the entire area of additions to existing buildings built after passage of the amendment when the total area of an addition equals or exceeds 10 per cent of the gross floor space of the original building.

Buildings already in existence in the Central Business District will be considered conforming as far as off-street parking is concerned, and if destroyed by fire or disaster could be rebuilt in their original floor space.

Off-street parking requirements suggested by Mr. Martin's committee:

—Motels, 1 space per bedroom; restaurants, 1 space per four seats; offices, 1 space per office plus one space for four employees.

Requirements for stores and hotels would be modified to one space per 400 square feet of gross commercial floor space, and for hotels one space per bedroom. The change means that some stores previously required to have one space per 200 square feet may now be required to provide only half as many spaces as previously, while others previously required to have only one space per 300 square feet will in the future be required to provide 20 per cent more space. The required parking spaces must in all cases be located within 400 feet of the business which they serve.

Very small lots within the Central Business District will have their parking requirements set (Continued on Page 4)