Outdoor Theatre Design Meet Set

UNC's Institute of Outdoor Drama will sponsor a conference on the design of outdoor theatres September 21.

The primary purpose of the conference is to present experts in the field with an experimental and revolutionary outdoor design developed by the architectural firm Cynergetics, Inc. of Raleigh, in cooperation with the Institute at UNC.

Attending the conference will be architects, designers, and directors of outdoor drama, and James Fitzgibbon, representing the Synergetics firm and designer of the new theatre.

Richard Adler, the UNC graduate, who co-authored the lyrics to such Broadway hits as "Pajama Game" and "Damn Yankees" and produced popular songs including "Fernando's Hideaway", will also be present for the conference.

The new theatre design is based on the plan of a classic Greek outdoor theatre set under an open aluminum dome-like structure. The design offers such innovations as complete flexibility of lighting and moveable scenery and the possibility of experimenting "projected" scenery.

The announcement of the conference was made by William C. Trotman, director of the Institute of Outdoor Drama.

Kidney Is Topic Of Lecture Series

The topic for the annual Medical Lecture Series at the UNC School of Medicine this year will be the kidney. American and European specialists on kidney functions will speak each Saturday morning, beginning September 21, at 11:00 a.m. in the Medical School's Clinic Auditorium.

"Each year we study a specific topic in considerable detail," said Dr. Carl W. Gottschalk, one of the program's coordinators. "These men are internationally known for their studies of the kidney." Dr. Louis G. Welt is the other coordinator for the lecture series.

The first lecture "Ultrastructure of the Kidney," will be delivered by Dr. Johannes A. C. Rhodin of the New York University School of Medicine. The second lecture, on "Comparative Renal Physiology," will be delivered September 28 by Dr. Roy P. Forster of Dartmouth College.

Two European kidney specialists taking part in the program will be Dr. Heinrich Wirz of the University of Basel, Switzerland, speaking on the "Mechanism of Urine Concentration and Dilution" November 9, and Dr. Klaus W. C. Thurau of the University of Göttingen, Germany, speaking on "Renal Hemodynamics and Correlation with Renal Function," December 14.
