Legion Auxiliary To Meet Tuesday

The American Legion Auxiliary of Chapel Hill Post 6 will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Legion Clubhouse. Final details for a rummage sale next weekend will be discussed and the fall membership campaign will be launched.

The rummage sale will be held on Friday and Saturday at the old Colonial Motors Company building on West Franklin. Articles to be donated may be left at the Economo Wash at 607 West Main Street in Carrboro and at the Tar Heel Cleaners at 418 West Franklin, or brought to Tuesday night's meeting. For further information on the sale, members may call the rummage sale chairman, Mrs. Beulah Cox (968-6046), or Mrs. Williams Colville (942-5016). Chairman of this fall's membership drive is Mrs. D. M. Hornor.

AND THANKS — The U. S. Weather Bureau last week presented Max D. Saunders a length-of-service award in recognition of his 20 years' service as Cooperative Weather Observer for Chapel Hill. The award emblem is a lapel button carrying the eagle and shield of the U. S. Government, emblazoned with the number of years service. In presenting the award, Sherwood L. Jones (left), Weather Bureau Field Representative, said "Our knowledge of the climate of North Carolina and the Nation is solidly built upon your records and those of other dedicated observers throughout the fifty states. These records are and will continue to be important in helping solve weather-related problems in industry, commerce and agriculture."

Adger Wilson Gets CPCU Designation

Thurston Adger Wilson was designated a C.P.C.U. last week at the national conferment exercises of the American Institute of Property and Liability Underwriters, Inc., in Denver, Colo. The initials stand for Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter, and 3787 men and women in the insurance business have received the designation since the Institute was established in 1942. To earn the C.P.C.U. designation, a candidate must pass a series of five intensive professional examinations and meet other requirements of experience and ethical standing set by the Institute. Subjects are designed to equip persons in the property and casualty field to serve in the interests of the buyer. They include economic problems, insurance law, government and business, accounting, management, finance, and principles and practices of insurance. Last June, 3013 candidates presented themselves at 165 examination centers in 49 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and Venezuela. They attempted 3662 examinations and 2400 papers received passing grades.

Art In North Carolina

For the seventh consecutive year, Scholastic Art Awards, sponsored regionally by WFMV-TV, coordinator of the project at a meeting of the advisory committee held this past weekend in Greensboro. Mrs. W. E. Braswell, art instructor at Greensboro College, is again serving as chairman of the advisory committee, which consists of 15 distinguished artists and art educators.

start of two new television programs on Channel 2 that are designed to further stimulate interest in art, in general, and in Scholastic Art Awards, in particular. Each Tuesday and Thursday, 6:15-6:45 a.m., and Saturday, 7:00-7:30 a.m., "Sunrise Semester" features a college credit course, "Outlines of the History of Art". Beginning October 2, and each Wednesday between 7:00-7:55 a.m., "Good morning Show" will present a five minute film feature, "Through the Artist's Eyes", which will show one artist's work each week and relate it to the history of his era.

The art project is sponsored nationally by Scholastic Magazines, Inc.

Other members of the committee include Miss Mary Ravenal Burgess, Supervisor of Art, Durham County Schools; Miss Ruth Henry, art instructor, Aycock School, Greensboro; Mrs. Alice Ehrlich, art instructor, Needham Broughton High School, Raleigh; Mrs. Robert Jamieson, art instructor, Kiser Jamieson, art instructor, Kiser Miss Gwendolyn Doggett, Supervisor of Art, High Point Schools; Mrs. Ola Mae Foushee, artist, Chapel Hill; Mrs. Frances Crimm, Art Supervisor, Greensboro Schools.
