

PLANNING TEA — At a tea held at the University's president's house last week to make plans for the coming North Carolina Symphony Ball were, from left, Mrs. Howard Holderness of Greensboro, Mrs. Collier Cobb Jr. of Chapel Hill, Mrs. Deryl Hart of Durham, and Mrs. William C. Friday.

Plans Discussed For Symphony Ball

An earlier dinner and a later Symphony Ball was discussed by 45 women from the central part of the State who met here Thursday to make preliminary plans for the 1964 Symphony Ball at the Governor's Mansion in Raleigh.

The meeting, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Friday, was for former members of the Symphony Ball Committee who lived within a driving radius of Chapel Hill.

Mrs. Charles M. Shaffer and Mrs. Collier Cobb Jr. poured. Hostesses were Mrs. Friday, Mrs. Deryl Hart of Durham and Mrs. Howard Holderness of Greensboro.

Gov. and Mrs. Terry Sanford again plan to be host and hostess for the Symphony Ball, to be held next spring. Governor Sanford is expected to name the chairman for the 1964 Ball in the near future and Victor S. Bryant of Durham, president of the Symphony Society, will name a consulting committee to help plan the ball.

The former committee members discussed changes in the program for the evening. Instead of having dinner after a dance, most agreed that the evening should begin with an earlier dinner. At the three previous balls, players from the Symphony furnished waltz music from 9 to 10 p.m. after which dinner was served. Later a combo furnished dance music.

Governor Sanford initiated the Symphony Ball in 1961 to begin an endowment fund for the North Carolina Symphony. More than $30,000 has been contributed to the fund since its start, and the Ball has become one of the leading social events in the state. Dr. Benjamin Swalin, director of the Symphony, says the ball is "like the old court dances," with the Symphony musicians playing and the state's leading ladies dancing in their finest gowns.

Eleanor Steber, well-known soprano with the Metropolitan Opera, has been a guest soloist at the ball for the last two years.

GOLF RESULTS

Ladies Day was held at the Chapel Hill Country Club Tuesday. Maie Roberts won low putt; Mary Fran Esau won low net; Jane Palmer won low gross; and Julia Braun was closest to the hole on No. 3 green.

Honor Court Is Held By Troop Nine

Troop Nine of the Chapel Hill Boy Scouts held its fall court of honor and parents night Wednesday evening at the Chapel of the Cross.

Colonel Fred Cortner, speaking for the Troop Committee, and Senior Patrol Leader Toolie Clark welcomed the 50 scouts of Troop Nine and their families.

Scoutmaster Spencer Tucker discussed plans for the coming year and Dr. John Filley showed movies he had taken during last June's week-long troop excursion to John H. Kerr Reservoir.

Advancements in rank and merit badges were awarded to boys who had earned them during the summer and fall. Warren Via, who was with the troop at Camp Durant this summer, made the presentations.

Twenty-four advancements in rank were awarded as follows: Tenderfoot: Bobby Durham, Frank Alexander, Jay Cole, and John Green; Second Class rank: Jeff Scheer, John Benson, and Dale Everts; First Class: Doug Lorie; Star Scout award: Joe Alexander, Bill Donnan, Larry Wolslagel, Xan Shepard, Bill Richie, Ken Stambaugh, Raymond Hackett; Life Scout award: Bill Berkley, Freddy Mattis, Bob Cortner, Skipper Via, Raymond Hackett, Ken Stambaugh, Syd Alexander, and Cranford Stouemire; and Bronze Palm to the Eagle Scout award: Toolie Clark.

Bill Richie received the Scout Life Guard rating and a mile swim award. Other mile swim awards went to George Cozhead, Dale Everts, Ross Scroggs, Richard Klugman, Bill Berkley, and Johnny Lindahl.

A total of 102 merit badges were awarded to 31 boys. Freddy Mattis received the largest single number, 9, all of which were earned this summer. Bob Cortner was recognized as a Troop Instructor in signalling, and Camporee patches were presented to the forty-six boys from the Troop who participated in "Fireball." Also awarded at this time, to Troop Nine's eight patrol leaders, were ribbons won by each of the patrols at the camporee.

The final award of the evening, just before the closing ceremony, was the presentation, to the Bat Patrol, of the "Golden Shovel" Award as the top patrol of the month in the troop's patrol competition, which is based on advancement, participation, and general excellence. Immediately following the court of honor refreshments were served by Mrs. Warren Via and Mrs. Norman Mattis, mothers of the patrol leaders of the Rattlesnake and Eagle patrols.

FLEA MARKET — Mrs. W. L. Wiley holds a sample from among the many items to be offered for sale at the Wellesley Flea Market, scheduled for 10:30-5 Thursday under the trees near Battle-Vance-Pettigrew Dormitory. Articles collected by Mrs. Wiley on a recent trip to Europe will be on sale, the proceeds to supplement faculty salaries at Wellesley College in Massachusetts.

FRANK UMSTEAD

State Board Post Goes To Umstead

Frank Umstead was sworn in Thursday to a four-year term on the State Board of Mental Health. He succeeds his father, John Umstead Jr., long the chairman of the body governing the State's mental health institutions.

Mr. Umstead was appointed by Governor Terry Sanford. A vacancy arose on the 16-member board when the 1963 Legislature made John Umstead a permanent member of the organization. Long a champion of mental health legislation and advancement, Mr. Umstead has served on the board since 1945 when it was first formed as a consolidation of the governing boards of the individual mental hospitals. Frank Umstead is an agent for Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company.

Board Vice Chairman R. P. Richardson said the appointment is "a significant honor to John as well as Frank."

Mr. Richardson, a Reidsville resident, and William Thorpe of Rocky Mount were re-appointed to the board for four-year terms. They were also sworn in Thursday.

Channel 4 To Show 'Governor's Hour'

"The Governor and the State," a special program of state-wide interest produced by WBTV in Charlotte, will be scheduled on three separate dates during the coming week by WUNC, Channel Four. The program is to be presented tomorrow evening at 9:30; Tuesday morning at 11; and Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

Alan Newcomb, WBTV's Public Affairs Director, joins Governor Terry Sanford and two North Carolinians who have been vitally interested and actively engaged in a study of problems facing the state, for an informal discussion of North Carolina's most obvious needs. Richard McKenna of Chapel Hill, author of the best-selling novel, "The Sand Pebbles"; and Henry Belk, Editor of the Goldsboro News-Argus and columnist for other state newspapers, consider with the Governor what to do about problems of out-migration, school dropouts, the race question, and education.

The Governor also presents candid personal feelings about his office.
