

Clemson Defeats Carolina

Tar Heels took over at midfield. They made a quick first down running, but then Eddie Kesler fumbled and Pat Crain recovered for the Tigers at the Clemson 40. That was Carolina's best effort in the first half.

Midway in the first period Clemson began to move from its own 20. Both teams' second units were in the game.

With quarterback Tom Ray running things and bullish Bob Swift ripping the Tar Heel line, the Tigers moved in 14 plays to the Carolina 18. From here, Swift broke off his own left tackle and went the distance for a touchdown, but clipping was detected downfield against Clemson and the ball was brought back to the Tar Heel 30 where the first quarter ended.

Things then got a little tougher for the Tigers and on fourth down they went for the field goal, Frank Pierce booting a 40-yarder from the Carolina 30, his fourth of the year. That made the tally 3-0 with 14:04 to go in the second period.

Carolina, meanwhile, could not get started. The Tigers, on the other hand, came back for more. Ray led the Clemson second team once more all the way from the Tiger 24 to the Carolina 11. The big blows were a long pass from Ray to end Johnny Case good for 32 yards and a fake-field-goal-and-run-play that fooled the Tar Heels badly.

Back to the wall at its own 11, Carolina put its first team into the game. The results were immediate. Ray, running a keeper play, was hit hard by end John Hammett, and fumbled. Tar Heel halfback Jackson was Ronnie-on-the-spot, catching the loose ball in the air to end the threat.

The Tar Heels ran out the clock, making two first downs. They had a total of three in the first half.

The second half started as a complete reversal of what had gone before. Because of a holding penalty on the kick-off Carolina had to start from its own 17, but Ken Willard, running brutally and Junior Edge, running wide, quickly advanced to the Tar Heel 40.

Edge then passed twice in the flat to Bob Lacey who fancies-danced his way first for 10 yards and then for nine and a first down at the Clemson 43. Junior went back to running, carrying around left end for a 13 yard gain.

More passes followed. Edge first hit Lacey for nine and then Hammett for seven big yards and a first down at the Tiger 3. Willard needed only one try to bang in for the touchdown. Carolina led, 7-3, with 8:28 to go in the third quarter as Dave Braine added his 15th consecutive conversion of the season.

The Tar Heel second unit quickly set out to emulate the first team's effort. From the NC 32, Gary Black passed up the middle to John Atherton for 19 yards and a first down at the Clemson 48.

Then Black and Ron Tuthill played off six straight running plays that worked the ball to the Clemson 22. Black went to the pass again, hitting Joe Robinson in the clear at the 10, but the big end couldn't find the handle on the football. The drive died.

Robinson quickly redeemed himself, recovering a Clemson fumble at midfield. Black and the second team made one first down and moved to the Clemson 35 as the third quarter ended.

Third down and seven, Edge, returning to the game, zeroed in on Hammett wide open up the middle. He dropped it. Leading 7-3, the Tar Heels played it safe and punted. The ball rolled dead at the Clemson 12 and the Tigers were deep in the hole. They didn't stay there long. In 14 plays, all of the running variety with the exception of a 38-yard pass from Jim Parker to Case, the Tigers marched the length of the field. Clemson backs Pat Crain and Mack Matthews chewed up the Tar Heel line time and again, with Parker finally sneaking over from the 1.

As a finisher, Parker passed to Lou Fogle for the two pointer and Clemson led 11-7 with 7:54 remaining.

Clemson kicked off short with Eddie Kesler returning the ball to the Carolina 40. But the Tar Heels couldn't budge it. Bill Edwards, whose fine kicking helped keep Carolina in contention all day, punted to the Clemson 6.

Four plays later the Tigers kicked back, not too well, the ball going out of bounds at the Clemson 42. Carolina was in excellent field position to start a game-winning drive and there were more than four minutes still on the clock.

The Tar Heels couldn't even make a first down and Clemson took the ball and the ball game. Next week Carolina is host to Miami at Kenan Stadium.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Umstead 6, Oakwood North 0
Andy Skakle returned a North punt 75 yards for a touchdown in the second half. For the North, Charlie Straughan was outstanding.

South 8, Carrboro 7

Carrboro scored first in this exciting game when Charles Lanning passed to Dickie Andrews on a 45 yard play for the touchdown. Lanning ran over the extra point. The South scored when Ken Holland passed to Johnny Parrish on a 40-yard play for the touchdown. The South won the game with 45 seconds left when Ken Holland trapped Charles Lanning for a safety.

Umstead 35, Carrboro 13

In the first play-off game, Umstead rolled over Carrboro. Jeff Umplett scored the first of his two touchdowns on a 15-yard pass from Pete Allen. Umplett's second touchdown came when he returned a punt 6 yards for the score. Jeff also caught a pass from Allen for an extra point. Tor Tosteson also scored two touchdowns. His first score was a run of 12 yards and the second a run of 22 yards. Tim Upchurch added the final score on a 5-yard pass from Allen.

South 7, North 0

The South beat the North for the right to meet Umstead in the championship game. The South scored in the first half when Ken Holland passed 18 yards to George Coxhead for the score. Holland also passed to Coxhead for the extra point.

going to anyway." The Clemson band's drum major grabbed him and dragged him away. "Tiger Rag" thundered out from the band again. The press regrouped and stopped him short of a first down.

"When we get in our five-four defense and don't get smart we do all right. When we get smart we mess up—you get tired of doing the same thing over and over. I got that way about the single wing. Just got tired of looking at it and changed—"(more uproar).

Somebody asked him what the turning point had been. (Reply inaudible). Somebody else asked him which fallback he'd prefer to have, his own Pat Crain or Coach Hickey's Ken Willard. "Wal, I got Crain and I guess I'll take him. Tried for Willard too, but didn't get him. If I had that Willard, I'd play the . . . out of him."

Before the questioning could pick up again, Coach Howard began to grow restive, and he also sensed the proximity of Tar Heel partisans.

"Boys I'm sorry you ain't goin' to that bowl this year, I swear I am."

Nobody present believed him.

smoke at the floor. "It's rough when you lose," he said, more to himself than to anybody else, and reiterated his point about the time element. "I thought we had plenty of time to come back and win the game, but we couldn't move it . . . The tide turned at their touchdown. . . . Hickey wasn't submerged in a private hell, where he has been observed following previous losing games. He seemed to have willed the Clemson game out of his mind already. He was looking for something else to work up to.

"That's all I've got to say," he said, and it was.

Duke. A later score put the damper on that brief moment of elation, and by the middle of the last quarter the Carolina fans were beginning to look as gray and forbidding as the afternoon sky.

The last straw was a wildly delighted Clemson fan leaving the stadium in the midst of a deflated crowd of Tar Heel faithful. "When is the Bell Tower gonna play 'Hark the Sound,'" the Clemson man kept asking. The Carolina people just kept walking.

DOUGLAS POWELL

Heart Campaign Chairman Named

Fund raising activities for Orange County during the coming year will be led by W. Douglas Powell, according to Dr. Oliver K. Cornwell, Orange County Heart Association president. Mr. Powell is assistant treasurer of Central Carolina Bank and Trust Company in Chapel Hill.

Dr. Cornwell also announced the appointment of Thomas Gravit as treasurer of the local heart group.

The 1964 County Heart Fund chairman will appoint chairmen throughout the County who will direct the various aspects of the annual fund raising effort in behalf of the North Carolina and American Heart Associations, of which the local group is a division.

The new chairman pointed out that heart diseases are the leading cause of the deaths in Orange County and stated that the important work of the Heart Association deserves widest possible support. The annual Heart Fund campaign, which will be conducted here next February, supports the association's programs of public health education, professional information, heart research, community service, and public information, Mr. Powell said.

Mr. Powell is married and has three children. A graduate of the University here, he is incoming vice-president of the Merchants Association, treasurer of the Community Council, director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and member of the Rotary Club.

In addition to banking and accounting for money raised during the Heart Fund campaign, Mr. Gravit will handle memorial gifts, which are accepted throughout the year.

The new treasurer explained that memorial gifts are acknowledged immediately on receipt. Two notices are sent: one to the giver, as a receipt for income tax deduction purposes, the other to the family of the deceased in whose name the gift is made. The latter notice mentions the name of the giver but not the amount of the gift.

"Memorial gifts are a thoughtful and practical way to honor those who have died from heart or blood vessel diseases," said Mr. Gravit. "The money goes into heart research and the rest of the heart program—a program aimed at conquering these diseases. Checks may be made out to Heart Fund and sent to me at the Central Carolina Bank and Trust Company."

ACCOUNTING SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Eleanor Anne Greene received the Haskins and Sells Foundation Scholarship in Accounting for 1963-64. It was announced today by the Scholarship Committee of the University School of Business Administration. A native of Richland, Miss Greene met the scholarship requirements by being among the top five accounting students. She attended the University at Greensboro before transferring to Chapel Hill.

Mooney-Freeland Wedding Friday

The Rev. Claude Graham heard the vows spoken between Alice Elizabeth Mooney and Louis Green Freeland, Jr., at Ephesus Baptist Church Friday during a double ring ceremony. Mrs. Lois Bassett, organist, and Ralph Bassett, soloist, presented a program of nuptial music for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Andrew Latta Mooney, Jr., the bride wore a white brocade street length dress, fashioned with white satin cummerbund, jacket, with rounded neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, headpiece of brocade trimmed in satin, with flowing shoulder length veil. The bride wore a gold heart which her grandmother, Mrs. B. N. Birtchett, Sr., wore at her wedding 52 years ago.

Mrs. Brenda B. Jarman, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gold brocade street length dress fashioned like the bride's, trimmed in gold satin.

The bride carried a white prayer book with a bouquet of white carnations. The matron of honor carried a bouquet of bronze carnations.

The best man was Jimmy Dixon Freeland, brother of the bridegroom.

Ushers were James A. Jarman, cousin of the bride, and Donnie B. Ward, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Edward Walton, of 1216 Hillview Road, Chapel Hill. The bride and her family have recently returned to Chapel Hill after having lived in Orlando, Florida, since 1958. The bride graduated from William R. Boone High in Orlando.

The bridegroom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Green Freeland of Route 2, Chapel Hill. The bridegroom is a graduate of Chapel Hill High and is employed by Hennis Freight Lines, Durham, N. C.

After a honeymoon to eastern North Carolina, the couple will make their home in Riggsbee Trailer Court in Chapel Hill.

SAAB is a real rural car. It runs on farm roads, neighbor's roads, unploughed winter roads, and no roads at all. It makes sense!

If you have to pull fences, haul gear, and work fields . . . most cars can't help you. Our SAAB can. It was built for rutted, unploughed Swedish roads. So it's equipped to tackle the toughest chores you give it.

It has an unusual 2-stroke, 3-cylinder engine that stands up to rough driving. It has front-wheel drive that gives solid traction on snow, ice, and poor surfaces. Expensive aircraft-type shocks and independent suspension keep you from bouncing around like all the rest. A full belly pan keeps mud and dirt out. And 7-inch road clearance avoids snags.

Come in and see why we say SAAB is a real rural car that can go "most anywhere you want to."
