

'Iguana' On Stage
At Allied Arts

Durham Theatre Guild's "The Night of the Iguana" will go into its second week of performances Thursday at the Allied Arts Center on Proctor Street in Durham.

The play, one of Tennessee Williams' most recent, was presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings last week and will follow the same performance schedule this week. Curtain is at 8:30 p.m. An added feature, a Saturday matinee at 5 p.m., will precede the final performance that evening.

This is the first production by the Durham Theatre Guild for the current season. Carl Hinrichs is directing the play and is also responsible for set designs.

Durham's Jim Zellner leads the cast in the role of Shannon, an ex-minister who has turned to guiding tours through pre-World War II Mexico; and Kathy Noyes, also of Durham, is seen as Maxine, the lusty, recently widowed hotel proprietor in the dilapidated, rustic resort.

Raleigh's Becky Penny portrays Hannah, and Steve Goldman of Durham is seen as Nonno, the oldest living poet.

Other members of the cast are Linda Samfield, Paul Lewis, Melody Dickinson, F. J. Lewis, Wyatt Clark, Woody Woodfin, Laurel Dykstra of Chapel Hill and Connie Service.

The setting is the run-down hotel inhabited with a conglomeration of guests, including a German family, the poet and his conservative granddaughter, a busload of irate Baptist college teachers and a scattering of Mexicans.

Reservations for the play may be made by phoning Allied Arts Center, 682-5519 in Durham. The play is billed as an adult attraction.

Funeral Monday
For J. T. Fowler

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for James Taylor Fowler of Carrboro, who died Saturday night at his home. Mr. Fowler was 71.

The services were conducted at the Carrboro Baptist Church by the Rev. Calvin Rains, the Rev. B. M. Spence, and the Rev. William Cole. Burial was in the Antioch Baptist Church Cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Fowler are his widow, Mrs. Arlie Harris Fowler; three daughters: Mrs. Coleman Bradshaw of Rt. 1, Chapel Hill, Mrs. Dallas Durham of Albemarle, and Mrs. Junior Gordon of Hillsboro; two sons: Herman Fowler of Maryland and Bobby Fowler of Richmond, Va.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Alice Macy Garis of Henderson; a stepson, Charles R. Watkins of Raleigh; a sister, Mrs. Pearl Ferguson of Rt. 1, Chapel Hill; nine grandchildren, one great-grandchild, and two step-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Grady Ferguson, Leary and Lester Wilson, Melvin, O. D. and William Fowler.

Behrman Appointed To BAS Faculty

Jack Newton Behrman was named Friday to be a new member of the faculty of the Business Administration School in the University here. He is a full professor.

A specialist in economic and international business, he will teach beginning January 1, 1964. Chancellor William B. Aycock announced the appointment following approval by the President and the executive committee of the Board of Trustees.

A native of Waco, Texas, Behrman is 41 years old, a graduate of Davidson College in 1943, with the M.A. from the University here in 1945, and the M.A. and Ph.D. from Princeton University.

He has taught at Davidson, Princeton, Washington and Lee and the University of Delaware, and is a member of the American Economics Association, the Society for International Development, and the Association for Education in International Business.
