Dance Is Saturday

A semi-formal Christmas Ball will be held in Naval Armory Saturday, sponsored by the Cosmopolitan Club. The ball will start at 8:30. Music will be provided by the "Southern Gentlemen" which is composed of ten instruments. It will be a ball-room dancing party with a few pieces of rock and roll and twist music. During the thirty-minute intermission, excerpts from Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker" will be performed.

John Clinard, a graduate student in the Classics Department, has been appointed by the Executive Committee of the Club to head the Christmas Ball committee. This Committee is composed of about forty people who will take care of the floor show "Nutcracker," decorations and arrangement, publicity, tickets, refreshment and music.

Tickets for the ball are $2.50 per couple and can be obtained at Danziger's, Y Court, Graham Memorial Student Union, Lenoir Hall and all members of the Executive Committee.

Student members and honorary members of the Club are urged to attend. Since this is one of the big social functions of the Club, the Executive Committee feels that it is a very good chance for foreign students and their host families (honorary members of the Club) to get together. The public is also invited. Refreshments will be provided.

Schedule Changed For One-Act Plays

The Carolina Playmakers have announced new production dates for their upcoming bill of three original one-act plays. The bill, originally scheduled for presentation on Saturday and Sunday evening, December 7 and 8, has been re-slated for the following Saturday and Sunday, December 14 and 15. The change in schedule was necessitated by the two additional performances of "Long Day's Journey Into Night" last week.

The three new one-acts, all written by students in Prof. Thomas M. Patterson's playwriting class at UNC, are "The Button" by George Gray of Gastonia, "Sydney," by Richard Philp of Vero Beach, Florida, and "A Matter of Distinction" by Tom Bonenson of New York City.

Curtain time for both the Saturday and Sunday performances will be 7:30 p.m., and the public is cordially invited to attend either showing. There will be no admission charge.

Library Will Hold 'Forgiveness Day'

Whoever heard of celebrating your birthday by giving something away? It doesn't happen very often. But that is exactly what the Public Library is planning to do this coming Saturday when the Library will hold Forgiveness Day. On this one day readers are invited to return overdue books without paying the usual fines for being late.

This is done sometimes by librarians on very special occasions, we learned from Mrs. William Geer, the Librarian, as she gave the reason for the celebration in Chapel Hill.

"Ever since the Library opened on December 15 five years ago we have been receiving enthusiastic and generous support from the community. With Forgiveness Day we are saying 'Thank you' to everyone for all the books and money and volunteer help which have been so important in the growth of our little library."

Will this be an annual event? No. It is just this one day in this special year that overdue fines are on the house. Happy birthday, everybody.

New Sales Manager Named By Eastern

George B. Jones of Raleigh has been appointed commercial sales manager for Eastern Air Lines covering the Raleigh-Durham and Eastern North Carolina area, said J. W. Goodwin, director of community relations for the company here.

An area sales office has been established in Raleigh to handle the growing activity of the company in this area, said Mr. Goodwin.

Mr. Jones was reared in Fairmont, and served in the Navy during World War II. He attended Duke University before being employed by Eastern Air Lines at Raleigh-Durham in 1949. He was sales representative for Eastern prior to the strike in 1962 and since that time has been in the travel agency business.

In his new position, Mr. Jones will be responsible for commercial and military business for Eastern North Carolina. His office will be located in the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh.
