

JEWS KILLED; OVER 100 HURT

Was Result of Attack On Hebrews In A Russian Town Yesterday.

All Shops And Stores There Conducted by Jews Burned by Christian Massacre Precipitated by Bombing of Jewish Anarchist Who Threw Bomb Into Corpus Christi Church.

RSAW, June 15.—The latest news received from Bialystok, Russia, is that the massacre of Hebrews yesterday was the result of an attack on the Jews by Christians. Nearly 100 Jews were killed and over one hundred wounded. The stores and shops conducted by Jews were sacked and some of them burned. Large numbers of pious Jews have left the city. The streets have been restored by troops patrolling the streets. A massacre was caused by a Jewish anarchist who threw a bomb into Corpus Christi church, killing several. The Christians, enraged by this outrage, attacked the Jews on all sides. The conflict was savage until the arrival of the Russian troops.

The situation today following the outbreak of yesterday is extremely serious. Rumor stated this morning that a number of Gentile girls had been killed by Jews, while others were being held in the neighborhood. Jew haters have been stirred by this report and it is expected there will be a renewal of the massacre. Banks, shops, restaurants and factories are closed. Business is at a standstill.

RULERS EXPECTED AT JAMESTOWN FAIR.

ROFOLK, Va., June 15.—The Daily Telegraph urges King Edward to pay a visit to America. The king's itinerary would be a visit to President Roosevelt in Washington, a sojourn in Norfolk to witness the Jamestown Exposition which in 1907 is to commemorate the settlement of America by English speaking people. If King Edward decides to throw a precedent to winds and again visit America then was here as Prince of Wales he will also visit New York and Canada.

It is well known that the relations between the English king and queen and the London Daily Telegraph are cordial. When he was prince of Wales, the present king was instrumental in having the proprietor of the paper knighted. It is therefore probable to assume that the warmth and enthusiasm of the Daily Telegraph over the question of the king's visit to America meets with the approval and sympathy of the monarch. It is believed that the opinions expressed were inspired by a nod or wink from the king and remains to be seen how the British people regard the matter as a whole. At present it is thought the king may yet visit a tree on the grounds of the Jamestown exposition, sit under the big branches of the great, Powhatan tree which was a mature tree when King James granted the Virginia charter—and drink from the old Spring from which Pocahontas quenched her thirst.

The Kaiser is more than likely to visit America and the exposition may infer from a presumably reliable article by Herr Albrecht Wirth in which, one of the most distinguished professors at the Bavarian university, who is a noted writer on international affairs and in close touch with the imperial foreign office. Herr Wirth thinks it more than possible that Emperor William and President Roosevelt may exchange visits. To Harry St. George Tucker, president of the Jamestown Exposition, Kaiser hinted that the German emperor which will visit the exposition next year, will be in charge of a part of the royal family and is full of surprises what is more likely he may command the expedition in person.

HAIL STONES BREAK GLASS IN GREENSBORO

GREENSBORO, June 19.—Late yesterday afternoon this city and section had a bad hail storm followed by almost a cloud burst of rain. In the city the hail was not accompanied by wind and the immense stones falling straight down did but little damage to glass except on skylights, every one in the city being broken. At Pomona J. Van Lindley's immense green houses had all the glass broken and thousands of panes in the Pomona cotton factory roof were smashed. In the country north and west of the city it is reported this morning that the hail literally ruined crops and the rain which followed swept away bridges, as well as flooded the bottoms.

Great drops of hail began falling here, almost without warning, and many horses being so unexpectedly bombarded by stones falling from above ran away, but nobody seems to have been hurt. Many of the stones were even bigger than goose eggs, some measuring nine inches in circumference and others, which were weighed, reaching five ounces.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE OF TWO BALLOONISTS

NEW YORK, June 19.—The experiences of Dr. Thomas and Charles Levree during fourteen and one-half hours balloon trip which ended at Butternut, Otsego county, have never been equaled in the history of ballooning in this country. Eight hours were spent in a thunderstorm. The air was so full of electricity that even the ropes became charged. At times the cold was intense and garments froze. They could see land only occasionally and feared being carried out to sea.

CONDITION OF TOBACCO CROP.

U. S. Department of Agriculture Issues Review of Situation at Present.

Indicates That Both Acreage And Yield Will Be Smaller Than Last Year.—Increased Acreage in Several States.—Prospects for the Crop as a Whole Rather Gloomy.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—A review of prospects of tobacco crop by department of agriculture indicates that both acreage and yield may be smaller than last year. It shows increased acreage in New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Georgia and Florida. There is an increase of about 25 per cent in chewing, smoking and export districts. The prospects are gloomy. The crop will be at least three weeks late. In Paducah district of Kentucky and Tennessee the weather is unfavorable. Virginia reports reduced acreage, largely on account of lack of labor. In the Carolinas a poor stand was obtained. In Maryland dry weather delayed planting.

TRAIN RIDE FRIGHTENED HER.

Aged Woman on First Trip Screamed And Had to Be Let Off.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 18.—Mrs. Charles Skinner, of Jackson, a seventy-year-old woman, who yesterday took her first ride on a railroad train, was so frightened that the train was stopped and she was permitted to alight, owing to fear that she would die of fright.

With her son she started from her home, near Benton, to go to Danville to visit relatives. They drove to the Benton station, and there the old lady after much persuasion, was induced to board the train.

No sooner had it started and she saw the landscape moving past, heard the rumble of the wheels, and felt the motion of the train than she began to scream, and in a minute was hysterical and struggling to get off. The passengers, greatly frightened and fearing she would die, induced the conductor to stop the train, and she alighted half mile from the station, and as soon as she recovered walked home.

GREENSBORO, June 19.—Major W. A. Guthrie, of Durham, is about the only man seen, who saw the hail here Monday and did not acknowledge it was the biggest hail he had ever seen. "This Greensboro affair," he said, "was certainly something to boast of, and I do not mean to throw cold water, or congealed water on it, but just 40 years ago, at Chapel Hill, it was in June, 1863, just after the commencement there was a hail storm which lasted over half an hour, and the hail staid on the ground piled up ever so deep for days. We didn't have ice factories then as now, and there was a plethora of ice cream in the boarding houses and hotels, I remember well, for a week."

"Now as to the size of the stones, I am not positive, but I think I remember that a class mate, George Booser, who is now clerk of the supreme court of South Carolina, who was spending the vacation, like myself studying, and who was my room mate, picked up one of the stones that fell down our big old rock chimney, on the floor to put it in the water pitcher and it would not go in, until he split it with a hatchet. It was a pretty good hail here, but the one I saw forty years ago, I was very young, I shall never forget, should I live to be an old man. Many of the stones, though nothing like all of them, were bigger than baseballs, and my room-mate, Booser, is now clerk of the supreme court of South Carolina."

Ex-heroes can't understand why the world has such a poor memory.

ANTI-SEMITIC RIOTS RAGING.

Attacks on the Jews in Many Places in Russia Still Continue.

Reports Received About Fresh Atrocities in Different Parts of the Country.—In Some Places Rewards Are Offered for Bodies of Jews.—Other News About Disturbances in Russia.

BERLIN, June 19.—Prominent Jews here have received information of numerous anti-Semitic riots throughout Russia.

At Elizabethgrad priests of Orthodox Greek church incited populace to attacks. Bloody riots resulted. At Bogoiopol, in province of Volhynia, local authorities posted placards summoning royal population to exterminate the Jews who are revolutionists. At Saraki in Bessarabia the authorities posted a telegram reading, "Death to Jews, kill them all," signed "Nicholas." Peasants, believing the command came from the czar, killed many. At Mieshln wealthy Gentiles offered $5.00 to every one who killed a Jew; $2 for wounding; $1 for every male Jewish baby killed. The peasants are gathering arms and preparing to earn rewards. Riots also have been organized at Plockkuto, Towies, Kielce, Cholm, Lomzha, Pinenezow and Mremenetz.

GREENSBORO, June 19.—With one accord, Republicans here who know him, speak in praise of the new collector Brown, appointed yesterday in place of Harkins. Even anti-Blackburn Republicans, say they are rejoiced to see the sceptre departing at last from the mountains, the transfer of the chairmanship from Asheville being followed so soon by that of the most important political office of all, the collectorship of the Western North Carolina revenue district. Being asked if the new office would not mean a complete shake up as to the deputy collectors, one well informed Republican said that it could not for some time. He said that these positions were under the civil service, and only those who had been examined and were on the list, were eligible for appointment.

There is not a man on the force in this whole district, who does not live in the tenth congressional district, except Deputy Collector Sheek of Davie," said this gentleman, "and Sheek would not be there, if the department at Washington had not prevented his removal."

"Brown is a splendid man," said an influential official, "and has had experience in the service. When Cooper was collector, he was his chief deputy and really ran the office. He will run the office now too, and will do it on a much higher plane than certain politicians think, and a great deal better than the Asheville crowd ran it."

Winners From the Middle West.

A majority of the engineers engaged on the Panama Canal have been taken from the Middle West. The president of an Eastern technical school recently called the attention of his students to this choice of Westerners, and told them that it was because the Westerners are not so much concerned as the Easterners about their health and other matters of personal convenience. The young man who declines to undertake work that offers because, perchance, it may be a little unpleasant will always be outstripped by the man who overlooks unpleasantness in his eagerness to accomplish results.—Youth's Companion.

New Attachments Received.

Dr. J. Thomas Wright has recently received some new attachments for his splendid electrical and X-ray machine and is well prepared for the treatment of various diseases by this method. He is prepared to give treatment for which many patients formerly went to the larger hospitals of the North.

TO SLAUGHTER HORSES.

Band of 18,000 Wild Cayuses Will Be Killed by 400 Cowboys.

From the Anacostia Standard.

This is the month fixed upon by general agreement among certain cowboys of the state of Washington for an event the like of which probably never occurred in the history of the United States. That is, the proposed deliberate slaughter of a band of 18,000 wild horses.

The cattlemen on "the range" in Washington want the grass for their beeves. It grows on government land, it is true, but they claim it as their own, and the wild horses which have multiplied there, particularly in Douglas county, have become obnoxious on account of their large consumption of said grass. So the animals are to be rounded up and put to death as a means of preserving to the cattlemen a monopoly of the annual crop.

As scheduled, 400 cowboys will take part in the ride after these wild creatures of the range. The purpose is to rid the range of this great band of grass consumers, and the effort, presumably, will be to dispatch rather than capture the horses.

These untamed and practically untamable animals are the product of nature left to itself on the great range for 30 years. The stock is interbred and of course underbred, and has no place in the economy of civilized life.

The careless settlers of 30 years ago who allowed their ponies to run uncaired for on the range year after year were culpable in this matter. Their action, or inaction, was without excuse, except such lame excuse as thriftlessness makes for neglect of duty, and the result has been a multiplication of unprofitable animals that have eaten out the grass on the range for years, to the detriment of the interest of a legitimate stock industry.

It is doubtful, however, if the sentiment of the American people can be brought to approve a measure which no business sophistries can rob of its atrocity. The cattlemen themselves, we believe, in fact trespassers on the very land from which they propose to sweep these innocent herds of wild horses. Quite possibly a majority of the people, who are the real owners of the land, would rather have their grass cropped by the horses than by the beeves of the trespassing cattlemen. The latter are not noted for their tender care of the range grasses. Thousands of square miles of land, formerly rich with grasses, are now barren as the result of overgrazing by cattle and sheep.

It is within the power of the secretary of the interior or of the president to order the proposed round up and slaughter stopped. It should be done.

RALEIGH, June 19.—The North Carolina summer school opened today with a marked degree of success, there being more than five hundred teachers here already from every part of the State. It is expected that the attendance will be more than six hundred within the next few days. The school will continue for three weeks. The first feature of the school was really last night when President Snyder, of Wofford College, delivered an address followed by an informal reception.

At ten o'clock this morning there was a demonstration of the work done in the education of the deaf and dumb. Supt. I. Mck. Goodwin is here with some of the faculty and a class of students from the state school for the deaf and dumb at Morganton for this demonstration. The summer school is organized to take in every phase of study that would come within the scope of the public school teachers and the faculty and lecturers consist of more than seventy-five of the foremost educators and specialists of this and other states.

PRESIDENTS TO MAKE REFUSAL.

Heads of Various Railroads Not to Give Testimony at Hearing Tomorrow.

Decide to Refuse to Testify Before Interstate Commerce Commission Unless Subpoenas Are Issued for Them.—Commission Busy Collecting Evidence of Ownership of Coal Property by Railroad Officials.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—It was expected that the presidents of the Chesapeake and Ohio, Norfolk and Western, and Baltimore and Ohio railroads would appear before interstate commerce commission here tomorrow to be questioned as to whether officials of the roads own stock in various coal companies along the lines. It is understood the presidents will refuse to appear unless subpoenaed. The opportunity has been offered them to testify but no subpoenas have been issued. The commission takes this course to avoid danger of involving the government in the situation under immunity clause of Elkins act, which led to miscarriage of justice in Chicago packers' case.

The commission makes no concealment of the purpose of the government, if prosecution is fully supported by evidence, to recommend prosecutions wherever law has been violated and it accepts the view that it must be the head of each company who must be indicted and punished.

SOME FIGURES ABOUT WEDLOCK

Statistics Showing the Number of Married, Widowed And Divorced Persons in United States.

From Baltimore Sun.

The census report on population, just issued, shows that in the total population of 75,994,575 in 1900, the number of "single" persons was 43,983,955, or nearly 58 per cent. The married were 27,770,101; the widowed, 3,895,847; the divorced, 198,914. In the Old World the proportion of single is different, being 41.4 per cent. In India 54.6, in Spain 60.8, in England and Australia the figure varies from 65 to 68 per cent. In the Southern states the percentage of unmarried persons is 60.8, of married 33.7, of widowed 5.1, of divorced 0.2, while in the North the corresponding figures are 56.4, 38.0, 5.2, .02. The twelfth census shows 21,494 more negro wives than negro husbands, the women reporting themselves married more freely, it appears, than the men. But the figures, as respect the colored population, are open to question, many reporting themselves married when not legally married. "Of 40 couples at Cinclare, La.," says the report, "who reported themselves as married, only 20 were legally married in the church or by civil authorities. Numerous cases are seen of two persons legally married and yet each living with a different person and reporting as being married to the second." In Porto Rico the same state of things exists to a large extent, owing to the cost of the necessary religious ceremony. In Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont the divorced are half of 1 per cent of the population, while in Maryland and West Virginia the divorced were two-tenths of 1 per cent and in Virginia one-tenth of 1 per cent and in Nevada the divorced are seven-tenths of 1 per cent, and in Washington, Oregon and California six-tenths of 1 per cent.

TIED BOY TO RAILS.

Track Walker Found Lad Almost Unconscious Just in Time to Save His Life.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., June 18.—Exhausted and almost unconscious, Benjamin Scott, a lad of ten years, was found this afternoon tied down on the rails of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad between Fort Edward and Sandy Hill. A track walker found the boy and released him just in time to save him from being crushed by a train.

The boy, who lives in Fort Edwards, said that he had been seized while on his way home by two young men who, after lashing him, secured him across the rails and left him. How long he had lain there he could not say, but it is supposed that he must have been there for more than an hour.

Storm at Stokesdale.
