HISTORICAL EXHIBIT.

It is gratifying to note that North Carolina is to have a historical exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition and that a Winston-Salem lady, Mrs. Lindsay Patterson, is to have charge of it. It is to be hoped that the State will have the best historical exhibit of any State in the Union and that Winston-Salem's exhibit will be the best in this State. There is no reason why this should not be the case. This community is rich in historical material and relics of various kinds and if those who have such things will offer to exhibit them the Twin-City's showing will be a notable one in every respect. All historical exhibits from this city will be sent to Raleigh and there placed in charge of a man who will send them to the exposition grounds and remain with them. They will be placed in a fire-proof building. The possibility of any kind of loss will thus be reduced to a minimum.

The Wachovia Historical Society has already decided to make an exhibit. This society has a large number of historical relics, and its exhibit will make a splendid showing. The society is to be congratulated on its decision to be represented at the exposition. It is hoped that any individuals who have suitable material will follow the example of the society in this respect.

Those who have relics they would be willing to exhibit are asked to communicate with Mrs. Lindsay Patterson or Mrs. W. N. Reynolds, regent of the Winston-Salem Chapter, D. A. R., at once. No community should be allowed to get ahead of the Twin-City in the matter of a historical exhibit and none will be allowed to do so if the people of this community will give the proper support to the movement.

The proposition to make ex-presidents of the United States senators at-large has some good features and offers a possible solution of the problem of what to do with our ex-presidents. It is certain that some plan should be devised whereby a man who has held the high office of president will not be lost to the public service as soon as his term expires. A man who had the ability to be president of the United States has too much ability to retire altogether from participation in public affairs. As it is now no provision is made for keeping ex-presidents in the public service. The objection to the plan, namely, that such a plan would upset the equality of representation in the Senate by giving some States or States more than two senators is not necessarily a formidable one. A senator-at-large would not represent merely his State but the whole people of the country and the fact that he had been president would entitle him to any extra distinction arising from such a condition.

The railroad service on the Southern Railway from Greensboro to Wilkesboro is in need of improvement at once. We doubt if there is a division on the entire system doing a like amount of business that is in like condition. The schedule is slow, the coaches are not what they should be, the roadbed and tracks do not seem to be in good condition and other defects are noticeable. The frequent delays and accidents between Greensboro and Wilkesboro would seem to indicate that something should be done to improve the service.

A gratifying interest is being taken now in the work of the Winston-Salem board of trade. The attendance on the meetings is good and much interest is manifested by those who attend. The movement for a bigger and better city is meeting with the support of our citizens and there is an enthusiasm with reference to our city that augurs well for its future. Winston-Salem is now in the midst of a great forward movement and every citizen should give the board of trade his earnest support in its efforts to advance the interests of Winston-Salem.

Misses Margaret and Frank Hanes returned yesterday afternoon from a visit to Mrs. E. G. Hester, at Tampa, Fla.

OFFICERS FIND HIDDEN LIQUOR

Make Thorough Search of a Negro Woman's House. But Discover Nothing Until Ashes in the Kitchen Fire-Place Are Disturbed.

Chief Thomas and his men are still making war on "blind tigers." The chief says he is determined to break up this business. He had another amusing case Sunday. A week ago he found a quart of whiskey and a quantity of beer in a bed at the home of Mary Harris, colored, on Depot street. The chief and one of his men visited the home of Mary again yesterday and they were most cordially greeted.

"Come in Mr. Thomas; I never mind seein' you comin' when dere's nothin' doin'. You can investigate all you want to but you'll not find anytuff today."

The chief made a careful search, but found nothing in the room where the "ardent" had been usually kept. From the big room he went to the kitchen. Mary kept close to the officers and continued to remind them that they would not find any intoxicating drinks this time. Even the doors of the cooking stove were opened. Finally the chief spied a pile of ashes in the fire place. Grabbing a broom sitting nearby he proceeded to make a dive into the ashes and to his surprise out rolled two quart bottles, filled with "mountain dew," the blockaders call it.

When the handle of the broom went into the ashes Mary shouted: "Lordy, Mr. Thomas, youse got me agin, but I didn't know dat stuff was dar."

The woman was cited to appear before the mayor this afternoon.

Wesley Smith Arrested.

"I want Wesley Smith," said Chief Thomas yesterday, and the Chief explained that he had a case against the negro for retailing without a license. Patrolmen Pratt and Bryan went out and returned in a few minutes with Smith, who claims that Greensboro is his real abiding place and that he owns a house and lot there. Wesley is recognized as a curiosity in Greensboro. He is a talker, and has no respect for the English language. During his trial before a Superior Court judge in Guilford several months ago, on the charge of retailing, Smith argued his own case and was released.

Upon taking a seat in the police station yesterday afternoon, Wesley began to discuss his case.

"I neber argue wid an officer unless I can prove an alibi," said the prisoner.

"What is an alibi?" asked one of the cops.

"An alibi is where an officer or witness sees a fellow sellin' de real stuff," answered Smith, whose very expression indicated that he believed his "diagnosis," as he expressed it, was correct.

"The gwine back to Greensboro as soon as dat town goes wet," said Wesley, who explained that he did not like a "dry town for nuthin'."

A friend put up $50 cash bond and Smith was released.

Dudley Buck Not Master of Ceremonies

Statesville Landmark.

Many people have noticed on musical programmes the name of Dudley Buck attached to selections to be rendered. Dudley Buck was a musical composer, a native of Hartford, Conn., and died in 1897. Last Sunday the poet of the Charlotte Observer staff attended the Elks' Memorial exercises in Charlotte. He didn't know the master of ceremonies and gleaning at a program the name of Dudley Buck caught his eye. He concluded the gentleman who was running things was Mr. Buck and next day the account of the affair appeared in the Charlotte Observer with Dudley Buck as master of ceremonies. Since then the poet has had many kind friends tell him about Dudley Buck. It was an unusual break for him, but even Homer nods. But the Landmark has not mentioned it to fear. It is not becoming in any newspaper to be too gay when another falls down. We're all too vulnerable.

CRUISER SUDDENLY PUT IN COMMISSION

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 19.—The cruiser Milwaukee was put in commission today on sudden orders from Washington. The vessel has been at Mare Island navy yard for weeks where repairs were being made. The ship is far from complete, which is well known at Washington. The order to place her in commission is therefore regarded as significant. Some believe it has some bearing on the United States relations with Japan. It is expected the Milwaukee will be kept in the Pacific until her guns can be placed aboard her.

One theory of the police is that the blazes were started by robbers. Hundreds of persons were forced to escape on the fire escapes and scores were rescued by firemen on ladders.

Just after supper she started to visit a neighbor and fell over a stump, throwing her entire weight on her arm. Mark Twain is lobbying for the new copyright law. He made a demand Saturday on Speaker Cannon for the privilege of going to the floor of the House to button-hole members. In a characteristic letter he says he has led Congress alone seventy-one years and is entitled to its thanks. He said he had lots of arguments with him, also a barrel with liquid in it. Mr. Cannon explained that he couldn't grant a floor privilege but gave the humorist his private room where he is lobbying members for his bill. He called at the White House Saturday.

North Carolina, Forsyth County: Notice to Executors, Administrators and Guardians:

Every Executor, Administrator and Guardian is required, by law, to file with the Clerk of the Superior Court, annual reports so long as any part of an estate remains unsettled, and when settlement is made to file final report. When such reports are not filed, as required, the law directs the Clerk to issue legal Citation, and then if report is not filed within twenty days from service of Citation the Clerk is directed to proceed against such delinquent Executor, Administrator or Guardian by removal and attachment.

There are at present numbers of Executors, Administrators and Guardians in Forsyth County behind on reports, notwithstanding the fact that I have faithfully endeavored, by persuasion, to secure the same. Since notices by mail or publication have, in many instances, proved unavailing, I feel it my official and sworn duty to try legal means. Therefore, I trust that parties behind on reports to this office will file the same promptly, otherwise they may expect such proceedings as are prescribed by law, without further notice.
