Kentucky Senator Tells of Excellent Achievements of the Administration.

St. Louis, June 15.-The achieve-ments of the Wilson administration in enacting beneficial legislation and in keeping the country at peace without sacrifice of the national honor were pronounced epoch-making in American history by tional Senator Ollie M. James, of Kentucky, in his address today as permanent chairman of the Democratic National onvention

"During three years of its national control," said Senator James, "Democ-racy has enacted into law more progressive remedial legislation that the nation has ever had written upon its statute books since its birth. In former national contests in the last two decades our party came as a prophet. Today we come with deeds; not words; with performances, not pro ise. The Democratic party has kept its word with the American people. We have made good."

Legislative Record.

The chairman reviewed at length the legislative record of the administration and eulogized the President for his direction of foreign affairs. The Democrats, he said, had enacted a tariff law under which monopolies were ourbed and unexampled prosper ity attained; a banking law taking the money control out of the hands of an oligarchy and making panics no longer possible; and many reform measures of lesser importance

He declared that President Wilson's all over northern Mexico telling of the Mexican policy and his course in pro-rapid spread of anti-American feeling, tecting American rights against the encroachments of European belliger ents had shown all the world that the President "neither builties the weak nor fears the strong."

In a concluding appeal for the tri-umph of patriotism above politics, Senator James said the renomination of such a president in partisan convention ought not to be necessary, and that to discredit him might palsy the hand that could write the peace treaty of the world.

Agains Lobbying.

At the outset the Senator referred briefly to President Wilson's cam-paign against lobbying and pointed constitution had been amended for the first time since the Civil War when "we freed the Senate from the control of the great interests by making it elective by the people at the polls. mons tariff as one of which the party was justly proud, Underwood- Simmons Tariff Bill.

"We have entered the hall as Democrats; let us leave as American citizens," said Mr. Glynn. "It is the business of this convention, speaking from every racial strain in America, to send forth a message to all the world that will leave no room for doubt." At 11:20 o'clock there were not more than 20 delegates on the floor of the national Democratic convention only a few officials on the platform and the galleries were filling slowly There was little excitement and bands from down-town furnished the only amusement. Carpenters were betting a tatto in finishing touches on the hall as the delegates filed in. The delegates and alternates had seats on the main floor arranged like an oblong wedge, with the broad side toward the platform. Their seats were jammed together, arrangements being much more congested than at either Chicago convention. The only picture of Wilson was hung on the speaker's stand. It was a small reproduction of a photograph on a shield with a background of the flag and inscribed. "America First." The Coliseum filled rapidly just before noon, some delay in opening the to spectators preventing an doors arlier influx. Bands accompanied the delegations but were not allowed to march into the hall. There was litthe excitement or cheering preceding the opening of the convention. Motion picture machines and cam eras were at every vantage point. Because of the heat under a skylight many delegates removed their coats and it promised to become soon a coatless crowd. Chairman McCombs took his place at 11:30 amid cheers and applause. A few thumps of his gavel quickly secured order and he cried: "The convention will be in order."

One verse of America was then sung by the entire crowd with flags tossing to the rhythm. It was followed by the Star Spangled Banner. The Rev. James W. Lee, of St. Louis, offered the prayer.
