THE NEW HEALTH ORDINANCES HERE

Adopted By Aldermen In Regular Weekly Session—Summary of New Laws

At the meeting of the board of aldermen Friday night Chairman G. E. Webb, of the health committee, presented the draft of ordinances under which the new health department of the city will be operated. The ordinances as recommended by the health department and approved by the ordinance committee were read and formally adopted.

Under the new ordinances the health board is composed of the mayor as ex-officio member, the chairmen of the water, sewer and finance committees. These shall recommend to the board of aldermen a suitable person for the office of city health officer and these, together with the latter's assistant, who shall be the city physician, shall complete the board.

The committee shall promulgate such regulations as shall secure the greatest efficiency in the conduct of the department and control of the health of the community. A section of the ordinances prescribe the regulations for the control of communicable diseases, requiring the report to the department of all cases as soon as they appear, isolation of patients suffering from contagious diseases, and the conduct of persons in the household in which the disease is extant. The superintendent of public schools shall be notified of all cases appearing during school term, and all persons suffering from them must refrain from attending church, school, theatres, riding in public vehicles, or attending any public gathering until they have been discharged by the health officer.

A section of the ordinances places all persons, firms or corporations selling milk to consumers in the city under the vigilance of the department. Proper inspection of dairies is provided, an annual test of cattle for tuberculosis, watch over the physical condition and health of persons handling milk, manner in which milk is to be delivered, arrangement for scoring dairies according to their attainment to the standard required by the State board of health, the filing of a list of all persons served by dairies every sixty days, and many other details giving the department the closest watch upon the milk business for the protection of the health of the people are required in that section.

The name of the meat and milk inspector was changed to food inspector and he will be under the direction of the city health officer. A section of the ordinances deals with the wells and springs in the city that are found to be polluted or detrimental to health, the water from which is being used for domestic purposes. It gives the officer the authority to condemn the well and to require the owner, agent, lessee or occupant of the premises forthwith to close same, and to post notice of warning to the public that the well is condemned and that to drink the water from the said well or spring will cause disease. When a well or spring is suspected of being polluted the officer may so place them as a warning to those using it to boil the water until the result of the final analysis of the water is known.

Another division of the ordinances provides the manner in which garbage (including all meats and vegetable matter used for foods that are decayed), trash, and all refuse, ashes, and dead animals not killed for food, shall be cared for and places upon the owners, or occupants of the premises the responsibility of keeping them in a sanitary condition. The care of stables in the city is also included, giving the regulations that must be complied with by the owner, lessee, or agent in charge of the premises. Section 401 of the city ordinances under the department of health, referring to the care of stables reads as follows: "It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation who owns, operates or maintains a stable in the corporate limits of Winston-Salem, in which horses, mules or cows are kept not to keep such stables in clean and sanitary condition. There shall be provided a bin, or pit which shall be water tight and so arranged that it is fly proof, or a water tight barrel with close fitting lid. "Manure accumulating in such stable shall be placed in bin, pit or barrel, each day and the same shall be removed from such stable at intervals not longer than five days, beginning on March 15 and continuing until September 15 of each year, and at intervals of one week, from September 16 to March 14 of each year. "Any violation of this ordinance is a misdemeanor and will be punished on conviction by a fine of not more than $50."

Ordinance Modified. Mayor Eaton reported to the board that some objection had been made to the ordinance eliminating produce wagons from the congested business districts of the city, and after some discussion it was decided to modify the ordinance passed some weeks ago to allow farmers to station their wagons on Main street from Fourth street north, and on Fifth street from Liberty street east. The sewer committee was instructed to proceed with the work of laying sewer lines on Thirteenth and Thirteenth and a Half streets, and also on Franklin street.

OLD NICK WILLIAMS WHISKEY CO. CASE STILL ON DOCKET

District Attorney W. C. Hamner was in the city Thursday afternoon conferring with local counsel interested in the original litigation in the case of the United States vs. the Old Nick Williams Whiskey Company, of Yadkin county. It was a libel case in which civil action was taken against property of the company aggregating $17,000. The property was attached by the Federal government in 1903, but the proceedings were not officially started until 1904. When the property was attached a surety company bonded the defendant corporation to the government, and the case was docketed in regular order. It has remained on the Federal court docket since, but during the trial of the criminal issues against the company started at the same time, and which terminated only a year or two ago, the civil action was lost sight of.

Since coming into the office of district attorney to succeed Attorney A. E. Holton, Mr. Hamner has been making an effort to clean up some of the cases which have been dormant, and he has now taken up this case for final disposition. It has been placed on the docket for the next term of Federal court at Greensboro in regular order.

Some who have discussed the case believe that the court will refuse to hear a claim for judgment against the estate of Mr. N. Glenn Williams for the reason that it was originally an action against the company which was controlled by him, and that the company is not now in existence. It is suggested that the court will not sign a judgment against the company anyway unless the defendant can appear in court in his own behalf, and the non-existence of the company at this time stays any further prosecution on the part of the District Attorney. Just what the outcome will be is not suggested.

Attorneys C. B. Watson and J. E. Alexander were the counsel for the defendant company in the original action.

NAOMI SCALES GETS A VERDICT FOR $250

The jury in the case of Naomi Scales vs. Frank Lowellyn and the City of Winston-Salem last Saturday returned a verdict making both defendants liable for the injuries suffered in a fall sustained by the plaintiff when a porch connected with a house which was being raised by Mr. Lowellyn under contract with the city, gave way, precipitating the plaintiff several feet to the ground. The accident occurred on East Third street several months ago. The plaintiff was allowed the sum of $250 by the jury.

Judgments have been signed as follows: American Agricultural Chemical Company et al. vs. W. P. Dobson, et al. plaintiff allowed $365.05 with interest from November 1, 1915. N. F. Fulton and L. C. Bruce, trading as the B. B. Laundry, vs. Boss Newsom, promissory effected out of court and plaintiff took non-suit.

Upon failure of the defendant to answer to complaint in the case of Peoples National Bank vs. C. L. McGee judgment for the plaintiff was entered for $475.54, with interest from May 5, 1916. Judgment for the plaintiff for the same cause was entered in the case of J. A. and H. Vance vs. J. G. Huff, the court allowing the recovery from the defendant of $218.97 with interest from June 12, 1915.

In the case of Bowen & Brother vs. G. H. Powell, et al. Mr. H. W. Spaugb was appointed commissioner to sell a piano given as security to apply on a judgment previously entered against the defendant for $150.

The report of the commissioners of the sale of property aggregating $530 under order of the court in the case of Peoples National Bank vs. W. A. Smith was made and confirmed by the court. The commissioner was instructed to apply same, less the costs of sale, on the judgment previously entered.

The term will close this afternoon, the week having been a busy one, a goodly number of cases having been disposed of.

MR. JAMES A. GRAY, JR. IS ONE OF VICE-PRESIDENTS

Asheville, June 17.—The 20th annual session of the North Carolina Bankers' Association adjourned here yesterday afternoon, after having been in session for three days. W. S. Blankenship, of Monroe, was elected president; W. B. Drake, of Raleigh, vice-president, James A. Gray, Jr., of Winston-Salem, second vice-president; and in a spirited contest, J. B. Ramsey, of Rocky Mount, defeated Albert Myers, of Gastonia, for third vice-president. William A. Hunt, of Henderson, continues as secretary and treasurer. The executive committee is composed as follows: T. C. Turnage, J. H. Alexander, J. B. Blades, Graham H. Anderson, Neal Elington, E. F. Powell, Hutton James, F. B. Bunch, Geo. Bianton and Edwin Sluder.

The association went on record as opposing sections 13 and 16 of the federal reserve bank act, it being the sense of the convention that each member of the association and all stockholders of the banks affiliated with the association take the matter up at once with the North Carolina senators and congressmen to have them vote to modify these sections. The association refused the suggestion of a Western bank association that it join in litigation to oppose the federal reserve plan, but held that it would oppose that section of the plan which did not appeal to it, by legislation.

Come out and bring your family to the nearest Dispensary and hear these important matters discussed. Anti-Typhoid immunization has eradicated Typhoid Fever from the U. S. Army and Navy, and saved the armies of Europe from this dangerous and deadly disease. The results are no less encouraging in civic practice, as has been fully demonstrated in our own State and County. Immunity lasts from three to four years, perhaps longer.

As Three Treatments Are Necessary, Do Not Fail to Meet Me On the First Date Named For Your Dispensary.

The State furnishes the vaccine and the county the services, free of charge. All physicians are cordially invited to attend the Dispensaries.

E. F. STRICKLAND, M. D. Forsyth County Health Officer

SUMMER CAMPAIGN AGAINST TYPHOID IS BEGUN

Dr. E. F. Strickland started Monday on his summer campaign against typhoid fever, and in connection with the dispensaries for the administration of typhoid vaccine, he will make an investigation for hookworm. He will have associated with him Dr. Norburn, of Asheville, who will conduct the hookworm investigation. This is one of the most important programs of the year and will do much to improve health conditions in the county. While advocating typhoid vaccination for immunity from that disease, and administering the vaccine, Dr. Strickland will deliver addresses on sanitation in an effort to remedy conditions throughout the county that promote disease.

Each year it is stated that about 15,000 North Carolinians suffer with typhoid, and nearly ten per cent of them die. As an economic measure it has been figured that each person suffering from typhoid loses from one to two months' time, and pays at least $100 physicians' and drug bills. This is the expense of the nine-tenths of those who get well, but for the 1,000 or more that die coffins must be bought and funeral expenses defrayed.

Typhoid can be prevented, and this is what Dr. Strickland will instruct those who attend the free dispensaries about. Vaccination against it, proper disposal of human excrement and screening the house against flies have stamped it out of the U. S. army, and by these methods it is hoped to stamp it out of Forsyth county. On thousand persons have already been vaccinated in Forsyth during the past year or two, and not a case has developed among those who took the treatment. The treatment is free to all who desire to take it. In another column is a list of the dispensaries and the dates upon which they are to be opened, and the people of the county are urged to attend the one most convenient. It is essential that they attend the first day and the two succeeding days for the same dispensary, as three treatments are necessary to render a person immune. A person taking the treatment is safe for three years.

GREGORY-HORTON MARRIAGE BEAUTIFUL CHURCH EVENT

A marriage of unusual beauty and brilliance was celebrated on Saturday evening at eight o'clock in Calvary Moravian church, when Miss Mary Adele Horton, second daughter of Dr. Hamilton V. Horton, was united in marriage to Mr. Andrew Jackson Gregory, of Lancaster, S. C.

The church was elaborately decorated in palms and a profusion of field daisies. A triple arch of clusters of daisies and ferns marked the chancel, while pedestals of white, bearing Dresden vases of daisies, designated the bridal aisle. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. E. L. Starr sang with exquisite sweetness, Cadman's "At Dawning," and D'Hardelot's "Because," Miss Rosa Dean rendering the accompaniments. As the strains of the Bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" were heard, the ushers, Messrs. Hamilton Horton, Jr., Watt Martin, Jr., James Cobb and Thomas Barber entered. They were followed by the bridesmaids and groomsmen entering in the following order: Misses Margaret Blair and Ernestine Lott; Messrs. Bruce Williams and Charles Pratt; Misses Emily Gray and Emma Wilson; Messrs. Jno. Wylie and Tony Rhea; Miss Lelia Gregory and Mr. Chauncey Gregory. The bridesmaids wore exquisite costumes of white organdie with sashes of yellow taffeta ribbon and carried colonial bouquets of yellow marguerites tied with broad yellow satin ribbon. Misses Louise and Nell Horton, sisters of the bride, were maids of honor. They were beautifully gowned in yellow taffeta with bodice drapery of silver lace and carried arm bouquets of Shasta daisies tied with embroidered chiffon ribbon. Entering from the vestry were Rev. E. S. Crosland and Rev. J. K. Pfohl wearing white surplices, and Mr. Andrew Gregory, attended by his best man, Mr. Thurlow Gregory. The ring was carried on a white satin cushion by Master James Stoney Drake, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., nephew of the groom. Grouped around the chancel in semicircle, the bridal party awaited the coming of the bride, who entered on the arm of her father, Dr. H. V. Horton. The youthful beauty of the bride was enhanced by her exquisite bridal robe of ivory duchess satin with corsage drapery of rose point lace embroidered in tulle pearls. Her long train was of filmy tulle, and a coronet of orange blossoms held the tulle bridal veil. She carried an exquisite bouquet of lavender orchids showered with lilies of the valley. During the ceremony, Miss Dean played softly, "Love Strains." Rev. E. S. Crosland performed the ceremony according to the beautiful ring ceremony of the Moravian church. Rev. J. K. Pfohl invoking the blessing. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gregory left for an extended tour embracing points of interest in New York State, Canada and the Great Lakes.

ACCIDENTS CAUSED BY "RUNAWAY" CAR

A "runaway" freight car on the yards of the Norfolk & Western Railway on Sunday precipitated painful accidents, though none of the persons injured were seriously injured, it is thought. The freight car broke loose from the train while shifting and as it sped down the track it was derailed on the lower end of the yard, tumbling down a steep embankment. The wreck crane was brought into

Their growth in the period between March 7 and May 1, Comptroller Williams announces, was $256,000,000, pushing the total up to more than 14 billion dollars. Greensboro, June 19.—The verdict of guilty in the case against O. C. Klingman, charged with embezzlement from the J. I. Case Threshing Machine company, returned by the jury early Sunday morning—five minutes after midnight, to be exact—was somewhat of a surprise to people who had followed the case rather closely and expected the verdict to be the opposite. The motions for a new trial, notice of appeal if the motion is denied and other formalities connected with taking the case to the Supreme court went over till today. Judge Cline did not care to handle these matters after midnight, and on Sunday, at that.
