DR. NORBURN SURGEON IN NAVAL HOSPITAL

Former Assistant Health Officer Doing Major Surgery in Philadelphia

Friends of Dr. C. S. Norburn in this city and Forsyth county, will be interested to learn of his rapid promotion in the service of the medical division of the United States navy. In 1917 Dr. Norburn enlisted for service and was assigned to duty on the hospital ship "Comfort." He served on that vessel during the war, rising to chief of the surgical staff. When that ship was dismantled Dr. Norburn was assigned to duty in Washington, and recently completed a course of special training with the famous Mayo clinics at Minneapolis. Upon the completion of that work he was assigned to Philadelphia where he was assigned to duty at the naval hospital in charge of major surgery in that institution. Dr. Norburn was assistant county health officer in Forsyth health department in 1916, and did special work under the state board of health in anti-typhoid and hookworm campaigns. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Norburn, of Asheville, and a nephew of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Strickland, of Bechtelwyck. He is a young man and will be well remembered because of his activity in public health work here.

WOMEN AND GIRLS TAUGHT CARE OF SICK IN HOMES

Atlanta, July 19.—Five thousand five hundred and fifty people in the southeast, most of them women and girls, have been taught in the past year how to care for the sick in their own homes. The instruction was given by the American Red Cross thru classes in home hygiene and care of the sick instituted in its various chapters. The report for the year ending June 30, shows that 3,232 more people were given this instruction in that year than received it in the twelve months from June, 1918, to June, 1919.

If You Are Easily Tired Out, Your Blood Needs Purifying

Clogged-up impurities will undermine your health. The first symptoms are usually a loss of appetite, followed by a gradual lessening of energy, the system becomes weaker day by day, until you feel yourself on the verge of a breakdown. This whole condition is but the result of impurities in the blood that show that nature needs assistance in giving the system a general housecleaning. Nearly everybody just now needs the Bottles of S. S. to cleanse the system of impurities. S. S. is without an equal as a general tonic and system builder. It improves the appetite and gives you new strength and vitality to both old and young. Full information and valuable literature can be had by writing to Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

APPALLING LOSS OF LIFE BY ACCIDENTS

More Than 1,200 Deaths In Tennessee During 1919, 116 Being By Automobile

The appalling loss of life in this country thru accidents has never received the amount of attention the subjects deserves. Some progress has been made, it is true, in the matter of educating people to a higher regard for "safety-first," and a multitude of safety devices have contributed substantially to the protection of certain classes against loss of limb. But, after all, there is little apparent reduction in the number of persons who come to serious trouble thru the misadventures classed as accidents, says the Wilmington Star, which gives this report: "The following which appeared under a Knoxville date line yesterday, relating, it should be noted, the casualties in only one state of the Union, constitutes a significant reminder of the grievous toll taken by mischance annually: More than 1,200 deaths in Tennessee during the year of 1919 were due to accidents, according to a report made by a state board of health. Automobile accidents proved fatal to 116 persons, and 129 were killed in railroad and street car accidents. All other fatal accidents combined numbered 953, making the total number of deaths from accident 1,223. Assembling ten newspapers at random, we consulted the front pages. Allowance was made in every case for duplication of an item. The ten front pages revealed accounts of fourteen accidents in which one person or more had been killed. Only two of the ten pages were devoid of any mention of a fatal accident.

BEE-KEEPERS SOLVING HIGH COST OF PRESERVING

Manhattan, Kan., July 19.—Kansas bee-keepers are solving the high cost of preserving fruit this year by substituting honey for sugar, according to state bee inspectors who met here for a two-day conference with Dr. J. H. Merrill, assistant entomologist of the Kansas agricultural experiment station. While it requires slightly more honey for preserving fruits, beekeepers can save money by using the product of bees since the cost of manufacturing it is almost nothing, the inspectors pointed out. "They said thousands of dollars worth of honey from the clover and alfalfa fields of the state goes to waste annually because comparatively few farmers keep bees. World production in 1918 was almost $331,000,000, of which the United States produced $58,285,196. Returns for the first six months of this year indicate that the United States production for 1920 probably will be less than $50,000,000. The reports showed shortage of water for plaster mining and many stamp mills closed.

WORLD PRODUCES LESS GOLD; PRODUCT IN UNITED STATES

Less gold was produced thruout the world last year than in 1918, and indications are that the 1920 output also will show a reduction, according to the geological survey, which on incomplete returns places the 1919 production at from $345,000,000 to $350,000,000. World production in 1918 was almost $331,000,000, of which the United States produced $58,285,196. Returns for the first six months of this year indicate that the United States production for 1920 probably will be less than $50,000,000. The reports showed shortage of water for plaster mining and many stamp mills closed.

60 PER CENT HARVESTERS SAW MILITARY SERVICE

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 20.—Evidence that young men of the nation who saw military service in the world war he heard the call of his country this summer is contained in a report on harvest hands issued here by Claude E. Connally, state commissioner of labor. The report states that 60 per cent of this year's harvesters in Oklahoma had been in military service during the war, that 10 per cent were college students, and the remaining 30 per cent "roating" labor. The report based on incomplete returns shows 8,765 harvest hands were supplied to farmers this year, with the least delay of any other year in the history of the state labor department.

PROPERTY VALUATION IN ROWAN COUNTY

Real and Personal Totals About $52,000,000; Much Found Not Heretofore On The Tax Books Salisbury, July 20.—Revaluation gives Rowan county a property valuation, real and personal, of about $52,000,000. The tax commissioners figures stand at a round figure of $48,000,000 of railroad property which the commission does not handle at all, this being entirely in the hands of the corporation commissioner, with this added to the $48,000,000 there will be a grand total of $52,000,000. This sum is set down against a valuation of $18,000,000 of the year prior to this valuation, according to the old figures of valuation, under the old plan system. This larger increase means that the rate can be levied especially reduced and the amount of money received from taxes be as large or larger than ever before. It means a greatly increased valuation on all property and much property is brought to light, much put on the tax books that has heretofore escaped the pages of the tax records. The same is true of 23 other counties in North Carolina, where the revaluation has brought to the front millions of dollars not heretofore taxed and in an earnest attempt to get all on the books and at a full value, equal everywhere and equal justice being the rule among the counties and among property owners and taxpayers. The revaluation machinery has been functioning for a year or more and the great task is nearing completion. Governor Bickett is calling the legislature in extra session to hear the report of the revaluation officials and make such plans and adequate revenue based on the new valuation of all properties in the 100 counties in the state.

SEVEN MINERS ARE ENTOMBED BY BLAST

Pittsburgh, July 18.—John Lutemann, night foreman, two fire bosses, two pumpers and three laborers were entombed by an explosion in the mine of the Union Collieries Company at Renton, 18 miles from here, at 3:30 o'clock this morning. The explosion blew the cage out of the shaft and as soon as repairs to the hoisting apparatus could be made rescue crews from the Pittsburgh station of the Bureau of Mines and similar crews from adjoining coal properties will endeavor to find the buried men.

FEDERAL OFFICERS ATTEND FUNERAL

Parents of Dead Moonshiner, Invite Uncle Sam's Agents To Have Dinner Following Services

Roanoke, Va., July 19.—The parents of Posey Thomas, alleged to be the king of moonshiners in Franklin county, welcomed Chief Raising Officer W. B. Slusser and Federal Agent H. G. Stutz to their home following the funeral services of their son Saturday at Leatherwood, in Henry county. Seated around the family table, filled with sumptuous food, the father of the dead son declared: "Why should we have hard feelings toward each other when we know that moonshining is a dangerous game, and federal officers are compelled to do their duty?" Both officers on their return to the city said the hospitality of the old people was not to be surpassed, and even other relatives and hundreds of friends greeted them when they appeared at the funeral services. At the grave the minister conducting the services said: "The young man came to his death as a result of disobeying the laws of the country and will have to answer to his God for his disobedience." He also added, "the man who killed Thomas will have to answer to his God for a greater crime." The ceremony was sad, according to Mrs. Slusser, but the mother, he said, stood in silence and without shedding a tear saw her son go under the sod. Although it is not positively known who killed young Thomas, much regret was expressed by the raiding officers returning from the funeral. No one has yet been indicted for the killing of Thomas, according to the officers.

NEWS NOTES REPORTED FROM DAVIDSON COUNTY

Midway, July 20.—Wheat threshing is the order of the day in this section. The crop is one of the best in many years according to statements made by many farmers. The recent rains have put new life in corn and tobacco and both are looking very promising at present. Mrs. Werner and daughter and sixteen children of the Crescent Orphanage visited Hebron and Bethlehem Reformed churches last week. The children presented the play "A Representation of a Ship of Life" at the church. A collection of $38.40 was taken for them. Friends of Mr. Charlie Sink and family gave them a general poundings last Saturday evening, they having recently moved to their new home on the national highway. Rev. D. E. Bowers, of Waightown, began a series of meetings at Hebron Reformed church Sunday night. It will continue until next Sunday. Misses Nora Leonard and Vivian Hartman are attending the summer school at Lexington, for teachers. Rev. C. C. Williams will begin a series of evangelistic services in the Methodist church the first Sunday in August. Messrs. Albert Nifong and Sam Coggins and children, of Winston-Salem, visited Mr. D. E. Nifong and family, Sunday.

FEDERAL PRIVILEGE TAX IS NOW DUE

Assessments Made By Congress Similar To Municipal Taxes Must Be Paid

Special or privilege taxes levied under the revenue act passed at the last session of congress, very similar in character of privilege taxes levied by municipalities, fall due this month, and altogether are expected to bring some hundreds of millions of dollars into the federal treasury. Blanks for making returns for taxation are now available at the internal revenue office. Heavy penalties, including fine or imprisonment or both, are provided for persons who willingly or thru negligence, evade payment of the taxes, or to make returns. Below is a digest of the provisions of the act, together with the rate fixed for the various classes of taxes. The capital stock tax applies to every corporation carrying on or doing business in the United States. The tax on domestic corporations is $1 for each $1,000 of so much of the fair average value of the capital stock for the preceding year ended June 30 as is in excess of $5,000. Foreign corporations are required to pay a tax of $1 for each $1,000 of the average amount of the capital employed in transaction of its business in the United States during the preceding year ended June 30, without the benefit of the $5,000 deduction. The tax on brokers whose business it is to negotiate purchases or sales of stocks, bonds, exchange, bullion, coined money, promissory notes or other securities, and produce or merchandise, is 1/50 a year. If the broker is a member of the stock exchange, produce exchange, board of trade or similar organization which sells produce or merchandise and the average value on June 30 of a seat or membership in such organization was $2,000 and not more than $5,000, he is required to pay an additional tax of $100. If such value was more than $5,000 he is required to pay an additional tax of $15, per broker, or an additional tax of a special tax of $100 a year. The tax on ship brokers whose business it is to negotiate freights and other business for the owners of vessels or for consignors or consignees of freight carried by vessels is $50 a year. Custom house brokers whose business is to arrange orders and other custom house papers or to transact business at any port of entry relating to the importation or exportation of goods and merchandise, pay a special tax of $50 a year. Theaters, museums and concert halls are taxed according to their seating capacity, and the population of the city or town in which they are located. Those having a seating capacity of not more than 250 are taxed $50; seating capacity of more than 250 and not exceeding 500, $100; exceeding 500 and not exceeding 800, $150; in excess of 800, $200. The tax in cities or towns of less than 5,000 inhabitants is one-half of these amounts. This tax is paid by the proprietor. The special tax on circuses is $100. Persons carrying on the business of renting or operating passenger automobiles for hire are required to pay a tax of $10 on each such automobile having a seating capacity of more than two and not more than seven and $20 for each such automobile having a seating capacity of more than seven.

STUDENTS, INCLUDING WOMEN, LEARN TO VOTE

Twelve Hundred at University Summer School, Preparing For Woman Suffrage

Chapel Hill, July 19.—Twelve hundred students at the University of North Carolina summer school, including 800 women, are going to learn how to vote by the practical method of voting itself. Discarded lectures and books on the subject they are preparing for woman suffrage by taking part in a political campaign at the summer school and by going thru every step that is required of their fathers, brothers, husbands, and sweethearts from paying a poll tax and registering thru campaign meetings, joint debates, and secret political conferences down to and including the actual placing of a ballot into a ballot box. It is all a part of the course in citizenship at the summer school. They have lectures and readings in plenty, but Dr. N. W. Walker, of the summer school, and Miss Gertrude Well, chairman of the North Carolina branch of the Equal Suffrage League, have arranged for the women to learn by definite experience exactly what they will have to do when they actually do vote. The question that has been picked as the campaign issue is the live-and-let-live question in the state today. Shall North Carolina ratify the Susan B. Anthony Amendment? The town and campus have been divided into eight precincts, registrars and poll holders have been provided, and registration has actually begun. The books will close at sundown on July 24. The vote itself will come one week later, July 31. Meantime both sides are preparing for a hot campaign. Campaign committees have been appointed, campaign managers chosen (amongst Homer Cummings and Will H. Hayes), and all the machinery of a campaign and an election has been oiled and tested and declared fit for use, even by folk who have never used such machinery before and are not exactly certain what will happen to them if they fail to give their correct vote. "If they don't learn something about voting in this method, then I give up," said Director Walker, of the summer school. But the women have already shown that they know a thing or two. One sharp politician has already announced that she is going to challenge the vote of a school teacher who registered in Precinct 3 (the South building), whereas she should have registered in Precinct 5 (the Carr dormitory) because she has been living in Precinct 3 less than a week. "If those anti-think they can put a raw deal like that over on us, they have a lot to learn about present day politics," said the would-be challenger, who thinks the world will not be fit to live in unless North Carolina lives up to the appeal of the Democratic national convention.
