> Washington, March 27.—Construction of a substantial scaffold-platform under the tree, in which she took refuge, yesterday afternoon, was necessary before the authorities of St. Elizabeth hospital for the insane today were able to rescue a woman patient from her perch on the topmost branch. The tree was so situated that it overlooked a deep topmost branch. The tree was so situated that it overlooked a deep ravine in the hospital grounds and for 19 hours the woman kept the guards at bay by threats to throw herself on the rocks below if any attempt was made to bring her by force.

Mattresses and a life net were placed at the foot of the tree to prevent injury if she fell and then carpenters built a scaffold upon which a ladder was placed. The woman was brought down by a hospital attendant.
