REMEMBER THIS AND... CHEER UP!

When you are thinking about terrific bombardment of Anti-Labor Propaganda that you see in your daily press and in the Reader's Digest, Time, Life and the Saturday Evening Post, remember this:

In Minnesota every single solitary daily paper worked its head off for the re-election of the late and unlamented Senator Ball.

He was defeated by 243,693 votes out of a total vote of 1,200,000.

Not a bad idea for Senators and Congressmen to think about this year when they are completely surrounded by lobbyists.

greater numbers of the classes entitled to benefits, and would for the first time establish benefits for the disabled husband or widower of a woman primary beneficiary. It would also reduce the age of women beneficiaries from 65 to 60.

Tobin added that the present Social Security law should be extended to include a provision for workers who are forced by illness and disability to be away from gainful work.

"On an average day about 4,000,000 persons of working age are suffering from some type of disability. Disability is one of the major causes of dependency," the Secretary said. He asked that special consideration be given to the provision in H.R. 2893 which would establish insurance benefits, including maternity benefits, related as are retirement benefits to wages, for incapacitated workers and their dependents on both a temporary and continuing basis, after suitable waiting periods.

and when you get a large group of women sold on an idea, you are assured of action. Of course you know that my objective is to have every member Label Conscious. I hope to visit every auxiliary under my supervision. With the help and co-operation of all these groups we should be able to put the Union Label on all merchandise in stores. Too, we plan a lot of social activities, inviting the men. This certainly promotes friendliness among the families of the Union members. "With the co-operation of the eight auxiliaries, Mrs. Alexander will have the incentive to drive forward in her effort to prove to the Union members that an Auxiliary is an asset and not a liability to Labor."

for support of the Greater Charlotte committee, said that "it is composed of a large group of businessmen—has no axe to grind and no purpose in view other than to assist the candidates, who, we have determined, are identified with no special-interest group and who have made no pre-election promises to any faction."

The committee will make no choice as to the candidates for mayor, Mr. Vogler stated, adding that "We believe that the council aspirants we are backing will be able to work harmoniously with either of the prospective mayors."

The announcement of Mr. Vogler's selection as chairman and opening of headquarters was delayed, awaiting the return of Mr. Vogler from Raleigh.

MILWAUKEE MILLIONAIRE TO DEVOTE LIFE TO LABOR

A multi-millionaire Milwaukeean—Joseph E. Uihlein, 73—captured the nation's headlines by announcing that he intends to spend the remaining years of his life organizing white collar workers into unions.

Uihlein announced, that a most aristocratic names. A Uihlein founded the Schlitz Brewery Co., and his descendants are the owners of it now. They constitute one of the wealthiest families in the midwest.

For years, Joseph E. Uihlein headed the brewery, but he retired and now it's managed by two brothers. Joseph has clashed with them frequently on policies. He and his children are still major stockholders in the brewery.

Uihlein announced, that a year ago he tried to join the Brewery Workers' Union, but he was turned down because the union's constitution requires that members must be employed at the craft.

Last week, he stirred up a row with his brothers at the brewery when he proposed that the Schlitz firm turn 25 cents for every barrel of beer sold into a welfare fund for the firm's 4,000 employees. That would amount to about a million dollars on the basis of last year's sales—or about one-sixteenth of the company's profits.
