Bring New Life to Faded Casuals of Last Summer via the Dye-Bath

The magic of the dye-bath can give your faded wearables of last summer another season's use, as well as new color beauty, and it doesn't matter if they're made of synthetic fibers, such as rayon, or of natural fibers like cotton and linen, according to the Tintex Home Economics Bureau. An all-fabric dye, in a choice of 50 colors, is now available for the purpose.
 However, if your slacks, blouses, shorts and other outdoor wearables have become unevenly faded, as is often the case, or if you want to change to an entirely different color, the bureau recommends the use of color remover first. Neither the all-fabric dye nor the color remover, made by the same manufacturer, require boiling. Each is only a dime a package. You can have gloves to match every ensemble in your wardrobe by the same tinting process. If they're white or light-colored, you need not dye, the bureau points out. If they're dark, and you're changing to a new color, use color remover first.

Magic of the Telephone

Your telephone can do more tricks than a vaudeville magician. It can't sit on its hind legs, but it can stop a corporation's board meeting dead. It can't whistle Dixie, but it can bring news faster than press or radio. It can't balance a ball on its dial, but it can tell you where to buy yours flowers and clothes.

How? Time Service does it. Time Service puts clever advertising messages in 10,000 ears every day... right here in Charlotte, where it counts. Cost? Less than a penny a call.
