the most out of the only thing he can call his edge. Moreover, the method of tying prices and wages together can in a shrinking consumer economy result only in recklessness and further inflationary pressures.

For example, workers whose wages are regulated by the living cost scale, will in all probability become indifferent to prices; any upward move, so they argue, is bound to come out of other people's pockets—industrial earnings, the public purse, etc.—so why bother. That the argument of relying upon somebody else's pocketbook does not hold water is likely to get lost in the scramble for higher paychecks and the workings of a system that assures the working man of more and more (in dollars) for less and less (in goods).

There is Nothing Finer than to Live in North Carolina

48 years ago next month, on December 17th, the Wright Brothers made their first flight at Kill Devil Hill. There will be a celebration of national recognition held on the anniversary of that day. Another North Carolina first in December is Wilmington's "world's largest living Christmas tree," with the annual celebration held in Hilton Park of that city.

Everywhere in North Carolina there will be many who also remember December 7 ten years ago, Pearl Harbor Day.

Official winter begins December 22. Also, this is the month to prune trees and plants—and, remember too, after work or play, most of us can enjoy a glass of beer—sold under our State A B C system of legal control that is working so well.

Let them not have died in vain

ON ARMISTICE DAY, 1951, let us resolve that every day will be a day of remembering the men who died for us in Korea. And the lesson they gave their lives to teach us: peace is for the strong.

We must make it clear to all men of all nations that no possible gain can come from aggressive action. That we have built and are maintaining a superior strength. And that we stand ready to use that strength whenever our rights or freedom are imperiled.

We must build for our war dead a monument of strength which shall be, in turn, a monument of peace for our generation and those to come.

There is a job for peace that you can do. It's this: Back up our defense forces, and help keep America economically strong, by buying United States Defense Bonds. Buy them regularly—through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank. Start today!
