that pretty young married women are much more attractive to gentlemen than it is possible for young ladies to be. The reason assigned for this is that men can talk to them with less restraint, can adopt towards them a free-and easy tone, which renders them agreeable companions. The truth of the matter ls. that men may with impunity lavish upon married women attentions which, if offered to single women, would be decidedly committal; and as society men are > not often burdened with money, and are not prepared to set up establishments of their own, they avoid the society of young girls, and, joining the train of some gay young matron, are
