My Augel Mother.

There's a land beyond the river. Where the skies are ever fair, And I have an angel mother, Who is waiting for me there; She went o'er the silent waters, At the setting of the sun; And I know that she is happy, For the Christian's course is run.

In that land where she is waiting For the ones she loved on earth, Sin and sorrow neter enter; But eternal joys have birth. Where the loved ones gone before us, Wait and watch beside the tide -For the friends they left behind them, On the river's earthy side,

When the solemn summons calls us To the mansions of the blest, We shall lose our cart'ily sorrows In a sense of blisaful rest. There eternal peace and quiet, Fills the heart forevermore; And no pain can ever enter

Come, O boatman, row me over To a fairer land than this, For my heart grows weary waiting For my angel mother's kiss.

On the river's further shore.
