The Unfinished Stocking.

Lay it aside—her work—no more she sits
By open window in the western sun,
Thinking of it and that beloved one
In silence as she knits.
Lay it aside; the needles in their place;
No more she welcomes at the cottage door
The coming of her children home once more,
With sweet and tearful face.
Lay it aside; her work is done and well;
A generous, sympathetic, Christian life;
A faithful mother and a noble wife;
Her influence who can tell?
Lay it aside—say not her work is done;
No deed of love or goodness ever dies,
But in the lives of others multiplies;
Say it is just begun!

—Homs Journal.

Obituary.

Early in the morning of Friday, Oct. 11th, 1889, at her home near the town of Scotland Neck, N. C., Mrs. Cornelia Jane Herring, after many years of suffering patiently and cheerfully borne, was called to a peaceful rest in Paradise.
Mrs. Herring was the daughter of the late Jesse and Martha (Justice) Whitaker. She was educated at the Vine Hill Female Academy, and on reaching the estate of womanhood, was married to Mr. J. R. Herring who had come from Virginia as a young man to settle in this State. A few years thereafter she became a communicant of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and from that time till the day of her death she lived the life of an earnest, faithful Christian. Not contented, however, with the simple assurance of her own acceptance, she ever sought to draw her husband and children nearer to the same Saviour in whom she had found so much strength and joy. Her friends, too, could see that she was walking with Jesus, and they were often encouraged by her bright smile and cheerful words to persevere in the path of duty. True to her God, true to her family, and true to her friends, Mrs. Herring has not lived and died in vain. And while we mourn her loss, we should remember that her many years of suffering have been exchanged for a life of endless bliss; and could she speak to her friends from that blessed abode, she would say to them, as she often said before her departure, "Weep not for me, weep not for me!"

Is Your Soul Insured?

"Pa," said a little boy, as he climbed to his father's knee and looking into his face as earnestly as if he understood the importance of the subject, "Pa, is your soul insured?"
"What are you thinking about, my son?" replied the agitated father.
"Why do you ask such a question?"
"Why, pa, I heard Uncle George say you had your house insured and your life insured, but he didn't believe you had thought of your soul, and he was afraid you would lose it. Won't you insure it right away?"
The father leaned his head on his hand, and was silent. He owned broad acres of land that were covered with beautiful produce, his barns were even filled with plenty, his buildings were all covered by insurance; but, as if that would not suffice for the maintenance of his wife and only child in case of his decease, he had the day before taken a life policy for a large amount; yet not one thought had he given to his immortal soul.—Ex.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."
Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at E. T. Whitehead & Co.'s Drugstore.

No need to take those big cathartic pills; one of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Pills is quite sufficient and more agreeable.
For sale by E. T. Whitehead & Co.

Pimples, blotches, sooty skin, ugly spots, sores and ulcers, abscesses and tumors, uncleanly discharges, such as catarrh, eczema, ringworm and other sores of skin diseases, are symptoms of blood impurity. Take Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla. For sale by E. T. Whitehead & Co.

Kind Words for Scotland Neck.

Mr. J. A. Crews, the traveling correspondent for the Wilmington Messenger passed through last week and has the following to say of our town in his notes to his paper:—Scotland Neck, on the Scotland Neck and Greenville Railroad, in Halifax county, is a beautiful and progressive town. Ten years ago it was a village of two or three hundred inhabitants. Now it has a population of about fifteen hundred.

Besides other improvements going on here are a cotton factory and a fine hotel. The cotton factory is a building 50x200 feet, the walls of which are now about five feet above ground. The capital stock of the company is about $50,000. With favorable weather, so that the work can be pushed, the machinery will likely be in place by January 1st. The site on which the building will stand is a beautiful one.

The new hotel will be a fine two-story brick building on Main street, and will be fitted up in the most modern style. The brick are now being put on the ground, and it is expected that the building will be ready for use by February or March next.

Just in front of the new hotel an Artesian well is being bored. At a depth of 170 feet rock was struck and operations suspended till larger pipe could be secured. Work begins anew on the well to-day.

Real estate is changing hands rapidly, parties are moving in from different sections, and we are told that there is not a vacant dwelling house in the town.

Your correspondent finds good schools—male and female, churches of various denominations, good water, fertile soil, a very healthy location, kind and hospitable people and other things which tend to make this a pleasant place in which to live, though the town needs other things—a bank, iron foundry, oil mill, bakery, carriage factory, etc.

Scotland Neck has a fine county road to back it, and has an outlet by rail to Weldon and Greenville, as well as by river from a short distance below.

Editor E. E. Hilliard and his popular paper, THE DEMOCRAT, are doing good work for the town and community. He knows how to get out a good paper, as its readers can testify. I am told he came here about seven years ago, has taught as principal of the high school five years and obtained license to practice law two years ago, but has given his time to THE DEMOCRAT and increased its patronage 50 per cent. He is secretary and treasurer of the cotton mill, a real estate agent, Mayor of the town, acting Justice of the Peace, etc. What is it that an editor can't stand, anyhow?

There is hardly a nook or corner in this section where the great and good Wilmington Messenger is not found, and it is as popular with the people as a newspaper can well be.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers.—For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters—Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.—Price 50 cts. and $1.00 per bottle at E. T. Whitehead & Co.'s Drugstore.

Faults of digestion cause disorders of the liver, and the whole system becomes deranged. Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla perfects the process of digestion and assimilation, and thus make pure blood.
For sale by E. T. Whitehead & Co.

The most delicate constitution can safely use Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm. It is a sure remedy for coughs, loss of voice, and all throat and lung troubles.
For sale by E. T. Whitehead & Co.

For a safe and certain remedy for fever and ague, use Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure; it is warranted to cure.
For sale by E. T. Whitehead & Co.

Poor Richards Sayings.

Benjamin Franklin published an almanac in 1757 from which I cull the following:

TAXES.

The taxes are indeed very heavy, and if those laid on by the government were the only ones we had to pay we might the more easily discharge them; but we have many others, and much more grievous to some of us.

We are taxed twice as much by our IDLENESS, three times as much by our PRIDE and four times as much by our FOLLY; and from these it is the commissioners cannot deliver us.

It would be thought a hard government that should tax its people one-tenth part of their time to be employed in its service, but idleness taxes many of us much more, if we reckon all that is spent in absolute sloth, or doing of nothing; with that which is spent in idle employments or amusements that amount to nothing. Sloth, by bringing on disease, absolutely shortens life. Sloth, like rust, consumes faster than labor wears. Dost thou love life? then do not squander time, for that's the stuff life is made of.

Sloth makes all things difficult, but industry all things easy.

Laziness travels so slowly that poverty soon overtakes him.

What signifies wishing and hoping for better times? We make times better if we bestir ourselves.

Industry need not wish.

LEISURE.

Methinks I hear some of you say "Must a man afford himself no leisure? I will tell thee: Employ thy time well, if thou meanest to gain leisure; and since thou art not sure of a minute, throw not away an hour."
Leisure is the time for doing something useful. This leisure the diligent man will obtain, but the lazy man never. A life of leisure and a life of idleness are two things. Do you imagine that sloth will afford you more comfort than labor? Trouble springs from idleness and grievous toil from needless ease. Many, without labor, would live by their wits only, but they'll break for want of stock. Industry gives comfort and plenty and respect.

ATTENTION TO BUSINESS.

We must oversee our own affairs. The eye of the master will do more work than both his hands. Want of care does us more damage than want of knowledge.

Not to oversee workmen is to leave them your purse open.

Trusting too much to others' care is the ruin of many.

Add frugality to industry. Think of saving, as well as getting.

The Indies have not made Spain rich, because her outgoes were greater than her incomes.
By extravagances, the gentle are reduced to poverty and forced to obtain credit of those whom they formerly despised, but who, through industry and frugality have maintained their standing. Pride is as loud a beggar as want, and a great deal more saucy.

DEBT.

Think what you do when you run in debt. You give to another power over your liberty. If you cannot pay at the time, you will be ashamed to see your creditor, you will make poor sneaking excuses and by degrees come to lose your veracity and sink into base downright lying.

The second vice is lying. The first is running into debt. Lying rides upon debt's back. A free-born American ought not to be ashamed or afraid to see or speak to any man lying. The borrower is a slave to the lender, and the debtor to the creditor disdain the chain, preserve your freedom and maintain your independence.

For age and want, save while you may; No morning sun lasts a whole day.

Gain may be temporary and uncertain, but while you live, expense is constant and certain. We may give advice, but cannot give conduct.

Have you suffered long by reason of Malaria; tried everything, and finally come to the conclusion that "all men are liars?" Send one dollar to Dr. A. T. Shallenberger, Rochester, Pa., and get a bottle of his Antibiotic for Malaria. I not cured in a week, say so, and the money will be immediately returned to you.

PURCHASES SOME RARE FLOWERS.

(For the Democrat.)

Meditating.
Last spring wife and I decided we would have a flower garden which should astonish the natives with its rare beauty, but as it turned out we were more astonished than they—at its rare ugliness. Since the frost has come and killed most of them I will tell all about it. We ordered some floral catalogues and after carefully reading them and picking out those with the strangest, biggest names, here is what we bought, with its catalogued virtues, and what it turned out to be: Adlumia Cirrhosa—unique pale green climber—Aleghany Vine, grew two feet, and never blossomed; Convolvulus—climber magnificently grand to perceive—Morning Glory, our hen-house was already covered with them; Centaurea Cyanus—handsome, sporting, I was bound to have that—Bachelor's Button, old as the hills, and nobody else would let them grow on their place; Helianthus—stately and brilliant, imagine our astonishment when it turned out a sun flower big as a wash tub; Mesembryanthemum—peculiarly, sublimely, brilliantly dazzling in the sunshine—we wanted something that would glitter and shine so we got that—Ice Plant, and looked like a toad frog with honey poured on him; Portulaca—no flower in cultivation so dazzling—Purslane Moss; Yucca Filamentosa—nothing like it—Bear grass; Kerria Japonica—amazingly beautiful and scarce—Thornless "Yaller" Rose, ugly as my wife's temper and plentiful as her jaw. She made me this morning by pulling my hair, for nothing except I kicked the cat in her face. It happened this way. I got up to light the fire this morning and stepped on her cat, it bawled of course. "Get your fellow blocks off my cat," screamed my wife. I kicked straight out as hard as I could and sent the cat flying on the bed in my wife's face. She came for me, I heard her, it was so dark I could not see her, so I stood still as the best way for safety, but she came on a bee-line, nothing in her hand she brought, but she carried back several locks of my hair with her. I have been thinking I would leave her for it—all on the account of a cat—but I thought better of it. How could she manage to live without me? She often wishes I was dead, and says I do not earn my salt, but that is a woman's way, and she can not help it. I wander from my subject. Ricinus—tall, majestic—Castor Oil Bean, wife got that; Passiflora—unequaled—May Pops; Celosia Cristata Japonica—distinct, cut and ruffled like lace. We had never seen a flower like lace, so we thought we would dumb found our neighbors by getting that, a regular old Prince Feather. Well sir, that tripped me worse than anything else. We got many more I will not mention, only their names were bigger than their blossoms, and some larger than the bush. We worked two whole days preparing the ground for the seed. I stuck a pitch fork in wife's foot and she cut my toe with a shovel. I broke a hoe helve over a negro's head trying to kill a lizard, wife said he would eat up the seed. The long looked for seed and plants came at last and another day was spent in sowing them and sticking up the papers so the passers-by could see their names and know we did not live in the world for nothing; the paper crow's feet sticks made me think of stones in a graveyard, and graveyard it was slat of our hopes, the stones were erected before the burial. I now know "what's in a name" if it is tagged to a flower—deep deception. The seed came up, we gave them water and liquid manure every other day, you never saw anything grow like they did till the cold spell in May, then every thing had the croup—that is they caught cold, I called it croup for want of another name—except the shrubs, we sat up with them 'till night, covered them with blankets, put hot bricks to their roots, gave them ammonia and I gave some of them some kerosene oil. About half died, still we had enough. We were in high spirits till they began to blossom, the lower our spirits got, now we have no spirits when flowers are mentioned. We have saved a lot of seed and are going to take them to the city and sell them to their big names, and thus get our money back. What do you reckon makes it? When folks get in a bad snap they feel better if they can get some body else in it. But I am not that way myself. I just asked the question. There are many things in the world, which divested of their big names, would have to root in the gutter for patronage. BEN ROHT.
