"Nhat does your husbanl do?" asked a traveller of a slatternly woman whom he found living in a little old cabin in the backwoods.

"Tell," was the reply, "he's one o' these handy, gifted sort o' persons, my men is. He kin jest turn his hand to anything.

"He's a blacksmith by perfession but he cooked in a res'rant in town most o' last winter, and he done kvarpentin' and paintin' all spring and then he lectured on temperance awhile until he got a chance to run an ingine for a month or two, and then he dug wells and hung walls paper until he got a good chauce to lay brick at three dollars a day."

"And what is he doing now?" asked the amused guest.

"Teachin' singin'-school, but he allows to give it up pretty soon, and go to practisin' medicine. He kin do anything he's a mind to turn his hand to."

Fogy in Lenoir Topic So far as I know every county seat in N. C. has a newspaper, doing what it can for the education of the people, the development of the county's resources, trying to elevate the citizens and help them on to greater prosperity, Our home paper has become a fixed necessity. and every citizen ought to feel He holds His hand above thy humble bound to be a subscriber. County pride, if nothing else, should induce us to stand by our home paper and Then keep the courage of thy morning | the man who from sheer indifference fails to support his home paper, i And bravely bear the cross He lays on wanting in county pride. I am ambitious enough to want my county to be the equal of any of her sisters in point of intelligence and enterprise, if not in point of wealth; and without a good sound, healthy and en terprising home paper, this intelligence and enterprise must be want ing. Again I am ambitious enough Hard may be Duty's hand, but lo, it to want my county paper to be the equal of any other county paper, and without a liberal patrorage from al our citizens, this cannot be. The home paper should make its weekly visits to every family within its territory. We cannot afford to assume the responsibility of rearing a family without providing all legtimate means for education. A good news paper is a splendid educator, and Revenge makes great promises, our children will eagerly read it out who ever found them realized? when they are slow to read anything The sum total is generally disap- else, and in course of one twelve pointment and often remorse. FROM WASHINGTON CITY. (Regular correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Jane 8, 1891, There is considerable indignation expressed by democrats here over a publication in a New York paper intimating that the National Association of Democratic Clubs was using its machinery to boom Senator Gorman for the Presidential nomination. The principal aim of this magnificant organization, which is bound to play a very important part in the next campaign, has been, from its organization, to work for th cause of democracy, but under no cir cumstances to take any part in the making or anmaking of Presidential candidates. It was because of this aim that when the association appointed its corresponding agents. one or more of which it has in every county in the United States, it decided not to select the men, but to request the democratic State committees to make the selections. Now it requires no argument to convince anyone that if this association proposed using its vast influence for any one man it would have made its own selection of corresponding a gents in order to be certain of having friends of its man. By getting the State committees to do it all chance of favoritism was done aray with as it is well known that a majority of the committees of the different
