

Woman's Suffrage and Woman's Brain.

Scientific American.

The present very active and enlightening agitation over the question of woman's suffrage calls up again the many now established facts about the physiological differences in the nervous system of the sexes. Not very long ago, Sir James Crichton Brown delivered a series of lectures in which he aimed to show, from actual data, that the brains of women were not only relatively smaller, but essentially different in structural arrangement and functional characteristics from those of men. He in particular showed that the vertebral arteries in women are larger in proportion to the carotids than they are in men, and that the cerebellum and posterior parts of the brain were therefore more nourished proportionately. The brain of woman is four per cent smaller than that of man after deducting the factors of height and weight (Delbierre), and woman's brain, as soon as it reaches its apogee, immediately begins to decline in weight, so that senile atrophy is manifested sooner than in man.

There is no doubt, we believe, in the minds of physiologists that the mental characteristics of women have a structural basis in the conformation and amount of her nervous tissues, and that no amount of training will make the male and female brain alike.

Of course, all this does not in the least prove that woman's mind is not adapted to the demands of suffrage, or of political, jury, and militia duty. It only shows that the result of conferring suffrage cannot be positively predicted either one way or the other, since it would be injecting into our political system an entirely new factor.

We admire the eloquence and are affected by the enthusiasm of the agitators for and against suffrage. But we have little faith in those who assure us that it would surely be a blessing—or a curse—if women went to the polls and sat in the jury box. It is an experiment which may or may not turn out wisely.—Med. Record.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by E. T. Whitehead & Co.

An Eagle Shot While Carrying off a Lamb.

Scientific American.

A big crowd of villagers recently viewed the movements of an enormous bird that hovered over a field in the vicinity of Loudsville, Lancaster county, Pa. A flock of sheep were grazing in the field. From a height of several hundred feet the bird would swiftly descend to near the earth, and after circling in long sweeps again mount on high.

John Musselman, one of the crowd, went for his gun. Then he watched for a chance to shoot. Suddenly the big bird darted downward, seized a good sized lamb in its talons, and began to fly off with it, the lamb meanwhile uttering plaintive bleats.

Musselman fired when the feathered robber was two hundred feet away. The bird fell dead. It was an enormous bald eagle, measuring 7 feet 2 inches from tip to tip. The lamb, still in its clutch, was also dead when found.

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if procurable. G. A. Dykeman Druggist, Catskill, N. Y., says that Dr. King's New Discovery is undoubtedly the best Cough remedy; that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has never failed to do all that claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested. Trial bottles free at E. T. Whitehead & Co.'s drug store. Regular size 50c, and $1.

George W. Childs on Drink.

"I cannot lay too great a stress on the matter of strict temperance. Drinking beer, wine or spirits is a useless and dangerous habit. It does no good, and if the habit is continued it is almost sure to lead to destruction and death. Taste not; touch not; handle not. You should have the courage to say no if you are asked to drink. In looking back over my life I can recall many of the best and most praiseworthy of my companions who were ruined by the habit of drinking—not one of whom ever imagined that he would be wrecked in mind and body and eventually fill a drunkard's grave. There is no safety in moderate drinking. Every one who touches it at all is in danger."

Dr. G. C. Osmond, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINGSBLO, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as 'real' products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
