The Old Friend. And the best friend, that never fails you, is Simmons' Liver Regulator, (the Red Z)—that's what you hear at the mention of this excellent Liver medicine...

A SUMMER LONGING. I must away to wooded hills and vales, Where broad, slow streams flow cool and brightly.

The Tests. Of Dignity—Never to forget yourself. Of Unselfishness—Never to remember yourself.

Of a Millionaire—Not what he spends, but what he earns. Of a Good Comrade—How much you enjoy talking to him.

Of a Student—Not how much he knows, but how much he wants to know. Of a Realist—Not that he ever diets ideally.

Of a Fine Man—Not the harm that he does not do, but the good that he does do. Of Fascination—Not how keenly you remember it, but how much else you forget.

Of the Worst Pessimism—Leading a poor life and then preaching what you practice. Of a Woman's Power—Not how exclusively you think of her when she is there, but how often you think of her when she is not there.

It is not fair, because it is not a complete description of his personal appearance. And similarly, if my neighbor has been overtaken in a fault...

A Cemetery at Home.

Philadelphia Press. Johnnie—Are you going to the cemetery to see the graves decorated with flowers and flags, Jimmie?

Jimmie—No, mother won't let me. Anyway I don't want to go. Why, your back yard's just as good as a graveyard. There are two cats, a dog, a squirrel and a canary buried there, and we have lots of flowers growing in the beds.

Jimmie—But you don't see all the flags.

Jimmie—Humph! That's nothing. Why, all the walks in our yard are made of flags.
