it;e officers at Raleigh have listed their salaries for taxation. In a conversation with Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes a few days ago, he said that while these salaries are exempt by law according to the ruling of the Attorney General, it is a good example in the officers to l'st them, and he regarded it morally right. Men in high places, to be sure, have a great power in their examples, and this is one well regarded by these officers.

High Point is one of the most re markable towns in North Carolina. A citizen of that town gave us some facts about it recently which we give as an illustration of what people can do when they will. Our informan! was Rev. J. B. Richardson who has fixed there perhaps thirty years.

He said thirty years ago High Point had not more than 250 or 300 inhabitants, and now has 6,000. A certain man whom he mentioned as being a carpenter working at 75 cents per day thirty years ago is sull a citizen of the town ar is Worth $200,000.

High Point is the second largest furniture manufacturing town in the United States, Grand Rapids, Mich. being the first. The outgoing freights are something tremendous.

In point of temperance the town holds a most unique place in North Carolina history. There never has been a bar-roome there, and in only two police officers at all-one is the town collector and the other that sanitary officer.

Why should southern merchants be discriminated against by the railroads? It has been given out that over 20 per cent, has been added to the freight rates on dry goods from New York to southern markets.

The Atlanta Journal makes the follawing pointed editorial observations on the matter:

"This additional burden would have been unwelcome at any time, but it comes especially hard just after it was generally uderstood that the classification was to remain unchanged.

"The announcement, therefore, that dry goods shipped from New York to the south must pay fourth-class instead of filth-class rates provokes very general complaint.

"The rate from New York to Atlanta, for instance, has been 60 cents a hundred on dry goods, and has been raised to 73 cents.

"What necessity for this increase exists, or what justification of it can be found, we cannot imagine.

"The railroads are doing more busi ness than they ever did before. They are hauling an unprecedented amount of freight of all kinds and they can well afford to haul it at the rates which they have found profitable heretofore. Why this increase of 20 per cent. on one of the largest classes of freight?

"Whether this increased freight charge is to be paid by southern merchants or southern consumers makes no difference so far as the merits of the ease are concerned. It is an additional transportation tax for which we can see no good reason. "The interstate commerce commission is powerless to interfere to the matter. The combined railroads have the power to put up the rates as they please, but we do not consider it fair for them to do so, as they have in this

"Nor do we believe that it is good policy on the part of the railroads. It is to be hoped that the railroad gutherities may be induced to reconsider their action in this matter.

OIL AS A FUEL.

WHAT IT MAY SAVE.

It is gratifying note, that the executilit in Likly to Supplant Coal to a Very Considerable Extent.

The extension of the oil fields in the United States promises to lead to more extensive experiments in the use of oil for fuel. It is used now for fuel in Russia to an extent unknown in the United States, and its use in that country for such purposes is being rapidly extended. Oil is found at existing prices much cheaper fuel in Pennsylvania than coal.

The larger vessels plying on the southern reaches of the Volga have discarded all other fuel for oil ostatki. or residue, as it is called. These steam ers of the eastern and other large companies on the Caspian Sea, although constructed with ordinary coal burning farnaces, have had them adapted to the use of oil. The London Times says that oil as fuel has become a matter of course with Caspian and Volga shipowaers, and the exhaustive experiments made by the Russian S.

most gratifying results. Cost for cost, the experiments have conclusively demonstrated that the advantage of oil fuel over coal, the cost of oil per mile running at only one-third that of coal. In the matter of cleanliness, which means increased comfort, there was a great advantage in favor of oil. The engineers reported that in the use of oil there was increased facility obtainable in the regulation of the heat over the whole heating surface, comparative ease of manuiplation of the fuel itself under steam pressure, and a saying of labor and waste in the stakehold. The Russian government is now experimenting with oil on some of its Fruit on the Sand Hills.

On the bald sand bills that have simply held the world together since creation until four or five years ago, we saw recently the most beautiful truit farm our eyes ever rested upon. There are some forty-five acres in the farm, and the main products are peaches, grapes and berries. It beongs to Mr. J. D. Sayer, formerly of New York, but now an enthusiastic Tar-Heel. From the first he has been wonderfully successful, and this year promises to be the most profitable in $100. the history of the farm. He will make more money on his forty-five acres of wire-grass, sand hill land than will be made on any dozen cotton farms in Moore county, we dare say. His postoffice is Leavitt, N. C., and if our readers want to see a beautiful and most $100. hopeful sight let tham leave the train at Aberdeen and take the "Blue" road for three and a halt miles, and they will see more than they bargained for. Mr. and Mrs. Sayer are very excellent peoole, and we wish they might induce thousand more like .themselves to come to North Carolina and show us what the sand hills were made for.
