Sometimes an old, run-out pasture can be greatly improved by harrowing thoroughly two or three times in early spring; then sow a mixture of seeds. The following might be used, a'though it is not customary to sow as much per acre under these conditions as when a well-prepared permanent pasture is laid out: Red crover, six pounds; alsike clover, four pounds; Kentucky blue grass, 31/2 pounds; orchard grass, | with him.-Philadelphia Record. 31/8 pounds; meadow fescue, 31/2 pounds; red top, 31/2 pounds; timothy, five pounds. You might simply sow on blue grass, timothy and alsike clover in moderate quantities. After the seeds are sown, roll. It would increase the chances of success if some fertilizer containing a rather high per_ centage of nitrogen was applied. Sometimes one can find damaged cottonseed meal, which makes a splendid fertilizer for pastures, as do also wood ashes, though the latter are seldom sold on a guaranteed anaylsis, and may contain much or a very little potash. We would not purchase them unless they wer guaranteed. However, we advise dividing the pasture and continuing the use of the greater part of it while thoroughly preparing and seeding a few acres each year. Plow the ground this spring; sow peas and oats. Plow them under about the middle of September, fit the ground well, sow the seeds indicated above, roll and pasture light the first year. It may be said, too, that if the effort is made to improve the pasture without replowing, it will not succeed unless the field is pastured light the coming summer. If it is trampled over and gnawed by too many cattle, many of the young plants will perish. It is presupposed that a dairy herd is connected with this pasture. If so, one of the things to do is to sell ten or 20 per cent. of the poorer cows. There are few dairy herds from which the net profits would not be increased by even giving away this 20 per cent. of inferior and usually unprofitable animals.-Country Gentleman.

At A Trap Shoot.

From Forest Review.

At a trap shoot at Greenville, Ohio, January 10th, one thousand persons witnessed the murder of 184 pigeons. These people doubtless enjoyed the cruel sport. If it had been a bullfight and a single bull had been slaughtered, or if it had only been wounded, what a howl would have gone up. Yet, here were 184 harmless and helpless birds, created by the great Master for His purpose, permitted to be brutally done to death, and no word of protest heard,

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, 'I feel as though born anew,' and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties."
