OBSERVATIONS ON PASSING EVENTS,

Criminal Officers.

N Wednesday of last week Leiutenant Goyernor Tillman, of South Carolina, shot Editor Gonzales, of the Columbia

State. The shooting occurred on the streets in Columbia just after the day's session of the South Carolina Legislature over which Mr. Tillman had presided. It developed that Leiutenant Governor Tilly as carrying concealed on his person two pistols, one a long range Germ # 200 m agazine pistol with which he did the shooting, and a second large and a secon aused great excitemer and a strain of the st luct of a State officer in carrying concealed weapons could not be too severely condemned; for he is one whose sworn duty is to uphold and defend the law. And Governor McSweeny's strictures were well laid. It is greatly to be regretted that so many men who ought to lend all their influence toward; upholding the law, yiolate the law themselves by carrying concealed weapons and other size dieregarding the law. Such efficers are truly criminal and bring reto cure. It allows you to eat all proach upon the law rather than respect.

> -- HE coal lamine in the North has become to be a most serious situation. Eyen before winter had well set in a gentle man who had just returned from a visit to the North, gave a doleful account of the condition of the poor. He said they had to buy coal by the bucket-ful and could not get half enough. News has come time and again that not only the poor are suffering for want of coal, but all classes of people are almost terrorized Goldsboro Argus. by the situation. Last week eleven persons died in Chicago in twenty-four hours for the lack of coal. A coal car broke down somewhere in the State of Illinois and the suffering people simply took the coal and made recompense for temper of which S. S. Blanchard was

it. We who live in this balmy Southland have reason to be thankful indeed for the falling of our lines in pleasant places. The Charlotte Observer referrng to the matter well and truthfully says: "We who live under a Southern sun not by reviling-those are the instrusuffer some disadvantages in life, but we need not suffer or die of cold in winter, of sunstroke in summer, or of hunger at any time of the year."

Retreat for the Lepers.

7 HEN we read in the Bible of the lepers in that far away time we somehow feel like that awful disease no longer exists. The following item from Washington is of interest on the subject :

"The report of the Senate committee on the Pacific Islands relating to conditions in Hawail was made public to-day. The committee made a thorough inquit, concerning the leper settlement on Molokal Island, which is under territorial control, with the result that it recommends that management of the colony be transferred to the Marine Hospital Service, with headquarters in Washington, and that a general leprosario, or retreat for all the lepers of the United States, be established on that island.

"At the time of the visit of the committee there were 358 leprous patients pire on love, and his millions of sub-

Heating the Capitol.

THE usual question of heating and ventitilating the State capitol at Raleigh bas made its reriodic appearance in the Leg-Islature. Every General Assembly that has met in Kaleigh, to be sure, in twenty years has had something to say about the heating and ventilation of the building. And there seems to be some good reason for the recurrence of the question; for from almost every term of the body for years and years some of the members have died. The deaths sometimes have been so numerous that many a member has gone to Raleigh with considerable fear that he might catch his death in that building. It is to be hoped that the proper thing will be done in the matter, whatever that may be.

Sycamore St., Petersburg, VA. hands on all sides that it is an evil. It is a sad contemplation that on almost every conceivable question, from a game of poker to the verdict of a jury in a murder trial, many men who are regarded generally as good citizens do not hesitate to stake money wherever they think they have a chance to win something for nothing. The papers print it that heavy bets are made on the sena torial question now before the State Legislature; and even on the verdict if the jury in the trial of the life of James Wilcox, who is charged with for them please give age of de- killing Nellie Cropsey, there has been liberal betting. To many good citizens such things are shocking, and it is strange that any sensible man cannot see that such influences are corrupting in the highest degree.

In Winter Time.

About the dreary fields today, The winds go wailing up and down, The brooding skies are chill and gray, The hills are bleak, the woods are brown. A little while ago they wore

The gorgeous court-dress of October, But now their masquerading o'er, The fields, the hills, the woods once

Put on their I omospun sober.

Ab, what care we, if winds are chill-If woods are bleak and skies are gray-

While in our hearts tove's summer

Abides, and will not fade away? There is a sunshine on the hearth, A gental brightness, broad and ten-

That compensates for wintry dearth, That makes the humblest home on

A world of warmth and splendor ! So, when the twilight gathers slow,

The welcome hearth-fire's ruddy light Makes our low cottage windows glow Like chearful beacons of the night And hand in hand, we, drawing near, About the hearthstone, happyhearted,

Forget the world without is drear, That sullen winter storms are here, That summer has departed.

Heap on more fuel-let the blaze Leap upward to the blackened rafter While gathered in the fire-light glow, We speed the hours with song and laughter.

What care we, if the tempest rage, Sate folded in our cottage warm? We thank the tender God above, Who guards us with his watchful love And shields us from the storm.

Gentleness.

Senator Hoar said in a recent speech in Boston that the longer he lived the more be was satisfied that the spirit and the embodiment was ar important and desirable spirit and temper in our political life. To win by gentleness and ments by which great political accomplishments are brought to pass in our Gentleness is a great force. There is true philisophy in the fable of the wind and the sun. Love is the great est power, either human or divine. All the great reforms in all ages, either political or religious, have been accomplished through love and true love is always gentle. Tyrants have lived for a time and have subdued men by brute force, but no regime of brute force and hatred has lasted for long. The greatest 'conqueror the world ever knew was the Prince of Peace, and he was the perfection of gentleness. As Napoleon said years ago, he established his em jects today are ready, if necessary, to die for him.

Gentleness does not mean weakness, store, Hobgood, N. C. does not imply a lack of firmness, a lack of stability. The man of character and nfluence must be firm in his convictions and must never make compromises with evil. There are times when he must fight and agitate, but he may also do this and still be gentle at heart. Robert E. Lee was one of the gentlest of men-a gentleman in the true sense
