OBSERVATIONS OF PASSING EVENTS.

RECENTLY some observations have been given in this column concerning building and loan associations. Insurance Commissioner Young, under

Building and Loan As- whose department passes the work of building and loan associations in the State, has recently institutions is increasing. In the towns where they have been successfully operated their work is their own monument. Mr. G. A. Holderness sald some days ago in Tarboro that the building and loan association there has been of untold benefit to the town. He pointed to many handsome dwellings which have been erected through the medium of the local building and loan

Many people in the strenuous clash for position, place, power, preferment, or what not, often indulge in the hope that some time, somewhere, Employment to the End they will find the place where they can lay robes of leisure and look on at the fierce struggle amongst the balance of the world. And now and then one may find the man who has come to that long-looked for time; but the looking on at others in the conflict does not interest like actual engagement in the strife. We believe that for most people it is far better to have a hand in what is doing clear through to the end. The man who by reason of his accumulations or attainments lays aside the habit of toil and enterprise of some kind while he is able to do his part, makes a blunder; for constant engagement in the active affairs of life to the end is far better than to drift out seemingly with no aim or purpose but to shake off "this mortal coil." Every man's desire ought to be that he may be permitted to have good employment of his time as long as he

This may not seem to be quite good arithmetic, but some things go by comparison, you know. The cotton question just now interests the cotton holding cotton is timely and explains what we mean by "ten equals eight."

It says: "The cotton mills and the 'bear' speculators are doing all they can to break down the price of cotton. It is generally understood that the crop is a short one and that it has been very expensive to make, and still the mills want the cotton for as near nothing as possible. They are following the old time tactics of hold off and buying, but at a season of the year when they think farmers are compelled to sell. Some farmers are compelled to sell but others are not. Some will have to sell a bale or two but could hold a part of their cotton. We do not hesitate to advise farmers to hold their cotton since the break in prices. It all the cotton is marketed this month it will go for whatever price the mills want to pay for it which will not be much. In view of expenses and shortage ten cents for cotton is no more than eight cents last year. We think cotton should be selling for at least twelve and a half cents and it will not do to take nine or nine and a half

AT the opening of the convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Raleigh, some days ago, Governor Glenn delivered the adthe cause of temperance and to discuss temperance matters generally. He made a strong speech and he did not speak in such platitudinous phrases that no one could tell exactly what he meant, as has sometimes been the case with public men when they have dared to speak of temperance at all. He boldly declared himself heart and soul against the fiquor traffic, and said he betieved the time is rips for a State vote on prohibition. He declared that he believed if the question were put to a vote in the State prohibition would win out by a majority of from 75,000 to 100,000. Among other things Governor Glenn said: "I can, in a few words, tell you where I stand and how I feet on this subject. Whatever may have been my acts and course in the past, and I have tried ever to be consistent, I say here and now that the last bridge is burned behind me and I stand squarely with the great temperance forces to drive this hideous monster from our fair State. A man must take a square out, unmistakable stand for the right or for the wrong, for righteousness or for evil, for happiness or for misery, for justice or for oppression. As for me

I am heart and soul against the liquor traffic."

SPORTS AND BUYING UP THE BUYERS. This Evil Practice Is Growing Com-ATHLETICS mon in the Business Circles

Is is marksmanship, luck or ability to stand nervous tension which proves act as buyers for mercantile houses or the strongest factor in trap shooting? That question seems to be brought up by several important meets of recent years. In leading contests at the target range or in revolver shooting the ame query applies. That marksmanship is the chief factor s too self-evident a fact to need mention. But, conceding an equal ability in this direction, what counts for the most in other respects? In a tournament at straight score of 65 birds in his match er killed 64. This was a private match and was in the nature of good-humored rivalry. No national title or any undue importance attached to the victory, and each man shot quictly and at his ease. Each made a first-class score. In the shoot for the world's handicap, where both were competing under the eyes of some of the best marksmen of the country, neither could come anywhere near his same score. In both cases condiions were almost identically the same. Then what was the occasion of their beter showing in the match event? It eems as if nervous tension was the point to be considered most highly, next o marksmanship, in trap shooting. Some men can perform brilliantly, can shoot in magnificent style for a time, but will then become erratic in their work. The cases of O'Neil and Dr. Duncan are not unusual by any means. When the grand American handicap was hot at live birds, it was a point of general comment that few of the best known shots in the country managed to land the prize. It was generally the unexpected which happened. Some quiet, phlegmatic shot would go to the traps, shoot quietly and unobtrusively in the earlier rounds, but would be a strong contender at the end. Sprinters, prize fighters, jockeys or athletes of othe kinds can key themselves up for a strugone minute and 40 seconds, as the case may be. The trap shooter has to maintain a high degree of tension over a competition, which often lasts for two or three days. Does this affect his ability or does it not? The amateur who can enter the lists free of care, without fearng any loss of reputation in defeat, and with everything to gain, can often make better marks in the big tourneys than the man who is really a better shot than himself. So it seems as if nervous tension played a considerable part in the game. The same applies to work at the range and at the revolver butts. Many revolver shots are so nervous that they cannot shoot in public, if any noise prevails. Sizing the whole matter up, it seems as if nervous tension was the most important factor in shooting, next to actual skill with the gun. Assuming that the leading shots are equally

Three men who played on Northwestern's team last fall have left-Simpson, full back; Davidson, end, and Williamson, end. 'Dan" Boone, who played right tackle on the University of Chicago team, came to the university after graduating from Hillsdale college, where he played full back two years. Boone left immediately after the season closed, but it is said he expects to return for the summer quarter, and in that case he will be eligible to play again. Boone is the only maroon football man to leave. Minnesota reports one man gone, Tschabold, and it is said all the "M' men are still in school. Capt. Heston is the only man of Michigan's 1904 squad to leave, and he had finished his course anyway. Although three men who played at Indiana have left, reasons are advanced which apparently are sufficiently extenuating in the minds of Indiana followers of football. Fansler, who played three years at Notre Dame and last fall was end and full back, is the only man to

New York .- A perfect copy of the fourth quarto edition of Shakespeare's "Tragedie of King Richard the Third" has been sold at Sotheby's for $8,750 to A. Jackson, and it is understood that it will come to America, according to a London dispatch to the Times. The book was printed in 1605 by Thomas Creede, and was sold by Matthewe Lawe, "Dwelling in Paule's Church Yard at the Signe of the Fox. Near S. Austin's Gate." It consists of 46 leaves.

It is believed that only two other copies of this edition exist. One is in the British museum, and the other was sold by Mr. Lilly to Mr. Halliwell, afterward Halliwell-Phillipps, and is in the Bodleian library at Oxford.

The example sold is of special interest because in five places an autograph of William Penn is found. The signature is probably that of the celebrated admiral, father of the founder of Pennsylvania.

THROWN INTO BULL RING. Drunken Man Who Causes Goring of Matador Cast to Certain Death by the Spectators. City of Mexico,-A drunken spectator, who was responsible for the goring of Sylverio Chico, a famous matador, was torn to pieces at a bull fight in Durango. Five bulls had been killed by Chico, and he had exhibited such skill that the thousands of spectators in the amphitheater were wild with enthusiasm. The sixth and last bull of the exhibition proved to be particularly large and fierce, and the cleverness of the matador in "playing" the animal gained him fresh applause. Just as he lunged forward, his sword penetrating the heart of the animal, a drunken man hurled a Quarterly in Advance piece of iron pipe. The pipe struck the matador on the head and he fell in front of the bull. The enraged animal was upon him in an instant and succeeded in
