freely and frankly, in strictest confidence, telling us all your symptoms and troubles. We will send free advice (in plain sealed envelope), how to cure them. Address: Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

"YOU ARE FRIENDS" of mine," writes Mrs. F. L. Jones, of Gallatin, Tenn.: "For since taking Cardui I have gained 35 lbs., and am in better health than for the past 9 years. I tell my husband that Cardui is worth its weight in gold to all suffering ladies."

All the News.

A country exchange has this to say about printing all the news:

"A man stopped on the street the other day and said we did not publish all the news. We should say not. In the first place, there's somebody else depending on us for a living. If we published all that happened we would be with the angels. In order to please the people we must print only the nice things said of them and leave the rest to gossip. Yes, it's a fact we don't print all the news. If we did, wouldn't it be a speedy reading? But it would be for the week only. The next week you would read our obituary, and there would be a new face in heaven. All the news is all right when it's about the other fellow."

Bella—What is the matter, dear? You don't look well. Stella—I'm not well. The parcel ways in my hair make me seak.—Town Topics.

Just a little Kodol after meals will relieve that fullness, belching, gas on stomach, and all other symptoms of indigestion. Kodol digests what you eat, and enables the stomach and digestive organs to perform their functions naturally. E. T. Whitehead & Co.

The Venus of Milo explained. "I wore elbow sleeves in the Winter and they froze off," she boasted. Thus indeed do we see what woman will endure for fashion.—New York Sun.

Have you been betrayed by promises of quacks, swallowed pills and bottled medicine without results except a damaged stomach. To those who offer Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea, 35 cents. E. T. Whitehead & Co., Scotland Neck, Jno. N. Brown, Halifax.

If Mr. Simmons knows anything he can be depended upon to tell it at a time when it will do most good.—Darham Herald.

Good looks bring happiness. Friends care more for us when we meet them with a clean, smiling face, bright eyes sparkling with health, which comes by taking Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea, 35 cents. E. T. Whitehead & Co., Scotland Neck, Jno. N. Brown, Halifax.

Jim—How did you fall in love with her? Is she pretty or is she rich? Jack—Both. She's pretty rich.—Pittsburg Gazette.

IN MAD CHASE.

Millions rush in mad chase after health, from one extreme of faddism to another, when, if they would only eat good food, and keep their bowels regular with Dr. King's New Life Pills, their troubles would all pass away. For prompt relief and quick cure for liver and stomach trouble, 25c at E. T. Whitehead & Co.'s drug store; guaranteed.

Why Buy McClure's?

McClure's Magazine is bought and read in homes not because it is a magazine, but because it is THE MAGAZINE. Why?

FIRST—THE PRICE. It costs but one dollar a year, or less than ten cents a number, for over thirteen hundred two-column pages of reading matter. This amounts in actual bulk to twenty or twenty-five books costing anywhere from a dollar to two dollars a volume.

SECOND—QUALITY. The reading matter is written by America's leading writers—the best short story writers, the best writers on timely articles, such as Schurz's Reminiscences or Baker's Railroad articles.

THIRD—TIMELINESS. The reading matter in McClure's is not only good; it is not only entertaining, instructive, amusing and inspiring—it is also about the subjects which you and all Americans are most interested at the time. No subjects in the next twelve months are going to be so important as the question of railroad rates and rebates and the question of life insurance. Both of these questions will be discussed by authorities in an impartial, careful, interesting way.

FOURTH—ITS CHARACTER. McClure's Magazine is not edited for children, but at the same time, there is never a line in it that any young girl might not read. Its advertising pages are as clean as its editorial pages.

McClure's Magazine

in your home is intended to work only for good. Send $1.00 today for one year's subscription, or leave an order at your book-store. November and December free with new subscriptions for 1906.

OUR NEW YORK WEEKLY LETTER

Princess Gowns—Part of Alice Roosevelt's Trousseau Purchased in New York—Oriental Art the Craze—Displayed in Jewelry, Combs, Etc.

By RENE DEVERAUX.

Of course every one is interested in Alice Roosevelt's trousseau, not only because she is the president's daughter and the most talked about girl in the United States, but because her costumes have always stood for what is correct and smart.

Of that part of her outfit which was purchased and made up in New York two of her evening gowns, one pink, the other pale green, are of satin broche and are on princess lines.

Her wedding gown, which is, of course, the most important item of a bride's trousseau, is of white satin broche, the pattern of which is wreaths of flowers, and was designed by Miss Roosevelt herself. The silk was woven in America, and the pattern was destroyed, and a new, original number of yards was made.

The style of the gown is an elaborate princess, with an elaborate train and a yoke of beautiful lace which was worn by Miss Roosevelt's mother, as was the fall of lace which edges the yoke and which completes the elbow sleeves.

Her traveling dress of tan broadcloth trimmed in velvet, chiffon and soutache braid is also a princess model.

A striking yellow satin evening gown, severely plain, with a pointed bodice, has an effective design of silver spangles outlining the low corsage and the bottom of the skirt.

A fetching little dinner gown of pompadour silk is one of the prettiest

CHINESE MANDARIN COAT NOW SO MUCH IN VOGUE

gowns in the wedding outfit. This exquisite silk, with its delicate pastel shades, is one of the most popular of the spring fabrics.

Another dinner gown is a black net over taffeta, with a full skirt and elbow sleeves.

Perhaps the most unique article of Miss Roosevelt's trousseau is an exquisite hand embroidered Japanese tea gown made from a shawl presented to her by the empress of Japan. Among her negligees she numbers several Chinese coats and Japanese kimonos, splendid with rich silk and gold embroidery.

This craze for the oriental has quite captured feminine fancy, and the most gorgeous Japanese kimonos, Chinese mandarin robes and the short three-quarter Chinese coats, hand embroidered in gold and brilliant silks, ranging in price from $20 up into the hundreds, are in great demand. They have even been pressed into service as opera coats, and at the theater their rich coloring stands out in artistic relief among the white, gray and more sober hued conventional theater wraps.

The Chinese coat shown in the sketch is of bright crimson silk elaborately hand embroidered in gold. The band edging it is of old blue shades of silk and gold threads on a lighter blue ground, finished with a narrower white band scattered with tiny pink and green flowers. It is fastened at the neck and at the right side with tiny gold buttons and frogs of red silk cord and is lined with white chin silk.

While this is quite an expensive creation, its simple shape renders it delightfully adaptable and practical for home manufacture, and out of plain silks applied or hand embroidered or of soft and artistic Japanese crepe the clever home dressmaker can fashion a stunning negligee at small expense.

It is in the new toilet necessities and babies, however, that oriental art reigns supreme. One sees the most fascinatingly beautiful back combs, belts, neckties, handkerchiefs and rings richly enamelled and carved in Arabian, Persian, Chinese, Egyptian and Syrian designs. They are all so exquisitely beautiful and alluring that the fair shopper seldom can resist their charm.

Even my lady's toilet table revels in the mysterious cold creams, powders, perfumes and soaps of the orient, and her modern Marcelled locks give out the subtle scent that was perhaps part of the toilet of some beautiful Egyptian princess thousands of years ago.

Our readers may have any question concerning fashions or fabrics answered by Rene Deveraux, the fashion expert, by addressing Rene Deveraux, P. O. Box 323, Madison Square, New York, enclosing stamp for reply.

TORTURE OF A PREACHER.

The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore, pastor of the Baptist church, of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you. He says: "I suffered agonies, because of a persistent cough, resulting from the grip. I had to sleep sitting up in bed. I tried many remedies, without relief, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption Coughs and Colds, which entirely cured my cough, and saved me from consumption." A grand cure for diseased conditions of Throat and Lungs. At E. T. Whitehead & Co.'s druggists; price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.
