A Delightful House Party.

Miss Anna Kitchin is in Weldon visiting Miss Jeannette Daniel.

The following account of Miss Daniel's house party appeared in Sunday's News and Observer:

WELDON, N. C., June 30.—The most delightful social event of the week is Miss Jeannette Daniel's house party, at the lovely home of her parents, Solicitor and Mrs. Walter E. Daniel, in honor of her guests, Miss Louie Potat, daughter of President Potat, of Wake Forest College; Miss Anna Kitchin, daughter of Congressman Claude Kitchin, of Scotland Neck, and Miss Alice Newcomb, of Swepsonville, who is a grand-daughter of Captain J. B. Timberlake, of Raleigh, and a great-grand-daughter of the venerable Captain W. T. Whitfield, of this town.

"Friday night Miss Daniel gave an elegant reception in honor of her charming guests and the magnificent home, with its rich and elegant furnishings was resplendent in its beauty and charm. Invitations were issued to nearly a hundred persons and the company was indeed a brilliant assemblage. Master Charles Daniel received the guests at the door. They were met by Mrs. Daniel, who introduced them to the young ladies receiving: Miss Daniel, Miss Potat, Miss Kitchin, Miss Newcomb and little Miss Narcissa Daniel.

"The guests were immediately shown into the dining room where the most elegant and delicious refreshments were served. The table was a picture of beauty. At the four corners long streamers of illusion and flinty pink ribbons were caught with sprays of maiden-hair ferns and the streamers then extended to the electric light chandeliers above where they were fastened with pretty bows of pink ribbons. In the center of the table were placed vases of carnations and on either side burned various colored wax candles in costly silver candelabras, held aloft by the Daniel family.

A souvenir register was placed in the library, in charge of Miss Bertha Allen and Mr. John Zollieffer, in which the guests were requested to register their names. Solicitor Daniel in his usual well known hospitable manner assisted his wife and daughter in the honors of the occasion and all present spent one of the most enjoyable evenings of their lives.

"Miss Jeannette Daniel is one of the most beautiful young ladies of North Carolina. She is a grand-daughter of Captain Charles H. Head, of Richmond, and the young ladies who are her guests are college friends and classmates."

An Afternoon Luncheon.

Contributed to The Commonwealth.

One of the most enjoyable social events of the season was the luncheon given by the young people of the town at White's Mill on Thursday afternoon complimentary to the visiting young ladies. In spite of the lowering clouds a large number of buggies, bearing the care-free young couples, could be seen at 4:30 leaving town en route for the mill pond, and sounds of laughter were wafted back on the warmest of breezes. All nature seemed to catch something of the pleasure in the atmosphere, the birds sang merrily and even the smiling face of the sun ventured to peep forth to send the clouds scurrying away over the deep blue heavens.

Three or four hours were merrily spent at the pond in boating, strolling and talking. The pond dotted with boats and tinged by the red glow of the setting sun, presented a beautiful picture, while the woods about the old mill echoed the sounds of many voices. One of the most enjoyable features of the evening was the elegant luncheon, and all present did full justice to the good things set before them. At eight o'clock the last buggy left the scene of gaiety, each person thoroughly satisfied with the good time. The drive home in the moonlight was a fitting climax.

Those who participated in the evening's enjoyment were Misses Irma Lester, of Orlando, Fla., Elva Crump, of Tillery, N. C., Annie B. Arlington, of Enfield, N. C., Clara Salisbury, of Hassell, N. C., Ruth Pope, of Corry, Pa., Fannie Peale, of Portsmouth, Va., Ruby and Pauline Tillery, Emily Biggs, Roba Clark, Katherine, Bessie and Undine Futrell, Nontie Willford, Maud Gierah, Helen Hilliard and May Webb; Messrs. Bruce Futrell, Hugh Johnson, Edwin Josey, Allen Perry, Albin Dunn, John Gray, Thurman Kitchin, Hugh Kitchin, Ray Boyette, Robert Coleman, Burleigh Courtney, Rom Bryan, Ashby Dunn, Newbern Whitehurst, Scarborough Hancock and Charlie Shields.
