

Medicine That is Medicine.

"I have suffered a good deal with malaria and stomach complaints, but I have now found a remedy that keeps me well, and that remedy is Electric Bitters; a medicine that is medicine in stomach and liver troubles, and for all other conditions," says W. C. C. of Hallsday, Ark. Electric Bitters purify and enrich the blood, tone up the nerves, and impart vigor and energy to the weak. Your money will be refunded if it fails to help you. 50c a bottle. "My kids ain't had a bath this week. There's holes in every stocking. And Mildred's hair is full of snags. And Pauline looks real shocking. And yet we're having lots of fun. A hammin', round the city. 'Cause ma' she can't look after us. She's out on a committee."

It requires a proper combination of certain acids with natural digestive juices to perfect a dyspepsia cure. And that is what Kodol is—a perfect digestant that digests all the food you eat. You will take Kodol for a little while and you will no longer have indigestion. You then continue to have indigestion if you do not get Kodol. Kodol digests all the food you eat. It is pleasant to take, acts promptly. Sold by E. T. Whitehead Company.

NEW GEOLOGICAL THEORY.

Scientist Attributes Surface Moraines on Glaciers to Accretions.

New Haven, Conn.—In his lecture in the Stillman course at Yale Professor Penck, of Berlin, advanced the theory, new to geologists in this country, that the surface moraines of glaciers are formed of accumulations of rock and debris taken from the bottom during its course in the higher levels and not, as has been supposed, by rocks dropping from above upon the upper surface.

By a series of diagrams and photographs Professor Penck showed also that the medial and surface moraines come from the lateral, instead of vice versa, the theory held by geologists.

60-Foot Stack of Barley.
Garfield, Wash.—The largest stack of barley, stacked and then piled up, ever known in the history of the West was made near this place, the result of a determined pool by the farmers to hold their grain until such a time as the market price was enough to warrant them to sell at a profit. The stack of grain was ninety feet high and much labor was expended in order that the grain might be piled in such a manner to enable the whole to be covered with tarpaulins.

You may eat all the good sensible food you like if you will let Kodol digest it for you. Don't worry about dyspepsia or indigestion, for worry only tends to make you more nervous. Besides you don't have to worry any more about what you eat, because Kodol for Dyspepsia and Indigestion will digest any and all food at any and all times. Kodol is guaranteed to give prompt relief. BEARS ARE HARD DRINKERS

Bill Babcock Has Seen 'Em and Explains the Evil Habit.

Hanson, Me.—"All the bears of Penobscot County I have ever known," said William Babcock, of Badley, "feel as if they cannot den up for the winter until after they have had a protracted drunk from eating crab apples that have stayed on the trees cold nights until they were frozen clear through and then hung out and thawed in the sunlight and repeated the operation until fermentation set in and the sweet elixir has turned to a good imitation of old Medford rum."

"Of course a bear that is real fat, so fat that his eyes are closing up and making him blind, will stagger away under the protecting trunk of a rotting tree and go off into its snooze without any sleeping potion; but an average bear that is young and active seems to dread going to sleep for six months on a stretch, and puts it off as long as it can and gets drunk and blunders away to the nearest hiding place and drops off to sleep in an intoxicated stupor."

"It is too bad to have a respectable young bear that has passed the summer in picking and eating berries, and that has put on its last layer of fat from gathering and eating mellow windfalls in the autumn orchards, get into the habit of drinking liquor."

"An overdose of hard cider made from fermented apple juice has the same effect on bears that it does on men, and makes them careless of their own welfare and quarrelsome and generally disagreeable."

"I wish the Maine prohibitory law could get at those ungathered apples and put a stop to drunkenness among bears but I fear the reform movement will arrive too late to do any good to the bears. I have killed two promising young bears because of their weakness for strong drink, and I may secure two or three more, though I am ashamed of my conduct."

AEROPLANE FASHIONS.

Suggestions for Aviator's Proper Apparel Just Issued.

London, England.—Fashions for aeroplaning already claim the attention of London outfitters. The following suggestions for an aeroplanist's outfit have been given by a West End maker of motor clothes.

"The aeroplanist should wear a gaberdine coat with a thickacey lining to keep out the cold. Over that he might have a loose and thick overcoat, buttoning very high around the neck. For lining, osseum fur would be the ideal thing, and the gloves might also be lined with the same fur."

"For leg-covering a pair of breeches of the same material as the coat and these, to keep out the cold, should be tightly laced below the knees. Thick stockings with fur-lined gaiters over them should keep the wearer's feet warm."

"For head covering the cap supplied to Arctic expeditions would suit the aeroplanist. It is a knitted wool cap covered with cloth with ear flaps and flaps which could be pulled out at will on either side of the face to protect it against the wind."

MAC CRACKEN IS FOR MARRIAGE

Crucifies Professor for Calling It Suicide of Love.

Chicago.—College professors who promulgate new and startling theories on marriage and divorce are denounced as sensation-mongers and seekers after notoriety by Chancellor MacCracken of New York University in a letter to a Chicagoan who formerly was a student of New York University.

Professor MacCracken scores Professor Edward D. Monroe of Leland Stanford University for his pessimistic conception of the marriage relation in America and takes him to task for asserting in a recent lecture before a woman's club in Chicago that marriage was the suicide of love in the United States.

Marked For Death.

"Three years ago I was marked for death. A grave-yard cough was tearing my lungs to pieces. Doctors failed to help me, and hope had fled, when my husband got Dr. King's New Discovery," says Mrs. A. Bad Bill in Edgecombe.

(William Orr, to the News and Observer.)
Wilson, N. C., Jan. 9.—A farmer was here yesterday from Edgecombe county, who says just before prohibition went into effect he bought a barrel of whiskey for his own use. For the past few days, he says his house has been besieged by parties who offered almost any price for it. He says he is a law-abiding citizen, but that it seems to be a hard matter to convince some people that he is not allowed to dispose of what he has paid for. He says for several nights past he has found it impossible to get any sleep for the constant rappings at his door, asking him to let them have some of the liquor, for all kinds of imaginable ailments that some members of the applicants' family are affected with. He says that he is even afraid to leave his home, fearing that the besotted wretches who might apply, would do harm to some members of his family. "I know what I'll do," said he, "I'll go back home and turn the last drop of the stuff into the ditch and swear never to take another drop."
