ECCE QUI VIVIT.

Louis XV Covered One Courtyard With Silver and Gold.

Many interesting instances of historical eccentricity or extravagance in the selection of material for paving streets and roads may be cited. It is related that when Maximilian Emmanuel succeeded to the throne of Bavaria he celebrated the event by causing one of the roads leading to his palace to be paved with plates of burnished copper. This gleaming in the sunshine gave all the effect of the most precious metal—gold.

An eccentric noblemen of Milan presented the idea of paving the courtyard of his palace with plates of marble, granite and other stone, each longer than the last. It is said that Louis XIV, King of France, and Louis XV, King of France, both of whom were in the habit of visiting the city of Milan, were so impressed with the idea that they ordered the courtyard to be paved with plates of marble, granite and other stone, each longer than the last.

HANDICAPPED.

This is the Case With Many Scotland Neck People.

The men's football team at Scotland Neck are handicapped with a bad back. The maddening pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and standing or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning the stiff and heavy muscles and limbs may give relief, but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the source of the pain must cure the ailment.

Dr. J. H. Whitehead, of Scotland Neck, N. C., writes: "I have a son who is handicapped with a bad back. He is now in the habit of visiting the city of Milan, and we have seen many of these handicapped children. They are all very intelligent and very kind, and we are very glad to see them."

Editor Poe to Circle the Globe.

Announcement is made that Editor Clarence Poe of the Raleigh, N. C., Progressive Farmer and Gazette will sail August 23rd for a five-months' trip around the world, and will write for his paper every week a series of articles dealing with all the notable and interesting things seen in Japan, China, the Philippines, India, the Holy Land, and Egypt, — having his eyes open especially for everything affecting the South, our agriculture, manufactures, race problem and political problems, civilization of resources, etc.

What may be expected of Mr. Poe's "Round the World" trip? Letters may be pressed from the enthusiastic reception of his travel letters from Europe two years ago. So popular as published in The Progressive Farmer and Gazette, the letters were later reprinted in book form, and were awarded a golden trophy cup for distinguished literary merit, the presentation being made by Ambassador Hayes, of Great Britain, who joined a great number of American critics in high praise of the book. The Atlanta Constitution commended editorially the other day that Mr. Poe "by his splendid qualities of intellectual and moral leadership" has become one of the leaders in Southern journalism as well as "one of the foremost and most reliable thinkers in the South." Progressive Farmer and Gazette subscribers will doubtless follow his letters with interest, and one or two articles on his expedition are offered free to subscribers who do not know the paper.
