Max Riddick Lost.

The immediate family and several friends were thrown into some excitement Saturday night about 2 o'clock over the non-arrival at home of Max Riddick. The young man engaged to work for Mr. J. W. Allsbrook Saturday and this he did well and faithfully. Just before closing hours that night Max became tired and went towards the rear of the store where he found a comfortable place to sit down and doing so he soon fell to sleep. The store was closed and all went home losing sight of Max.

When Mrs. Riddick called the roll, or rather when it was discovered that Max was not at home it caused some alarm and Mrs. Riddick with other members of the family set about to see what had become of Max. After giving the alarm in a quiet way and calling several families over the phone, some one suggested that the boy had been left in the store. They at once went to the home of Mr. Claude Allsbrook and had him go to the store and there, sound asleep, the lost boy was found and restored to his family, and what seemed to be a serious matter at the beginning turned out to be laughable at the end. The joke is on Max and his friends are teasing him not a little about getting lost.

Max says he is very glad they found him for he would have been almost scared to death to have found himself in the store at such a late hour in the night. He will also be more careful where he goes to sleep the next time.

ANOTHER LINK IN THE SILVER CHAIN.

Mrs. R. C. Josey and Mrs. J. P. Wimberley Entertain.

Another link was added to the silver chain of parties which has been being given in Scotland Neck for the past several weeks for the benefit of the graded school fund, a link that was "all silver and guaranteed to wear a life time"—in the memory of all who were present on Thursday night, June 29, 1911. Then it was that Mrs. R. C. Josey and Mrs. J. P. Wimberley entertained from 8:30 until 11:30 at a delightful lawn party.

No more suitable place could have been chosen than the lawn with its tall trees, its green carpet and its inviting swings. An electric light in the center lighted up the most remote corner of the lawn, which with the merry sounds of laughter and conversation that greeted all passers-by, showed that fun and pleasure held sway during the evening and that every one was their willing subject.

Progressive croconole was the game of the evening. All were kept so busy having a good time, that time passed unnoticed.

Delicious refreshments were served between games and then again "everybody was happy", as happy as an elaborate salad course and dainty ices and cakes could make them.

All of the fifty invited guests left only when the hands of the clock pointed unrelentingly to an hour that said they must, each glad that they had been so fortunate as to help make this silver link.

Will Fight Hookworm.

Dr. P. W. Covington, Sanitary Director of the North Carolina Board of Health, was in Scotland Neck Saturday, making preparatory steps towards fighting the hookworm disease in the county.

Dr. Covington tells us that it is the plan of the Hookworm Commission of the North Carolina Board of Health to establish dispensaries throughout the county for the treatment of the disease.

This work will be conducted by an expert in this line and he will be assisted by a competent microscopist furnished by the North Carolina Board of Health.

This method of treatment has been carried out with a great deal of success in Georgia, Alabama and Louisiana. From 100 to 300 patients being treated each day in the dispensaries.

The County Commissioners, at their meeting Monday apportioned an amount not to exceed $50.00 per week for four weeks to assist in this fight against the hookworm.

Dr. Covington tells us that he will issue, next week full information, plans and treatment of the disease, through the newspapers of the county and by posters, large cards, circular letters etc. He urges the people to be on the lookout and as far as possible avail themselves of this treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards Entertain.

On Tuesday evening, June 27th, from four until seven-thirty of the clock, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. T. Edwards, at their nice little country residence near Scotland Neck, delightfully entertained the little people of the community in honor of their niece, Miss Sadie Pope, one of Spring Hill's charming little ladies.

Every feature of the occasion went to prove that it was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the kind during the season.

The lawn was a perfect scene of loveliness. Dainty little rustic seats were nicely fixed here and there under the lovely shade trees for the little ones to occupy and play numerous little games, which they all seemed to enjoy highly.

There were several grown ladies and gentlemen present to suggest the different plays and help them in having a nice time.

Promptly at the hour of six the signal was given and all assembled around the beautiful white table, which had been tastefully arranged under a large oak on the lawn, where they were served with delicious pineapple and lemon cream, together with many different kinds of cake.

After they had all partaken most bountifully, the little ones again retired to the opposite side of the lawn and continued their games, while the older ones, some of whom, assembled in the sitting room where many lovely duets were rendered, and others sit out on the lawn in buggies and enjoyed nice little social chats.

Just as the glowing sun was hiding itself in the distant west, they all again met on the lawn, congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Edwards on their kind hospitality and declaring that they had never before spent a more delightful time, and they would be glad to hear of another such occasion soon.

Death on Roanoke River.

On Monday morning, June 26, 1911, the whole community was shocked and grieved to learn that while brooding over disappointment in love, and becoming temporarily insane, our beloved young friend, Mr. Earold Barnhill had drank laudanum and was found in his room in a dying condition. All that loving friends and a skilled physician could do was to no avail. His time had come and God's summons must be obeyed. At ten o'clock his spirit took its flight to join Christ and the angels around the great white throne, in the mansion that he has prepared for his children.

He was born February 9, 1891, and died June 26, 1911, and twenty years, four months and seventeen days. He was born and reared in Pitt county up until a few years ago when he came to Dawsons to live. The following year he united with Dawsons Baptist church and became a consecrated Christian worker. He was ever faithful to his church duties and lived in the fear of God. He was a regular attendant of prayer service and Sunday school. Though very youthful he would at times get up and testify for his God at our prayer service. He was a devoted son, a loving and affectionate brother, and always carried a sunny smile and cheery word for all. His presence always brought with it sunshine and cheerfulness.

About a year and a half ago he accepted a position with Mr. Frank P. Shields as manager of a large farm on Roanoke river, which position he held up until his death a few days ago. While there he won the high esteem of many and acquired a host of friends. His business-like manner and punctuality was remarkable for one so youthful.

He leaves behind a mother and father five sisters and three brothers to mourn their loss, and a host of sorrowing friends and relatives. Dear loved ones, though the sunshine and joy of his presence can no more cast it rays upon us here. Let us live in the anticipation of the happy time when we shall again be reunited at the Father's throne, where there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things are passed away. Though he committed a grave error in taking his own life, we feel the blessed hope that he had been born into the righteous kingdom and was a child of the living God, and surely God is able to keep the soul committed to his care.

How sweet to think, to feel, to know, When racked our souls with care and strife, That he is safe from every woe, Which fills our cup of mortal life, That never more shall pain distress Nor fever burn upon his brow.

Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness. Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are promptly and permanently cured by the use of

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY. It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.

The dealer who offers a substitute for the "Discovery" is only seeking to make the little more profit realized on the sale of less meritorious preparations. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth bound.
