Famous Bride's Petticoat.

A cambric petticoat, yellow with age and trimmed in fine crocheted edging and insertion, holds the record of having been worn by a bride in one family and of having served 18 brides as the "something old" which every maid must wear to the nuptial altar. This petticoat was made 55 years ago by Nancy Emma Stroud of Atlanta, Ga., who wore it to the altar when she became the bride of Aaron Nunnally of the same city. Even before forming part of her nuptial attire it was famous, for Mrs. Nunnally made it when she was a pupil of the Bartlett college in Madison, Ga., and it took the prize not only for the exquisite needlework, but also for the fine and excellent quality of the hand-made lace. Less than a year afterward a younger sister was married and the petticoat was loaned. Sixteen other brides have worn the Stroud petticoat and it has been sent recently to form part of the bridal dower of Mrs. Stroud's granddaughter, Miss Rose Belle Hines of McKinney, Tex.

Knighthood for Women.

It is not at all well known that knighthood has constantly been conferred upon women. Many English ladies received the accolade and many more were members of such knightly orders as the Garter and St. John. When Mary Chalmers, "the bold lady of Cheviot," was knighted by Elizabeth for "her valiant address" on the queen taking the command at the threatened invasion by Spain, did she know that a whole city of Spanish women, the gallant women of Tortosa, had been knighted for saving that city from the Moors? Mary and Elizabeth had both been knighted at their coronation; but by the time Anne, the second Mary, and Victoria ascended the throne it had been quite forgotten that according to English law and use a woman who filled a man's office acquired all its privileges and was immune from none of its duties.

Partridge Berries.

"One of the most satisfactory ornaments for the center of your dinner table is a glass jar or bowl filled with the growing plant of the partridge berry," said a New Yorker who just has returned from a visit to her former Vermont home. "The bright red of the berry against the green moss and the green foliage of the plant is always attractive and looks cheerful. A bowl of these berries on their delicate vines, carefully planted in well moistened moss and kept covered, will last all winter and need no further attention. The partridge berry is native to both Vermont and New York. Keep this in mind during your next ramble in the woods."

"Jackson Statue Monument Day."

Headquarters N. C. Division United Confederate Veterans, Durham, N. C., April 5, 1912. General Orders No. 46.

Paragraph 1. The Jackson Memorial Association, of Richmond, Virginia, has asked that next Memorial Day, tenth of May, be set apart in the schools of the South as "Jackson Monument Day" and that every child in these schools be asked to contribute ten cents for the erection of an appropriate equestrian statue of the immortal Stonewall Jackson at Richmond. In furtherance of most laudable undertaking North Carolinians are requested to do their part as fully as our NORTH CAROLINA SOLDIERS DID THEIR PART IN WINNING THOSE BATTLES THAT IMMORTALIZED JACKSON'S NAME AND FAME. Every school child in this State, every Daughter of the Confederacy, every Confederate Veteran and every other patriotic citizen of North Carolina is hereby urged to contribute the small sum of ten cents for the purpose of thus honoring the memory of one whose name and fame will ever be fondly cherished by all who admire and revere the military genius and matchless exploits of Stonewall Jackson.

Paragraph 2. While there are magnificent statues and monuments erected at Richmond to Davis, Lee, Stuart and other Confederate heroes, yet the only memorial there of Jackson is a bronze bust in the Capitol Square, and that was erected by admiring Englishmen. No adequate statue of him has been erected by his own people, for whom he sacrificed his life. Let this no longer be said, but let North Carolinians, young and old, gladly respond to the appeal of Jackson Memorial Association and aid in this good work. Send all remittances to Mr. W. J. Holloway, Cashier First National Bank, Durham, N. C.

By order of J. S. CARR, Major-General.

E. G. T. School Items.

Greenville, N. C., April 13.—President Robt. H. Wright attended the Southern educational Conference in Nashville, Tenn.

The new class of students, numbering thirty-six, that entered at the beginning of the new term, are entering in the work of the school life with zest.

An interesting basket-ball game between one of the regular teams, and Goblins, and a team selected from the whole school, was played on April 2nd. The Goblins won.

Many of the students went home for the Easter holidays, which extended from noon Good Friday to Tuesday, April 9th. The students that remained had a pleasant time and were not allowed to get homesick.

The Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening services have been quite interesting recently. They have been conducted by Rev. C. M. Rock, of the Baptist church of Greenville, by Prof. Austin and by the music committee of the Y. W. C. A.

Prof. H. E. Austin delivered an address at the closing of the Chocowinity school Tuesday, April 2nd.

Prof. C. W. Wilson addressed the Craven county teachers at New Bern on April 6th.

Twilight story telling on Thursday evenings is quite a feature in the school life. The different classes are taking turns in telling stories.

The One Year Class gave the school an unique entertainment on the evening of April 1st. Four fools, imitation of the Shakespeare fool, spoke the prologue and epilogue and commented on the various types of humanity and follies of the age that were presented in tableaux or dramatization. Snatches of songs were interspersed. While there was much fun there was no buffoonery. It was a high class but greatly amusing April fool entertainment. After the program the One Year Class gave a reception to the faculty and new students. The Y. W. C. A. hall was beautifully decorated in gray moss and yellow flowers, the class colors. The refreshments were hidden under fools' caps.

Sane Philosophy.

About the sanest philosophy any woman can have is to aim to make the most of each day as it comes along and not borrow trouble from the future or bemoan the regretful past. Get through each day with a determination to make it just as useful, cheerful and helpful as possible. If you live out this belief your life cannot help but be successful.

CORPORATION COMMISSION.

Candidates Are Getting Active—Maxwell, Pell, Justice and Travis in The Field.

Raleigh, April 12.—As the time approaches for the democratic state convention the speculation as to what state officers will have opposition quickening apace but candidates are remarkably slow in getting in the field. Indeed, the contest still seems to be mainly centered around the two seats on the corporation commission, the short term that Hon. E. L. Travis holds by appointment from Governor Kitchin and the term succeeding Chairman Frank McNeil, who proposes to retire. S. C. Daniel, of Littleton, has now declared definitely that he is seeking the place now held by Mr. Travis. This leaves the contest over the McNeil place on the commission between A. J. Maxwell, at present secretary to the commission, and former Judge George Pell, of Winston-Salem and Mr. Justice, of Charlotte. All three are working strenuously and getting the support of democratic leaders in one and another section of the state.

There has been talk for several days that Hon. W. C. Newland was contemplating getting into the race against Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes for the office he has held three terms, now that he has said that he will no longer contest with Hon. Locke Craig for the governorship.

In The Old Fashioned Way.

While traveling in the western part of the county last Friday we found an old negro woman weaving blankets in the old fashioned way. We had never seen anything of the kind and it was quite a curiosity. In weaving the blanket then in the loom only two treadles were used, while in jeans there are three required and in making serge four are necessary. The thread is wrapped around a beam, then passed through the harness and rest the reeds and then comes another trick and the threads are crossed in the reeds and just behind these is where the shuttle works. This shuttle is thrown from right to left and left to right between the crossed and distended threads and after it is thrown the reeds are pulled towards the weaver and one treadle pressed down and so on. From looking at this and the throwing of the shuttle we understood better the comparison by the inspired writer of this with the fight of time, "How faster than the weaver's shuttle?" The price per yard for weaving charged by the old woman when all things are furnished is blankets, 5 cents; jeans, 5 cents; serge, 10 cents. She says she can make ten yards of blankets per day. The grade was good and the red border looked very much like blankets bought at stores. If you ever have an opportunity to see such a thing you will find the time well spent in watching a weaver weave.—Carthage News.

"Allowing" Them to Vote.

President Taft, in a recent letter to Chairman Koenig, of the Maryland State Republican Committee, used this language: "I hope you will see to it that all voters are allowed to cast their ballots at the coming primaries."

Apparently it does not occur to the President that as free born American citizens they have the perfect and inalienable right to cast their votes, without waiting for Mr. Koenig or anybody else to "allow" them that privilege.—C. H. Tavernier.

Selenium for Burglar Alarms.

The property of selenium of becoming conducting to electricity when exposed to light is to be made use of for the construction of burglar alarm. A selenium cell is inserted in an ordinary electric circuit comprising a bell and a battery. During the day the cell is kept covered sheltered from the light. At night the cover is removed. Any light then falling upon the cell closes the circuit and sounds the alarm bell.

LIFE OF AYCOCK TO BE PUBLISHED.

R. D. W. Connor and Clarence Poe Selected as Editors.

Raleigh, N. C., April 8.—Friends of Governor Aycock in conference here to-day, decided to proceed immediately with the publication of his life and most notable public addresses.

They selected as editors R. D. W. Connor and Clarence Poe, and hope to have special assistance of Dr. George T. Winston. The biographical part of the book will not be exhaustive, but will give in the opening a running account of his career with many stories about him, after which the volume will contain the best of his most notable addresses, the cream of all his public utterances and perhaps some of his letters.

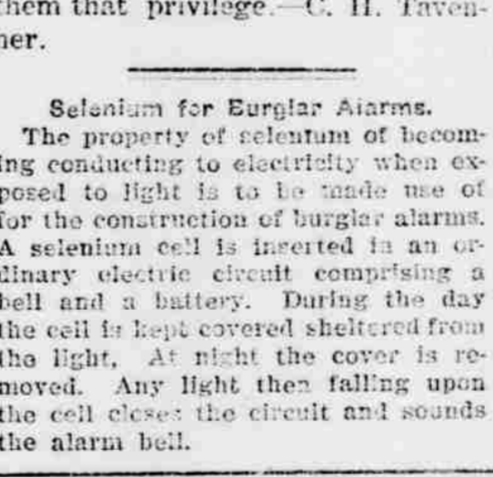

His famous address on "universal education," his historic speech at Laurinburg opening the campaign of 1898, suffrage amendment speech, inaugural address, defense of his administration at the Democratic State Convention in 1904, address on General Lee and specimens of his most telling jury efforts. The last speech included in the volume will be his undelivered address which he had prepared for delivery at the auditorium here Friday night.

The editors wish to interpret his career and principles in incidents, stories and anecdotes, and request that every friend of Governor Aycock report to them any anecdote, incident, or fact which would serve to illustrate his character, ability or principles. The book will be issued during the summer months and is expected to aid as nothing else could in perpetuating the message of Governor Aycock's life and character to future generations.

A WOMAN'S GOOD LOOKS

Depend on her general health and freedom from pain. Every woman looks old before her time because of these irregularities which are especially common. Starting from early womanhood, she suffers from irregular menstruation, that upset her womanly health. If she has irregular menstruation, she will have wrinkles and freckles about the eyes, and the circles underneath, and she will have a sallow complexion, and she will have a headache, and she will have a nervous system, and she will have a general debility, and she will have a general weakness, and she will have a general loss of vitality, and she will have a general loss of beauty.

It is inevitable the rate their skin wears away, and she will have a general loss of vitality, and she will have a general loss of beauty. This remedy is called Rexall Orderlies, and it is the only remedy that will give you a good complexion, and it is the only remedy that will give you a good complexion, and it is the only remedy that will give you a good complexion.
