

Couldn't Walk!

"I used to be troubled with a weakness peculiar to women," writes Mrs. Anna Jones, of Kenny, Ill. "For nearly a year, I could not walk, without holding my sides. I tried several different doctors, but I grew worse. Finally, our druggist advised Cardui for my complaint. I was so thin, my weight was 115. Now, I weigh 163, and I am never sick. I ride horseback as good as ever. I am in fine health at 52 years."

TAKE CARDUI The Women's Tonic

We have thousands of such letters, and more are arriving daily. Such earnest testimony from those who have tried it, surely proves the great value of this vegetable, tonic medicine, for women.

Cardui relieves women's sufferings, and builds weak women up to health and strength. If you are a woman, give it a trial. It should help you, for it has helped a million others. It is made from pure, harmless, herb ingredients, which act promptly and surely on the womanly organs. It is a good tonic. Try it! Your druggist sells it.

HARD TO READ FACES

ONE NEVER CAN BE SURE OF HIS JUDGMENTS.

Facial Expression is Constantly Changing and Correctly to Determine Character From It is a Fine and Intricate Art.

The living face in its relation to the real character might be likened to an expert juggler manipulating the various articles of his mystic trade. Except in moments of reverie or abstraction the expression is constantly changing; it scarcely remains the same for five consecutive seconds. It is a case of "Now you see me, and now you don't," and it is extremely difficult to determine when you may be catching a glimpse of the real character, and when the deceiving expression may be a misleading token, involuntary, perhaps, on the part of the individual, but cunningly calculated by nature to deceive the eye of the spectator.

Hence the genuine ability to "read character" in facial expression is much rarer than is commonly supposed. It is not only a fine art but an intricate one. Most persons who fancy that they possess it in some degree are really proceeding upon a sort of blind instinct, which is likely to be deceived entirely by superficial indications. The accurate judges of men are extremely scarce; their gift is one which should invariably lead them to success if they are blessed with half an opportunity.

The appraisal of character by photographic evidence may be as erroneous as that which is based on the living face, but at least the photograph gives opportunity for continuous study and shows none of those shifting moods which are sure to confuse the judgment. The camera catches its subject as he or she may appear at the given moment. It may be an inopportune moment, the camera may be a poor one, there may be a fault in the plate, or the photographer may lack skill, but something of the true soul and character of the subject is bound to appear on the surface and to stand revealed to all who see it.

The truth may be somewhat qualified by the fact that the average person in front of the camera is invariably more or less self-conscious, but in general effect the dominant qualities are at least partially revealed, so that in almost any photographic portrait one may see strength of character, vanity, self-esteem, nobility, meanness, fustiness, unscrupulousness or what not, as the case may be.

When photographs are "reproduced" by half-tone process the essential facts of the physiognomy are sometimes obscured, especially in the hurried processes of newspaper portraiture. Still, in all but the most atrocious examples of such art, these essential facts show through, even if it be with but a dim glow.—Providence Journal.

Washington Man's White Farm.

Eugene Jacquemin has acquired his heart's desire, a farm on which are pure white animals and fowls, all housed in spotless shelters and permitted to roam within bounds of snowy fences. This "white farm" is unique because it contains many specimens of albino wild animals and birds.

White horses do all the farm work and are the drivers and saddle animals. White ponies play with the children. White cows furnish butter and milk. There are white hogs, sheep and goats. The pigeons, chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys and guinea fowls were imported from Africa. A novelty is a pair of peacocks pure white. About the yard three spitz dogs play and white Persian cats lounge on the porches. In the orchard the eccentric farmer has an albino elk, three white deer, a mountain sheep and a polar bear cub. These are in aviaries a pure white magpie, white blackbirds, pheasants, wild swan, cranes and storks.—Puyallup correspondence St. Paul Dispatch.

The Defendant's Version.

Referring to his diary of June 22, 1908, Mr. Studley said it was untrue that, coming home from Lady Glen-Cost's ball, he violently pulled his wife out of a cab and forced her onto her knees, so that she fell on the pavement.

What occurred was this: "About ten minutes to 2, at the ball, I went to my wife and said, 'Cherub, are you ready to go home?' She said, 'Oh, let me stay a little.' I said, 'Very well; I'll come back shortly.' About five minutes past 2 I asked her if she were ready, and she, with very bad grace, said, 'Yes.' I said, 'I can't get up in the morning if I don't go to bed.' We got into a hansom, and during the short distance to Sloan street she turned on me in a temper and said, 'You spoil all my fun, you brute,' and she let out at me and smashed my hat down over my face—all for nothing."—London Daily News.

Force of Habit Strong.

At the informal gambol which was given by the Chicago members of the Lambs' club recently, John Drew told of an actor who had the misfortune to fall off a ferry boat at night. Of course there was great confusion on board. The searchlight was turned round and round in an effort to find the man. He came up for the third time just as the light struck him, and from force of habit the actor raised himself and delivered a most ceremonious bow. Then the rescuers grabbed him.

Eye Water Before or After.

"I thought that in the fifteen years of my practice of medicine," said a physician, "I had answered almost every possible 'fool' question; but a new one was sprung on me recently. A young man came in with an inflamed eye, for which I prescribed medicine—to be dropped into the eye three times a day. He left the office, but returned in a few minutes, poked his head in the doorway, and asked 'Shall I drop this in the eye before meals or after?'—Everybody's Magazine.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR.

Hundreds of Scotland Neck Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Scotland Neck people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Scotland Neck reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

David Rawls, painter, Sixth St., Scotland Neck, N. C., says: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have certainly been of the greatest benefit to me. My kidneys were badly disordered and caused my back to become weak and lame. It was hard for me to stoop or lift and I felt miserable in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from E. T. Whitehead Co.'s drug store, relieved my aches and pains and benefited my entire system. I have no cause for complaint since taking this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Somewhat Contradictory.

One of the new books of reference states in its preface that the "names received too late for insertion will be found in the appendix." This reminds us of an Australian editor's contemptuous note to a correspondent:—"Your letter is so gratuitous that we omit any reference to it."

Don't think that piles can't be cured. Thousands of obstinate cases have been cured by Doan's Ointment, 50 cents at any drug store.

Beauty Hint.

Red elbows, says the Evening News, are happily a thing which may be removed. Saw off the red elbows, soak them in a bleaching mixture of unslaked lime, steep them in carbolic acid, and they will never trouble you again. Cold feet may be treated similarly.

For soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury, there is nothing better than Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment also relieves rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

Live Australian Freaks.

A cat, somewhat of a freak of nature, was born on T. G. Ware's farm at Little Akray, Australia, recently. It has five legs, the extra one working in a socket in the breastbone. The cat is thriving, and is strong and healthy. Another freak, a lamb, is reported to have been born at Plat Point Station. It has three ears and eight legs. It did not live.

Billious? Feel heavy after dinner? Tongue coated? Bitter taste? Complicated salivary? Liver needs working up. Doan's Regulents cure billious attacks. 25 cents at any drug store.

Christmas Makes Demand.

The German demand for apples and nuts to hang on Christmas trees is always very great. The inland production of apples, even in a favorable year, although large, is far too small for the demand, in spite of the fact that thousands of acres of new trees are planted each year. In order to supply the inland market, large quantities of apples and nuts must be imported from abroad each year.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers, rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Takes the sting out of cuts, burns or bruises at once. Pain cannot stay where it is used.

Miscellaneous.

It is very surprising to find in the Charlotte Observer this misquotation of an old phrase, "Everything was lovely and the goose was hanging high." This is the way the unforgotten communalists have come to write it, but in the Tar Heel country they know better. The right reading is "who goes home high" as the wild goose does when the weather is fine, or in other words, when "everything is lovely."—Nashville Banner.

The Choice of a Husband.

is too important a matter for a woman to be handicapped by weakness, bad blood, or foul breath. Avoid these ill-hopes by taking Dr. King's Life Pills. New strength, fine complexion, pure breath, cheerful spirits—things that win men—follow their use. Easy, safe, sure. 25c at E. T. Whitehead Co.

Women in Suicide Epidemic.

No fewer than five suicides, all of women, were committed in Paris one recent day. A mother and her daughter took cyanide of potassium because they had had no food for three days. The daughter was a lyric artist. A young Austrian girl of 18 threw herself onto the rails as a train was entering the Marbe station of the Metz. A woman of 40 took arsenic, and the fifth, who was 27, shot herself through the heart.

What Makes a Woman.

One hundred and twenty pounds, more or less, of bone and muscle don't make a woman. It's a good foundation. Put into it health and strength and she may rule a kingdom. But that's just what Electric Bitters give her. Thousands bless them for overcoming fainting and dizzy spells and for dispelling weakness, nervousness, backache and tired, listless, worn out feeling. "Electric Bitters have done me a world of good," writes Eliza Pool, Depew, Okla., "and I thank you, with all my heart, for making such a good medicine." Only 50c. Guaranteed by E. T. Whitehead Co.

H Was No. 13.
Charlotte, June 29.—While making a desperate effort to rescue his family from an impending collision of an automobile that stopped on the Southern track and a freight train yesterday morning near Newells, John M. Jamison, proprietor of Stonewall Hotel, was struck and instantly killed.

Mr. Jamison was driving his big touring car to Newells, eight miles from the city, and pulled up in the grade that leads across the Southern track. In the middle of it, the engine choked and refused to pull. In a moment the freight was seen whizzing around the curve. Mr. Jamison had but a moment in which to rescue those in the car. There were Mrs. Jamison and two children, Mrs. W. H. Bagwell and her little son, of Hamlet. Mrs. Jamison and her children jumped, escaping with small injuries and barely missing the crash of train and car. Mr. Jamison was in the act of removing his guests when the train struck his car, killing him and badly wounding the Hamlet friends.

Yesterday, report has it, Mr. Jamison took out a life insurance policy for ten thousand dollars, paying first premium with check. He is reputed to have turned to his wife and asked jokingly, "This check is number 13, do you reckon it will kill me?"

No Interrupters.

In a small South Carolina town that was finished "before" the war, two men were playing checkers in the back of a store. A travelling man who was making his first trip to the town was watching the game, and, not being acquainted with the business methods of the citizens, he called the attention of the owner of the store to some customers who had just entered the front door.

"Sh! Sh!" answered the storekeeper, making another move on the checkerboard. "Keep perfectly quiet and they'll go out."—Everybody's.

Bright Light in Calamity.

Times of general calamity and confusion have ever been productive of the greatest minds. The purest ore is produced from the hottest furnace, and the brightest thunderbolt is elicited from the darkest storm.—Lacon.

If you are a housewife you cannot reasonably hope to be healthy or beautiful by washing dishes, sweeping and doing housework all day, and crawling into bed dead tired at night. You must get out into the open air and sunlight. If you do this every day and keep your stomach and bowels in good order by taking Chamberlain's Tablets when needed, you should become both healthy and beautiful. For sale by all dealers.
