VOL. XXIX.

SCOTLAND NECK, N. C., THURSDAY, JUNE 16, 1913.

NUMBER 24.

The Greatest Kidney Remedy on Earth, " Says a Grateful Woman.

> ant to tell you how much good 3 Root did me. About rs ago, I suffered from what | 3 alled fistula and for that time I endured name can tell. I also had of the bladder and 1 3 medicines without reny help. Someone told me Kilmer's Swamp-Root. ving it a thorough trial, I of, so kept on using it an i am a strong and well If I ever feel badly or out I take Swamp-Root and it straightens me out. I fonhat this medicine wou'd les vou recommend it a pleasure for me to meny and photograph k Dr. Kilmer's Swampof the greatest medi-

MRS. JOHN BAILEY. Portland, Ind. d and sworn to before als lith day of July, 1909. C. A. BENNETT. Notary Public.

to Reet Will Do For You.

NO. A. L. LIVERMON, head Building.

Office hours from 9 to 1 o'clock and 2 to 5 o'clock.

DR. A. D. MORGAN Physician and Surgeon Santal Neck, M. C. Off of in the building former!

used by Dr. J. P. Wimberley. CHAS. L. STATON.

Attorney-at-Law, Sestland Neck, N. C. Practices wherever his services are required.

ASSIBY DUNN

Alterney and Counselor at Law STORE IND NECK, N. C. Practices wherever his services are required. Money to been on approved security

DR. R. L. SAVAGE

OF ROCKY MOUNT, N. C. Will be in Scotland Neck, N. C., on the third Wednesday of each month at the hotel to treat the diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose, Throat, and fit I suppose that Mr. Crawford will per-

DR. O. F. SMITH Physician and Surgeon

Office in The Crescent Pharmacy, Inc Soutland Neck. N. C.

PARKER'S MAIR BALSAM

Wood's Seeds.

Cow Peas. the meat forage and soilanguaring crop.

Soja Beans, the west nutritious and best of summer feed crops. Velvet Beans make enormous growth; are splendid for summer grazing and as a soil renovator.

Write for "WOODS CROP SPECIAL", giving full information about these and other Seasonable Farm Seeds.

T. W. WOOD & SONS, Seedsmen, - Richmond, Va.

Our stocks of Cow Peas and Soja Beans ere choice recleaned stocks of supei rior quality and germination.

 Kitty and the Cabinet

And a Ring That Was Finally Put to Good Use.

By JOHN BEAUMONT.

"See here," said Chester hotly, "if you think I stole the ring why don't you say so and search me?" "Vincent," cried Elvia, "how can you say such a thing?" "I'm simply putting into words what Miss Celeste has been hinting for the last ten minutes," he cried.

"Celeste may have been unfortunate in her remarks," said John Nosiles southingly, "but she meant nothing of Vincent Chester laughed. Ever since Mis: Celeste Noulles descended upon her brother's household at the death of his wife she had fought Vincent. He was a boy then, but even then in love with Ulvin, and Miss Celeste had higher ideas of matrimony for her very numetive mees

s evening the two had been exmining a ring, and somehow, none mow how, it had disappeared. They had hunted all over for it, but it could not be found, and it was to be expected that Miss Celeste's acid tongue would but thinly veil her suspicious

"II Mr. Chester's conscience is unensy." chuckled Miss Celeste, "I can an lerstand that he takes to himself the dy impersonal speeches."

Vincent turned to Mr. Nealles. "Will you search me, sir?" he asked. "Nousense!" cried his host, "Celeste, for heaven's sake keep still. My boy, no one believes that you would steal ing thing-except one thing." He patted Elvia's shoulder meaningly to explain his last sentence and thereby added fuel to Miss Celeste's

"I don't see why he should not be searched." she fumed. "The ring was here a moment ago, and now it is

"You see," said Vincent. "Again, I L you to search me."

"My boy, you were not a day old when I first took you in my arms." said Mr. Noailes. "I would as soon accuse myself of crime as to believe it of "Well, if you won't," said Vincent briskly, "I'll have to do it myself, !

Rapidly he turned out the contents of his pockets, spreading them on the table. John Noailes sprang forward as though to stop him, but Elvia laid a detaining hand upon his shoulder.

"It is better so," she whispered. "It is the only way to convince auntle." They stood silent until the things had been returned to Crawford's pock ets; then Mr. Nonlies stepped forward. "This should satisfy you. Celeste," he said sternly. "I went to tell you that if you ever raise the question again I shall not condone your second offense. "Very well," said Miss Celeste, with a shrug of her shoulders. "Since I seem to be so much in the way here mit me to retire. She swept grandly from the room, leaving the three to face each other uncomfortably. All knew that Miss Celeste was not satisfied and were fearful of her next outbreak.

Each tried to appear at ease, but the pleasure of the visit was gone, and presently Crawford made an excuse for taking his departure. Elvia followed him to the door.

"Will you drop in tomorrow evenfound the ring."

that I cannot get "I am afraid ground," he said uncomfortably. "If sou find it will you write?"

Won't you come over?" pleaded E via, but Vincent shook his head. He had been shocked by the accusation, and not even the belief of Elvia and tion room, where "fake" jewelry was ed to teach kindergarden. Little her father could salve his wounded feelings yet. It seemed almost as fered-cheap, worthless affairs, but got

Up in her room Miss Celeste was sitting at her writing table while her busy pen covered sheet after sheet of months later the detective met him note paper. Not until she had written and asked him what he had done with a dozen pages did she cease her work. The watches. The scoundrel explained and then, going over to her bureau. she unlocked the upper drawer and drew therefrom a paper covered book with a gaudy title page. From the in- Then he advertised something like side of this she clipped a coupon, which she attached to the letter before slipping it into an envelope. she had been tempted to visit a vaudeville theater at which a man and woman known as the X-Rays were creating a sensation with some mind reading accomplishments. Always inclined to the supernatural, she had been greatly interested by the Rays' accomplishment and had slipped back the next afternoon to purchase some of the books which gave her the right to ask questions by mail. Once or twice since then she had consulted the oracle, and now she was writing for advice as to the whereabouts of the ring. It was well for her faith that she was not present at the answering of her question.

Two young men sat before a table in a cheap theatrical boarding house when a messenger entered with a package of letters to add to the pile on the table. One of them caught the thick blue envelope up.

"Here's another whole book to be answered," he laughed as he slit open the cover. "Twelve pages," he gasped as he turned over the closely written

"She must want her money's worth." "What's the question," laughed the other-"love or theft?" "Something about a ring," chuckled the first as he read the first paragraph. "Listen, 'At several crises in my life,' " he read, "'I have turned to you for advice, and you have never failed me. Now, in sore distress of mind, I come to you for advice as to a ring which I have reason to believe was stolen. I mountain peaks. will acquaint you with the facts in

"Cut it." urged the other, "Just use the old standby, 'Your first suspicion

The reader scribbled on the pad of paper before him and slipped it in the return envelope. A couple of days latto her brother.

John Noniles came as close to swearing at a woman as he had ever done in his life, but he checked his temper and would convince her of Vincent's innocence save the finding of the ring.

Gradually it became noised about friends.

to appear interested in the conversation while her thoughts were with to me as clearly as the tinkling of sat up in her chair. "That miserable kitten has brought ing with bones." Elvia sprang toward her aunt. The and for that reason disliked by Miss the echoes slowly died away my Celeste. Just as they turned to the thoughts were borne to each and heavy cabinet under which the kit- every one of my school mates of old, ten was playing Shah bounded out and I wondered what had become of from under the low setting cabinet in pursuit of his plaything.

Elvia's startled cry scared him, and he scampered off, abandoning his toy. had clapsed since those happy days. Elvia pounced upon it.

"Do you remember that Shah was playing in here that night?" she cried. "This is what he was playing with." As long as he was on the rug we did not hear him. He must have knocked it under the cabinet. Nellie never sweeps under there. Look!" She der and surprise she advanced nearder the cabinet. The dirt she swept out showed that the ring could easily have lain there since its loss.

forward. "I guess I'll call up Vincent."

"I'll call him." volunteered Elvia. "I guess that you had better, daughanything if he will come over." Elvia's premise must have been attractive, for Crawford borrowed an automobile to come in, and after Miss Celeste had humbled herself to an be able to tell you then where we apology John Noniles insisted that that forc me at the waving of the hand, ring be the engagement one,

The Lost Watch.

A detective tells this story about a 'confidence man." who gave the police a lot of trouble. One day the detective was in an aucthough he were passing out of Elvia's up to look like solid gold. They were knocked down for $2.15 apiece, and himself up to look like an old man, this: "Found-A solid gold watch. Apply," etc. Nearly every smart thief A year before while visiting the city in town answered the advertisement. claimed the watch and paid $10 for "costs." In two days he disposed of his entire stock in this way, and about a wise man into a fool.-Florida Times their loss.

Putting It to Good Use. "I s'pose you've been very careful about th' books you let your children have."

"Ob, yes, indeed! There's our Jimwe intend him for a statesman, Jim was raised on the Congressional Rec-well!" "Yes; we let him sit on it for years so he'd be raised enough to eat from the table."-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"The Congressional Record! Well.

PROPHECY OF CLASS OF '13.

Read by Miss Irene Whitehead of The Gradualing Class.

comes to us in the merry month of May; I had arrived unexpectedly at my home in Asheville from a trip abroad. Finding that all at my home were still roaming in "The Beautiful Vale of Dreams," I sat down on the veranda to enjoy the beauties of Nature.

The town nestled among the mighty mountains which seemed to caress it on all sides. The peaks towered in their lofty grandeur to the heights of the firmament. Here and there could be seen rose-colored shafts mingling with the blue of the horizon as the sun, the powerful king of day, slowly rose above the

The balay spring weather was gleriously beautiful and the soft air was diffused with the blended fragwas correct.' That'll do as well as rance of honeysuckles and rhododendrens. The heaven was without a the head of an immense steel trust. cloud, but a pearly white mist loit- The former Scotland Neck belle, ered in the atmosphere of the upper or Miss Celeste read the confirmation calm which the rosy radiance of the of her suspicion and bore it in triumph ascending sun began to lift as it rapidly suffused the horizon.

During the night a gentle rain had fallen, and under the first shimsolemnly warned her of the folly of mering sunbeams of the dawn the giving heed to the charlatans, but even waving grasses and tender foliage as he spoke he knew that nothing of the trees and shrubbery took on in their trips over the United States foreign countries, especially among a deeper brilliancy.

As I sat in the full enjoyment of the town that the spirits had told Miss the vivid picture before me, lo! Noalles that Crawford was a thief. there came to me wafted by the day, "heart smashers." Vincent had not been near the house sweet breezes of morn the full sweet since that night, and his apparent break verified the gossip. It began to look ugly for his prospects when Miss of some early riser, even now at his Noalles was moved to entertain a few toils of the day. The familiarity of the melody forced me to listen in-Elvia sat apart from the rest trying tently for the words. Ah! they came away from the place of my childhood school days that this was a ular rattle on the hardwood floor broke song of then? Yes, it was the class upon their ears. "She is forever play- song of the graduating class of 1913, when at the high school in Scotland Neck. It thrilled my soul, and as them, what heights they had attained in the seven long years that I was seriously thinking when suddenly a fairy appeared before me in wonderful beauty. She was She held up a jeweled circle. "The clad in dazzling white raiment, a ring dropped on the floor, and the crown of jewels adorned her head sparkle of the diamond attracted Shah. and a silver wand swayed to and fro in her hand. As I looked at her in mingled woncaught up a light cane and poked un- er. "What is the one great wish of your heart?" The words seemed a part of my revery and I could scarce-"Perhaps you will believe the Rays ly believe but what I was dreaming. now," laughed John Notiles, coming "The one great wish?" I echoed. "Yes," and the tones were as gentle as snowflakes, "one wish, whatever ter," he laughed. "You can promise it may be, I will grant you." Instantly and almost involuntarily I exclaimed, "Tell me of the high school class of 1913." As a picture there appeared bea large, sunshiny room. In it was a gracious young woman surrounded by little children who looked at her with loving eyes. Who could it be? A second look and I recognized Alice Tillery, who had always want- been working faithfully for you for being sold. A lot of watches were of- did I think, however, to see her in Denver, Colorado. The scene changed to Bellevue the detective noted that they were Hospital, New York. The alert bought by this confidence man. Two young man coming down the hall with quick step was Dr. Richard David House, probably the most his scheme. He had hired a room, put noted surgeon in the city. While in a desk and a few chairs and made taking a degree at Johns Hopkirs Hospital he became interested in and so I am sure you will realize the study oe the eye. By repeated the importance of showing some at-Loser can have it by paying costs. experiments he discovered that he could make a lens by hardening the of your activity. Of course, you vitiline substance of the eye that have thought about it frequently, would reflect rose-colored rays of and I truly believe your inattention light through the skull and clearly is not intentional; nevertheless, it is 100 smart thieves were fuming over define the minute anatomy of the harmful, and so I warn you unless brain, Since this great discovery you get busy soon and show your EFFECTUAL GENERAL TONIC lead to the cure of every form of teeth some decent attention your Love of gain has been known to turn insanity Dr. House is the most noted neglect will prove both costly and Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic Combines both scientist of the world. As he had so painful. many cares, he naturally hurried, "Yes, I knew you would admit the friends in China, among them Mr. true and grateful. Read The Commonwealth. $1.00. Newton, a missionary. She liked him so well that she decided to change both her name and vocation. From China to Germany was a long way, but in a moment I saw an auditorium in Berlin crowded with people listening with bated breath It was a glorious morning, such as to music which fell from the fingers of our old friend, John Josey. During the years since 1913 he had gained distinction as a pianist, and it was considered a great privilege to be allowed to attend his concerts.

Back to the United States again to Boston. After teaching two years in the town of Idaho Kate Tillery, with her large brown eyes, gibsony air, and charming manners, could not fail to attract a handsome representative of the stronger sex and although she thought that she had strongly fortified herself against the weapon of Cupid, one good archer's dart finally pierced the bulwarks, and as a result a Massachusetts representative in congress carried her off as his prize.

Another class member, Turner Whitehead, seemed to have prospered, to judge from his palatial home in California, where he had become Lydia Josey, was sharing his joys and sorrows.

Strange to say, Henry Moore and Seba Whitehead had continued the friendship of high school days and they had become millionaires by deals with Union Pacific railroad stock. They had not married, but in their private car they had attracted many of the fair sex and had become, in the slang phrase of the a shock as I perceived this, Willie Moore and Missoura Purvis had remained "unplucked blossoms." Though they had numerous suitors they rejected them one and all, turning a deaf ear to their pleadings and Vincent when suddenly Miss Celeste the bell. Could it be possible so far lived together in a cozy little cottage with their cats and parrots. It is never too late to mend, however, so their prospects might change

Jesse Bowers developed his talent for baseball and became catcher on the American league team of Philadelphia. At many of the games while thousands of people crowded the bleachers, only one face loomed before his vision. It was that of Miss Gertie Dunn, of Scotland Neck, who had grown to a beautiful young

I was not surprised to recognize in the Honorable James Shields, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, our old friend Jimmie. Although he had to be dignified at times, his grin remained the same and occasionally one could hear his familiar laugh when he was

As a fitting close to the interesting scenes I beheld a New Haven of rest in Connecticut, where Miss Lewis resided with the one and only William.

A Morning Tooth Talk.

The following is a very good letter on teeth:

"Good morning, Mr. Busyman My name is Tooth-A. C. Tooth, of the North Carolina Tooth Company. My object in seeking this interview is not one of complaining, but merely one of explanation regarding the feeling and condition of certain members of our company who have a number of years.

"It seems that you are such a busy man that you forget entirely to show proper attention to your teeth, those hard working servants and companions of your daily life. They serve you every day, and sometimes half the night, and so far have received nothing but neglect.

"Now, you are a reasonable man tention to those necessary partners but this morning he was hurrying justice of my remarks, and I certainto lunch with his charming wife. It ly am pleased to have you say you was easy to recognize in the beauti- will give these hard working mem-Here in a cozy home on the banks of the Yangstekiang I saw Laura White.

As a trained nurse she made many I am sure you will find them ever I am sure you will find the mouth but do dissipation. The sure in the mouth but do dissipation to As a trained nurse she made many I am sure you will find them ever it. 50c.

"Good morning sir,." W. P. E.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

Makes delicious home-baked foods of maximum quality at minimum cost. Makes home baking pleasant and profitable

A Real Lottery of Marriage

By MARY T. BRYCE

I grew up with a full realization of the great risks attending marriage. I wished that a husband might be selected for me, as marriages are made in princes. If, however, I had left the matter to my parents both of them would have died leaving me an old

And being an old maid was a horror Strangest of all, and I experienced to me. I wished to be a wife, the mother of children, the feminine head of a home. My trouble was to make a selection of the man to be the masculing head. This may sound amiss, but the truth is there were several men who had proposed to me. They were all good men, but I dared not risk matrimony with any of them. "I know what's the matter with you," said my friend, Mrs. Seamon. "You have never met a man of your own caliber-one who, the moment you saw him, you would wish to possess." "It wouldn't make any difference," replied. "I would not marry him. The only way for me to marry is not to know who the bridegroom is to be and be married in the dark. Once tied I would have to get used to it, I sup-"I am not sure but you are right. know such a man as I have described to you. You might be married to him, just as you say, in the dark without ever having seen him. He has never seen you and was only yesterday making the same plaint you have made." To make a long story short, I be came engaged to John Chesborough, knowing only his name and what Mrs. Seamon had said about him. We were to be married in a dark room with not a ray of light in it. As soon as the knot was tied the lights (electric) were to be all turned on at once, and after a few moments' conversation we and a few relatives who would be present were to adjourn to another room and partake of a wedding breakfast. Then we were to part, not to come together again until mutually agreed. It might be a month, a year or never. Had I been about to marry a man border of nervous collapse, especially on standing up to be married. As it that. And when I went into that dark room and my father led me to the spot where I was to be married I was per-about to do. press my feelings. I felt a pleasure akin to gambling. I was like one who him I would not live with him. The advantage in the plan was that there was something strong enough to bind body to crack it. - Wilmington Star. us together till we might begin a welding process.

Having been put in position, the cler- RUB-MY-TISM gyman began the services. At that part where he placed my hand in that of the groom I knew that I should like Neuralgia, Headaches, Cramps, him. How? There is something in the Colic, Sprains, Bruises, Cuts and clasp of a hand that draws us to an- Burns, Old Sores, Stings of Insects other or repels us. I felt that the hand Etc. Antiseptic Anodyne, used inclasping mine was a hand of vigor and ternally and externally. Price 25c. tenderness combined, and the moment

I clasped it I felt a current passing through it and up my arm, distributing itself through my being.

From that moment I was so absorbed that I forgot to make the responses, and the clergyman was obliged to wait till I had done so before proceeding. When the end came and I heard the words "man and wife" pronounced I was in a delirium of anxiety. For the first time I dreaded disappointment, but I had no time to indulge my emotions. In an instant every light was turned on at once. I turned and looked up into a handsome, manly, kindly face that looked down upon mine with an encouraging smile. A clapping of hands sounded in my ears, but since my whole being was engrossed in what I believed to be a prize I had drawn in the lottery of marriage it seemed to me in some faraway theater. My husband offered me his arm, and we led the little procession of attendbreakfast was served. It had been agreed that there should be no congratulations, since they might be painful. But we were no sooner seated at the table than some one proposed a toast to "the first and second prize, the former drawn by the groom, the latter by the bride." I tried not to show my relief and happiness, but to spite of all my efforts a continual smile hovered on my lips and a blush burned in my cheek at every happy word spoken to me.

Our breakfast lasted till early afternoon, when one by one the others withdrew, and presently we found ourselves alone. My husband rose. "The contract, I believe," he said,

"calls for a parting immediately after the breakfast." "Immediately?" I said, looking ! know not where to avoid his gaze.

"I leave you to name the exact "Then let it be later. We will visit awhile in the drawing room."

The only part of the contract that was not carried out was the parting. I do not recommend the plan of my marriage to others, but for me it was an instantaneous and, I may say, a lifelong success.

Desirable Farms.

If a farmer wants to buy a farm he will pay more for one on a good road. This shows that he knows that knew and was to live with him from a farm on a good road is worth more the day of our marriage I should have than one on a bad road. It proves during the engagement been on the conclusively and adsolutely that he is satisfied that a good road adds to was, it seemed to me that I was wait- the value of land Therefore, acing to make a trip or sign a deed to cording to the logicians, a farmer is a piece of property or something like going back on his horse sense when he votes against building improved highways. Every good road is a fectly indifferent as to what I was value-making and all of us reconize it when we prefer to have a farm on Perhaps this does not correctly ex- the very best "good roads" in the country. Hence no man can make expects to draw a prize or a blank. a mistake when he votes for impro-How I did hope I would draw a prize! ed roads and the rural development And, if I should draw a blank, what that is brought about as a consequthen? Simply this: If I didn't fancy ence. We leave the subject right here in this nutshell and defy any-

Will cure your Rheumatism

The Wonderful, Old Reliable Dr. Porter's

Antiseptic Healing Oil. An Antiseptic

Surgical Dressing discovered by an Old R. R. Surgeon. Prevents Blood

AT THE SAME TIME

QUININE AND IRON-THE MOST | RELIEVES PAIN AND HEALS

in Tasteless form. The Quinine drives out Malaria and the Iron builds up the System. For Adults and Children.

You know what you are taking when you take GROVE'S TASTELESS chill and a trial will convince you that DR. PORTER'S ANTISEPTIC HEALING ful woman who awaited him Hilda Hancock, whose talents and rare intelligence made her as popular as her husband.

Quite different was the next scene.

Quite different was the next scene.

Quite different was the next scene.

Grove a grow home on the banks of the stronges to helping the stronges to help the stronges t

Thousands of families know it already.

There is Only One "BROMO QUININE" That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Look for signature of E. W. GROVE on every box. Cures a Cold in One Day. 23c.