The Philosophy of Clothes

has lots to do with the philosophy of life. Clothes philosophy teaches one WHY to DRESS WELL. In a few words it is this: "Look good; you'll feel good; you'll make good. You will be bound to SEE, each week, the "MR. GOOD DRESSER" drawing which Mr. R. F. Outcault, the famous New York artist, will make for us. Also READ our advertisements. They will teach you how to LIVE, how to DRESS, how to PROSPER, and WHERE to order your clothes and furnishing goods.

The Coming, Going and Whereabouts of Our People and Other Folks.

Mr. James Paul Fenner has returned from Raleigh.

Mrs. R. I. Jones went to Portsmouth, Va., some days ago to visit relatives.

Mrs. J. P. Wimberly, of Battleboro, is here on a visit to relatives and friends.

Mr. G. C. Weeks went to Greenville Tuesday and returned with a new 1914 model Overland car.

Mrs. J. W. Isanog and little Katherine Bowers, of Washington, N. C., were here several days the past week.

Mrs. George Woodard returned to her home in Greenville Monday, after a pleasant visit to Mrs. C. L. McDowell.

Prof. L. R. Mills has returned from Wake Forest, where he spent the summer. We are glad to see him in our midst again.

Judge W. T. Clement, of Enfield, was a pleasant visitor to our town Monday. Judge Clement is now engaged in taking the cotton ginners reports.

Mrs. C. A. Jones, Misses Anna Kitchin, and Sallie May Josey and Mr. J. C. Riddick attended the marriage of Miss Ellie Powell at Wake Forest Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerson Hoffman attended the burial of Mrs. Fannie Stern in Greensboro last Saturday. Mrs. Stern was a sister of Mr. Hoffman and until a few years ago was a resident of this town, where she had many friends.

Saw Mill Burned.

Messrs. J. S. Coleman & Son lost their saw mill by fire Thursday night of last week about 12 o'clock. The loss is over one thousand dollars with no insurance. Another outfit has been purchased and they will be ready for sawing again in a few days.

Distinguished Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kitchin have as their guests this week Hon. and Mrs. Thomas L. Reilly, from Connecticut. Mr. Reilly has the honor of being the first democrat ever sent to Washington from his district. We are pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. Reilly in our town and are satisfied their stay will be pleasant.

Game Law Being Violated.

We hear a great many reports to the effect that the game law is being violated—especially the turkey law. It was reported to us the other day that one man in this community had killed three or four turkeys. We hope the game wardens can catch up with all violators of the game law. Send a few of them to the roads.

The Revival Meeting.

The evangelistic meetings at the Baptist church are drawing large congregations and the people are well pleased with the gospel sermons being preached by Rev. R. D. Garland, of Richmond, Va. Mr. J. B. Williams, of Brookneal, Va., is leading the singing.

If you have not heard Mr. Garland go out to hear him tonight and we know when you have heard him you will want to hear him again. Services each day at 3:30 and 7:30 p. m.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference.

Rev. R. F. Bumpass, presiding elder of the Warrenton district, preached at the Methodist church Sunday night and held the fourth quarterly conference for this charge at the parsonage Monday morning. Besides attending to the regular routine business the following officers were elected for the coming conference year: Sunday school superintendent, C. N. Malone; assistant, W. H. Newell; lay reader, R. L. Hardy; stewards, W. H. Newell, C. N. Malone, R. L. Hardy, G. K. Moore, J. R. Askew, F. A. Cherry, and J. C. Hardy. District steward, J. C. Hardy.

Celebrated Her Sixth Birthday.

Little Miss Sallie Mae Wilkerson celebrated her sixth birthday Monday, p. m., November 3, to her many little friends. The little folks played many funny little games, then little Sallie Mae invited them in the dining room where refreshments were served by Misses Annie Wilkerson and Vera House. About five o'clock the little folks departed wishing their little hostess many good wishes and another birthday party. Those present were: Little Misses Elizabeth Mauney, Lillian and Mary Hellen Wheeler, Evelyn Weeks, Virginia Newell, Elizabeth Edwards, Ruth Gordon Proctor, Ruth Newell, Ethel Allsbrook, Virginia Liles and Master William Alton Allsbrook.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

The Marriage of Miss Anna Kitchin to R. C. Josey, Jr., to Take Place in January, 1914.

An event of nation-wide interest was the "at home" given by Mrs. Chas. L. McDowell Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Thomas L. Reilly, wife of United States Congressman Reilly, of Connecticut, the house guest of Mrs. Claude Kitchin, and Mrs. George Woodard, of Greenville, N. C., house guest of Mrs. McDowell.

The home on Main street was artistically decorated with autumn foliage, ferns and chrysanthemums.

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. Thurman D. Kitchin and led to the punch bowl in the hall, where Misses Sadie and Katherine Kitchin dispensed delicious punch. Mrs. Archibald McDowell then introduced the guests to the receiving line in the parlor. In this line were Mesdames Chas. L. McDowell, Thomas L. Reilly, of Connecticut, George Woodard, of Greenville, and Claude Kitchin, of Scotland Neck.

The guests then went to the library, where they were met at the door by Mrs. J. Arrington Kitchin. Here the Hallowe'en idea prevailed most successfully. The dimness of the room was relieved only by the firelight and the light from numerous pumpkins, jack-o'-lanterns and black cat heads. In one corner a tent sheltered a witch who stirred her cauldron and from it drew fortunes for each guest. They were allowed to draw colored straws from a broom and the witch, cleverly impersonated by Miss Lydia Josey, told each one what the color signified. In the midst of the merriment which this caused, another witch, Miss Gertrude Kitchin, came in with a mysterious bag and announced that she would "let the cat out" for a while. The lights came on as a real black cat jumped from the bag, bearing on a card tied to its neck the significant words:

"KITCHIN-JOSEY."

In the midst of the good wishes and surprise created by this the guests were invited to the dining room where they were met at the door by Mrs. R. Henry Gray. The decorations of exquisite chrysanthemums and trailing smilax made it a bower of beauty.

The table was most attractively arranged with a bride's cake in the center from which ribbons led to dainty cards. As each one pulled a ribbon it was found that Miss Olivia Lawrence had gained the ring and Miss Annie Dunn the thimble. On the back of the cards was the inscription "R. C. J. Jr.—A. M. K. January 1914." The hostess then passed around a loving cup and the numerous appropriate toasts and heartfelt good wishes attested the popularity of the young couple.

Miss Kitchin in her own charming manner responded with a well chosen toast to the hostess and all present. A delicious two course luncheon was then served by the witches and Miss Annie Maria McDowell. As the guests were departing they were presented with large black cat fans, suitable favors for such a delightful hallowe'en party.

The announcement of the engagement of these two young people is of interest to their large circle of friends. Miss Anna Kitchin is the eldest daughter of Congressman Claude Kitchin of this place. She is a young woman of great personal charms and has a disposition that makes her a favorite in all social circles. She has won for herself friends in many parts of the country and friends in Scotland Neck consider it rare good fortune that she will continue to make her home here after her marriage.

Mr. R. C. Josey, Jr., son of Mr. R. C. Josey, of this place, is a young business man of Scotland Neck who has been marvelously successful in what he undertakes. He is a man of highest moral and social standards and his friends join in congratulating him on winning such a charming bride who will join him in standing for the advancement of the best interests of the community in whatever way they may.
