BOY HERO SAYES PLAYMATE

George Hughes, Ten Years Old, Res cues Companion From Wheels of Railroad Locomotive,

Washington, Pa. - Ten-year-old George Hughes proved himself a hero when his playmate, Paul Enoch, of the same age, became entangled in the wheel of a moving railroad locomotive on the Waynesburg and Washington railroad here.

The two boys were standing by the track when Paul Enoch slipped and his leg became entangled in the wheels of the engine. Before it could be stopped or anyone could reach him the lad had been whirled around twice by the wheel's revolution. Then George reached him and, grabbing his companion by the leg, pulled him free and saved his life.

The boy was unconscious when res cued, but physicians, who were immediately called, said that his only serious injury was a deep gash in the right leg. George Hughes was proclaimed a hero by the persons who witnessed the rescue. He could not, however, understand that he had done anything remarkable, and insisted that he merely grabbed his playmate and pulled him out of the wheel.

Studying Health Insurance. The National Civic federation has instituted inquiries into the methods in foreign countries of insuring wage earners against misfortune, and as a result the social service department of the federation is considering the desirability of recommending legislation to provide for compulsory insurance for illness.

A committee has been in London to study the operation of the national insurance act of Great Britain. Em-At the conclusion of an interesting ployers were asked about the cost of the magrance and its relation to business. Wage earners were asked to give information regarding the effects on wage rates, on the conditions of employment, and on their general welfare. Changes in the cost of poor relief and any reduction in the death rate from preventable diseases were investigated.

This general survey will prepare the way for an investigation by a commission next spring, when an effort will be made to bring together all information which will serve social insurance purposes in the United States.

Injured Badly in Corn Cultivator

A Michigan farmer was so badly injured while cultivating that he had 33 running sores. He states that he tried many remedies and doctors with no success and that finally he used Allen's Ulcerine Salve which cured up all the sores completely. (Name and address on application.)

Allen's Ulcerine Salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 has been known as the only salve powerful enough to reach chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing. Because it is so powerful it often heals burns and scalds without a scar in a remarkably short time. that common salves and liniments take. Sold by E. T. Whitehead Co.,
