ED. LEWIS BURNED. BY GASOLINE

Last week, Ed. Lewis suffered what appeared to be, at the time. a very serious accident, by setting himself alight with gasoline. Working in the garage of N. A. Riddick Motor Car Co., he had been cleaning part of the engine of a car with gasoline, the gas wetting his shirt sleeves and arms. Mr. Lewis, not thinking of the danger, struck a match, which caught the fumes, and in a moment he was enveloped in flames.

Mr. Pete Shields rushed to his assistance, throwing a blanket over him, but not before both arms, to the elbow, had been severely burned. His wounds were
