STEEL STRIKE THREATENS IN STEEL SECTIONS OF INDIANA

Three Indiana Cities Are Under The Control Of The Military By Orders Of Governor Goodrich

NO SPECIAL VIOLENCE REPORTED

Chicago, Oct. 7.—The general industrial strike, on at most of the steel mills in the Chicago district, has remained unchanged.

During the last twenty-four hours however it has been found necessary to put Indiana harbor and East Chicago Indiana, under martial law and are patrolled by state troops.

Gary, Indiana, the site of the United States Steel Corporation plant, is under military control, with federal troops generally in command.

The threatening situation, rather than violence itself, caused Governor Goodrich, of Indiana, to issue the orders for troops to take control.

RALEIGH FAIR OPENS ITS GATES OCTOBER 20

By Maxwell Gorman.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 7.—In just two weeks the State Fair will swing open its gates to begin the greatest welcome to the biggest home gathering Raleigh has known.

The badly used fair grounds have been restored to their former condition, plus a better track, but minus a grandstand roof, which is more than made up in the seating capacity.

Stables and pens for horses, cattle, sheep and fine breed of porkers—to say something also for the poultry family, also—are more elaborate than ever. Arrangements for exhibiting products of the soil are more extensive, and well it is so, for more farmers will exhibit their rasings in greater abundance and with old-time pride, which every true North Carolinian naturally feels.

Steps were taken here a few days ago on the occasion of the assembling of a number of the best negroes who held conference with the governor and other men representative of the feeling that so largely obtains also with the better element of the black race.

The "line gun nigger" and the "old man" and especially the "red head" who has "been north" and come back south with false notions about social equality, and those who have lived here and been educated seem to choose to scorn "domestic" work and find their "making" best directed to the extent of fifty cents, do not constitute the better portion of the negro, therefore there is hope that good results will follow from the conference.

"SUMMER WHITE HOUSE" BE ON MOUNT FALCON

Denver, Col., Oct. 7.—The movement to establish a "summer White House" on Mount Falcon, 15 miles from Denver and in the Rocky Mountains, has been revived by Colorado citizens. The war interrupted the campaign started several years ago with the object of providing a picturesque mountain palace where presidents of the United States might find refuge during the warm months.

The building, it is estimated, would require an initial expenditure of $50,000 and leaders of the campaign plan to raise $250,000 additional to complete the entire structure and put the grounds in shape.

The summer home would be held in trust by the governors of the 22 states west of the Mississippi river, acting as a board of regents.

The talk at this afternoon's meeting by Mr. Whorton was in preparation for the third roll call of the American Red Cross which started a campaign to raise fifteen million dollars on November 2nd and will run through to November 11th (Armistice Day) in order to complete the war work.

LABOR CONFERENCE MEET TO QUELL UNREST

Leaders Miss Inspiration Of Wilson's Address

BARUCH TAKES LEAD

Washington, Oct. 7.—Secretary Lane has been chosen permanent chairman of the Industrial Conference now in session and will accept the appointment.

Secretary Lane told the conference that the news from the White House was that President Wilson might be able to address the delegates before their adjournment.

Washington, Oct. 7.—A disagreement over rules proposed for governing the Industrial Conference, called by President Wilson, resulted in the conference adjourning suddenly today after Secretary Lane had been elected permanent chairman.

The conference will meet again this afternoon.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Although there was evidence in plenty of a cynical attitude among some factions who attended the conference of labor and capital yesterday there was also, and far greater, evidence of an earnest desire to bring strength out of chaos and disband the bogey of bolshevism.

In calling the employe and employer together President Wilson had planned to open the conference by an address which would not only have given inspiration and incentive to the delegates, but more than all else he would have developed some feasible plan upon which they could start to work. Through illness this was debarred him and the conference went groping for some time seeking something tangible to grasp.

Barnard M. Baruch, on account of his strong friendship for Wilson, took the reins of direction and, though he could not carry the weight of influence of the president, was a very useful and guiding star.

There are other strong, broad-gauged men in attendance whose purpose it is to untangle the skein of disruption and will not rest until something definite has been accomplished which will put the labor problem on better footing, even if they have to give way on some grounds in order to have unanimous agreement.

It was said during conference that before the meeting ends there will be written "a peace treaty between capital and labor," and if this is done the almost impossible will have been accomplished.

One thing is certain. Labor and also the representatives of capital have been fed up with talk and discussion. They have attended this conference for work, and with this in view there is sure to be some lasting benefit accomplished before the conference adjourns.

Somehow, these days we do not see much of that familiar label "Made in Germany."

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 7.—The city is crowded today with Confederate Veterans and thousands of other people for the annual reunion.

Among those attending the opening of the reunion this afternoon was William Mack Lee, negro cook and body servant of General Robert E. Lee. He was one of the proudest veterans attending.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Greater production, team work on the part of every one and the stamping out of hoarding and profiteering were emphasized by the United States Council of National Defense as remedies for the high cost of living.

After a careful investigation of the problem, the Council which is composed of the Secretaries of War, Navy, Interior, Agriculture and Labor, finds:

1—That the nation's productive powers have not been fully utilized since the armistice.

2—That too few goods, notably the necessities of life, have been produced, and that even some of these goods have been withheld from the market, and therefore from the people.

3—That the high cost of living is due in part to unavoidable war waste and increase of money and credit.

4—That there has been and is considerable profiteering, intentional and unintentional.

The Council states that in its belief the remedies for the situation are:

1—To produce more goods and to produce them in proportion to the needs of the people.

2—To stamp out profiteering and stop unnecessary hoarding.

3—To enforce vigorously present laws and to enact such further laws as are necessary to prevent and punish profiteering and needless hoarding.

4—To bring about better cooperation and method in distributing and marketing goods.

5—To keep both producer and consumer fully informed as to what supplies are available, so that production may anticipate the country's demands.

FAIR WEATHER GREET'S SIXTH BASEBALL GAME

Cincinnati, Oct. 7.—Fair but somewhat cooler weather indicated that the sixth games of the world series would be pulled off here today.

An announcement from Chicago that Manager Moran would pitch Reuther today leads most of the local fans to believe that an additional game on Wednesday would not be necessary, but opposing this view are the probabilities that Manager Geason will pitch Kerr, the only pitcher that has scored a victory over the Reds.

With Kerr and Reuther pitching the same game should develop into a pitchers' battle that might even exceed the work of the pitchers in previous games.

Mr. C. F. Burroughs left yesterday afternoon with Dr. Charles Anderson for Greenville to attend a meeting of the seventy-five million dollar campaign and will in all probability go on today to Raleigh to hear the address of Dr. Truitt.
