CHAPEL EPISCOPAL INSTITUTE WITHOUT A FACULTY

Dr. Pruden The President Refused to Have a Lecture on Harriet Beecher Stowe

NORTHERN TEACHERS RESIGNED

(Greenville Daily News) Danville, Va., April 30.—That there is no falling away from the ideals for which the South fought during the Civil War has been made clear in the situation in which Chatham Episcopal institute finds itself today, with its entire faculty preparing to go home, their resignations accepted and in the hands of Rev. C. O. Penden, president of the college who has taken a decided stand on a question close to the heart of every Southerner.

The Board of trustees has been called to meet in Chatham on Thursday to make inquiry into the tempest which has rent to girls' college but which, it is already assured will not hinder in any way the carrying on of the scholastic year. A new faculty has been secured already.

The trouble grew, it is learned over the proposed lecture to be given by a speaker from the north on Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' a work regarded in the south as mischievous and a misrepresentation. When Dr. Pruden, who is also Episcopal rector at Chatham heard about the proposed lecture to southern girls he promptly vetoed it. The principal of the school Miss Willis took up the cudgels and was promptly backed up by the rest of the faculty, women graduates of northern colleges. They held the view that the veto of the Stowe eulogy was due to provincialism or ultra-conservatism.

According to trustworthy advisers, there was a warm discussion between Dr. Penden and Miss Willis, the lady expressing herself with such vigor and directness that the rector temporarily walked out of clerical cloth and returned a verbal barrage in defense of the south's position. The upshot of it was that Miss Willis indicated that she would resign or actually do so while the remained of the faculty followed in her train. Dr. Pruden lost no time in accepting an ultimatum.

SAW RUNS INTO 25 POUND SHELL MAN LIVES SIX DAYS IN SEALED GLASS BOX

Saw Flies to Pieces and He Suffered from Sleeplessness and Nausea at The Last Cost The Mill $250

SHOT YEARS AGO TO BENEFIT SCIENCE

Vancouver, B. C., April 30.—A great log, that appeared sound and clean, cost a mainland saw-mill $250 this week. When the big circular saw bit into the timber it flew to pieces, and investigation showed a 25 pound shell imbedded in the center. The tree has been brought from a point up the coast and had probably been used years ago as a target for guns of British naval ships cruising on the Gulf of Georgia. The shell is of the type used by the navy about 25 years ago.

Cambridge, Eng., April 30.—Joseph Barcroft, a reader of physiology at Kings College here, has lived for six days in a hermetically sealed glass box. The experiment arose out of a 30-year-old controversy as to whether it is possible to calculate the amount of oxygen in the blood from a knowledge of the amount of oxygen in the breath. The test was also made to demonstrate whether it was necessary that airmen should have oxygen apparatus when flying at great heights. It proved that oxygen was necessary to flying men but it did not show to what height they could fly with safety.

While in the box Barcroft kept a record of his sensations and made scientific observations. He said he suffered from sleeplessness but otherwise did not experience much inconvenience except on the last day when the atmosphere became extremely rarified. He then had headaches and nausea. He was watched continually while in the box. He took food and slept in two small compartments fitted up with wicker chairs, a table, a small bed and a bicycle on which he exercised every morning.

343 WHITE PINE BOXES HELD 9 MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF GOLD

It Came From England Consigned to J. P. Morgan And Co.

$10,500,000 TO COME

(New York World)

New York, April 30.—Five wagon loads of gold, valued at $9,300,000, passed through the streets yesterday without attracting any more attention than if the cargo of the little caravan had been near-beer. It was the bullion that arrived Saturday from England on the liner Lapland consigned to J. P. Morgan & Co.

Horse drawn trucks were used to convey it from Pier 61 to the Sub-Treasury vaults. It was in 343 white pine boxes, each strapped with sheet iron and bearing heavy seats. Private detectives supervised the roading upon the wagons, and a couple of plain clothes men rode on each vehicle as it moved down West street, across 14th and south to Broad and Wall.

Credit of the gold was given to the Federal Reserve bank, to which it was sold by J. P. Morgan & Co., for the account of the British government.

On the Carmania, due next week, is 10,500,000 in bullion, and Kuhn, Loeb & Co., announce they have another $1,000,000 worth for shipment, making a recent total for that firm of $5,500,000.

Neither the Morgan house nor the Federal bank announces in advance their receipts of gold, which causes adverse comment among Wall street speculative interests.
