10 REASONS WHY WORLD WAR VETERANS SHOULD VOTE FOR COX

These Men Who Know The Horrors of War As No One Else And Would Assure The World Against Another

THEY FOUGHT TO END WAR

Governor Cox has given 10 reasons why every man who served in the World War should vote the Democratic ticket. All are cogent, and all are convincing. We trust that every man who wore the United States uniform will read them attentively. If he will, there is not much chance of his voting for Senator Harding.

And yet there is just one reason that covers the ground of all 10. It is that the Republicans are ashamed of the war. They are sorry we went into it. They are not proud of the achievements of our soldiers. To the Republicans our participation in the war was an entangling foreign alliance, and like Stanley Matthews, also a Republican, they ask: "What do we care for abroad?"

Senator Harding would have no meddling abroad. We were meddling abroad at Cantigny, and Belleau Wood (now the Wood of the Marines), and Chateau-Thierry and St. Mihiel and the Argonne-Meuse, and when we cut the German lines of communication close to Sedan; all that was meddling abroad, and Senator Harding is opposed to it.

We fought to end war; our soldiers fought believing that what they sowed would be harvested in a league to prevent another war, and the Republicans are determined above everything else that our men should have died in vain. They refuse to harvest the results of the war. They are anxious to get things back to the place where they were before the war, because they feel not the slightest interest in following up the war with the only possible means of preventing a recurrence. Any soldier who shall vote for Harding will discredit his own military services and those of his millions of comrades.

The men who were in the war know its horrors as no one else does. They, more than any other men, must appreciate the incalculable importance of assuring the world against another war. Mr. Harding may take big risks with the peace of the world because he was too old to serve in the great war, and he can't possibly be required to fight in any war that may yet come to the world. But the men who were "over there" know the appalling scenes of death and desolation. They have seen their comrades killed at their side, and they have seen the shockingly mutilated sent to the rear on stretchers. They know what war is.

And for that reason they can appreciate the League of Nations as other men cannot. They must not allow their own brilliant achievements to be frittered away without results. They cannot leave the world exposed to the danger of another war.

FORMER GOV. FOLK OF MISSOURI SCORES WILSON CRITICS

No President in the history of our country has ever been assailed more unfairly than President Wilson in recent months," said former Gov. Folk of Missouri, in an address last night at the Temple Baptist Church. "Men and women have a perfect right to differ with him, but the attacks of late have gone far beyond those in which patriotic Americans should under any circumstances indulge."

"When the passions and prejudices of the present moment have faded into the mist of the years, the name of President Wilson will stand out like a Colossus in the history of the world. He will be looked upon as having redeemed the world from oppression, giving to it a new freedom."

INDIANA RIGHT IN NOVEMBER

Is there room in your paper for a "voice from Indiana"? There are many of us who have heretofore been rigid Republicans but who regard the League of Nations, as writ, to be for the nations of the world as great a character for liberty and public security as our own Constitution has been for our several States—in short, the Wickersham. However, Taft, Root kind of Republican; only we are not indebted to the party for offices or special privilege.

We learn from the history of our Revolution that our now superseded Constitution was bitterly opposed by that flaming patriot Henry of Virginia, the Adamses of Massachusetts and even the John Hancock whose signing of the Declaration has furnished a phrase in current slang, and all made a great noise then, and great is the noise being made by our Harry New and Jim Watson and Will Hays, but the earnest-thinking citizen who so often has burst the confident expectations of politicians and office-seekers in Indiana and kept it a pivotal State will put Indiana right in November or I badly miss a guess based upon forty years of voting experience at her polls.

Every man in the American Expeditionary Forces, and every man in the cantonments at home waiting for the transport to carry him over, should assuredly vote for Cox and the League of Nations and perpetual peace.

2 HORSES STUNG TO DEATH BY BEES

Danville, Va., Oct. 5.—Two horses belonging to a Patrick county orchard company, were stung to death, and Mrs. Audrey Rickman was rendered unconscious Friday when all were attacked by a swarm of bees. The horses, harnessed, overturned a bee-hive.

Goaded by stings, the pair ran amuck and upset 18 more bee-stands, with the result that a cloud of thousands settled on the beasts, which, becoming entangled in the harness, fell helpless to the ground. The bodies were covered with winged foes.

Mrs. Rickman, wife of the company manager, tried to cut the horses loose from their bonds but she was so badly stung that for several hours she was speechless.

$1.95 And $1.95½ December Deliveries

REFLECTED IN FLOUR

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Wheat futures declines 10 to 12 cents a bushel today in the principal grain market of the West, in some cases touching low levels not before reached since the government established the war time wheat price.

December deliveries closed in Chicago and St. Louis at $1.95 to $1.95 1-2 and at Kansas City even a lower level was reached at $1.91. At Minneapolis, the December option closed at an even $2, a drop of 11 1-2 cents from Saturday.

March options closed: At Chicago $1.91 to $1.91 1-2; at Kansas City, $1.87 3-4; at St. Louis $1.93 1-2; at Minneapolis, $1.98.

Declines in wheat were reflected in new flour quotations from sixty cents a barrel since Friday were reported by two mills bringing flour to $11.30 and $11.55 a barrel in quarter barrel sacks.

THE ORIGIN OF THE WORD DIXIE

A monograph in the London Financial Times on the history of the old Citizens' Bank at New Orleans reveals the origin of the name "Dixie Land"—the term applied now to all Southern States and preserved in the famous southern war song. Dixie Prior to the Civil War the Citizens' Bank, having the power to issue paper notes, issued several millions in bills in denominations of $10 and $20 but mostly $10. The $10 bills were engraved in French with the French word "Dix" featured on their backs. The bills became known as "Dixie" and this money, becoming popular Louisiana was referred to as the "Land of Dixies," or "Dixie Land". Eventually the term was so broadened as to apply to all the Southern States. This seems a very acceptable explanation of the origin of the term which has been the subject of so many discussions.

The digging of peanuts has already been begun in some sections and big operations are making it possible. However, in view of the lateness of the crop, there is danger of growers beginning their digging too soon, and so the Virginia-Carolina Cooperative Peanut Exchange is cautioning the growers of Virginia and North Carolina not to dig too early.

Few crops suffer from being dug too early to the same extent that peanuts do. Too early digging greatly affects their total weight and results in lessening their quality both through loss of weight and discoloration, as immature peanut does not keep so well in the stack. The mere fact that the crop is two weeks late should not be an excuse for growers to lessen the value of the peanuts they have grown through digging the too early.

Another great reason for the growers at this time exercising the very best care in the handling of the new crop is that there is a general tendency on the part of the buying interests at the present time to discriminate against low grades of all products. This has been especially marked this season in the instances of both wool and cotton, and is being emphasized right here in these two states by "give-away" prices for the low grades of tobacco. There now remains a large quantity of low-grade cotton for which there is no market, and there is every indication that cotton will be graded down much more this season than ever before.

In view of this general depression of low grades all along the line, peanut growers cannot afford to lower the quality of their peanuts through carelessness and indifference as digging too early and not stacking properly. Every grower owes it both to himself and to his fellow-growers to preserve the value of his peanuts through proper handling.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IN PEACE TIME Eastern Europe

Americans who contribute to the Red Cross would feel amply repaid for their generosity if they could see what it means to hundreds of thousands of war weary sufferers in the Balkans. Here is a widowed Roumanian mother with her five children just after a visit to a Red Cross relief station. All are barefoot and the boy at the left is wearing clothes made of scraps from the battlefields. They have just received winter clothing, food and condensed milk for the baby. Similar work is being done for Russian refugees driven from home.
