AFFAIR OF HONOR SETTLED-The duel which was to have been; fought, between W. B. Rodman; Esq. and Edward Warren, Esq., both of Washington, N. C., day before yesterday, on the South Carolina line, was honorably adjusted, we are informed, and the parties have returned home.

SOUTHERN CABINET .- Governor Pickens, has appointed the following Callinet : Secretary of State, Hon A. G. Magrath : Secretary of War, D. F. Jamilon ; Secretary of Treasury, C. G. Memminger: Secretary of Interior, A. C. Garlington ; Postmaster General, W. W. Harllee.

Gov. Morgan's Message.

Gov. Mon rgan, of New York, is one of the most prominent of the Black Republican leaders, and for this greson; as also for the reason that he is the Gowarner of a State which gave Lincoln 68,-000 major y, we hall the following notice of his message to the Legislature, as a remarkable evidence of conservatism

ALBANT, January 2d .- Governor Morgan's ment to the Military Bill had been lost in the message was transmitted to the Legislature today. Herefers to certain State reforms, and devotes the last portion of the message to secession, closing by saying that it is the duty of the National Logislature to act with moderation and conciliation, and that it is the duty of the public press to speak with that regard for the rights of all sections and interests which its vast influence demands that it should. Let New York. says he, set the example in this respect. Let her oppose no arriers; but let her representatives in Congress five a ready support to any fair and honorabl settlement of the present difficulties. Let her stand in hostlity to none, but extending her hand in feflowship to all; live up to the strict letter of the constitution, in cordial relations with the other members of the Confederacy, proclaiming and enforcing har determination that the Constitution shall be honored and the Union of the States be preserved. He recommends a repeal of the Personal Liberty Bill, and also recommends a like repeal in every State where such a law has been enacted.

A friend in Richmond County, sends us an account of a speech, recently delivered by Gen. Dockery, which we would publish in full, but for reasons which will be readily understood. We do not think, after the events of the last few days, that the publication of some portions of the communication would be productive of any good, but we make the following extract from it, with a mind by no means free from the conviction that the forebodings it contains, may not be realized :

"The ordeal through which our Union is now passing-is a fiery one. Dire wrath, and a bitter state of public feeling, environ us around on every side. The true patriots every where, stand forth as watchmen upon the walls of freedom. and proclaim for the Constitution and the enforcement of the laws-and for that Union formed by the wisdom of experience and cemented declaring that the present Union was based upon that the South should not be successfully invaby the blood of heroes, -but how useless-al most worse than useless, -seem their efforts to pour oil upon the troubled waters, and bid the storms assuage. In vain they propose plans by from the old confederation, and set up a new which the surrounding difficulties may be ami- government, leaving North Carolina to come in, cably adjusted, our grievances remedied, and permanent harmony, and brotherly friendship. restored between the contending sections of our distracted country. But their admonitions to | was one matter to which he alluded about which "watch and wait" are evidently useless. The tempered and sober wisdom of Laocoon, is but chaff before the breath of the deceitful and canning Ulysses, and consequently the lofty walls government property, situate within its limits and proud temples of beautiful Troy, are over- or on its coast. The right to take such property thrown and its inhabitants put to the sword .--Is there not, great danger that the artful office seekers of our country, who scoff at the wise and good who uphold the immortal councils of Washington, Webster and Clay-and tell us to stand title. She may do it in self-defence, and under united or we surely fall, is there not great danger that they will bring our glorious land to the condition of South America or Mexico or even to the utter ruin of Trov ?" THE HOUSE UNION COMMITTEE .- In addition to the exhibit made in The Sun of yesterday, show-House of Congress had not agreed upon any general plan for compromise of the political and sectional difficulties of the country, more explicit statements, denying a loose local report, now reach us from Washington. A general dispatch in another column denies the report; but the fol- legally, she cannot retract without the consent lowing from Hon. George W. Hughes, Representative in Congress from the sixth district of Maryland, goes even further in its statements: WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. To the Editors of The Sun .- I am authorized by several members of the committee of thirtythree to say that the committee has not agreed on a plan of compromise, nor is likely that it will. GEORGE W. HUGHES.

while desirous of preserving the Union, if their rights could be secured, were yet unwilling to remain in it as it is, and with the present distracting questions unsettled. The men who held that meeting were principally his former political friends-men for whose integrity, purity, ability, and loyalty to the true interests of the country, he had the utmost respect, and to differ from whom, had been a source of pain and regret | On this point, I repeat, the South has been and to him; but when he read those resolutions, he felt satisfied the difference between him and them, would be of short duration, and he was most happy to say that his expectations were about to be realized. His esteemed friend of the Herald who, after the Union meeting passed those' resolutions, had proclaimed that the citizens of Wilmington breathed freer, and who had battled bravely in that cause, as long as argument was available, now admitted that there was no hope of a satisfactory adjustment of our difficulties, and he honored him for the manliness which prompted his editorial of that day, and thanked him for the great good which he believed it would do.

South, and defend her right with their lives and Mr. Cowan then remarked that the people of North Carolina, were almost unanimous for a Convention, as appeared from the proceedings of meetings held throughout the State. He believed there were but two exceptions to the general desire to hold a Convention, and arm the State. He regretted that Mr. Bledsoe's amend-

Senate, and denounced the party-spirit, which had exhibited itself in the Legislature. He proceeded to advocate the necessity for prompt action on the part of North Carolina, and closed his speech, which was frequently and loudly applauded, by introducng Mr. Munns, of South Carolina, who, though he disclaimed ever having attempted to make a political speech in his life, delivered a stirring appeal, and during his remarks, read a telegraphic dispatch announcing the fact that Georgia had gone overwhelmingly for secession, and that the forts at Savannah had been seized by the people of the State, which unnouncement was received with tremendous cheering. Jno. An Moore, Esq., of Pittsboro', succeeded Mr. Munns in a short speech, stating that the people of his county, were a little behind the times on the question of secession, but he hoped the scales would fall from their eves before long. He excused himself on account of indisposition, but his speech was spirited and well received.

Robert Strange, Esq., was next called for, and made a speech, in which he recounted the injurious compromises, which the South had freuenfly made with the North "on account of the ove she bore the Union." She had conceded all that men could concede for that, but it was all,in vain. She must concede more still to satisfy the North. He saw no hope of the Union now; Congress could do nothing to settle matters. He thought the President's course absurd, and injurious, and calculated to precipitate the very thing which he seemed most to dread. Mr. Strange argued the right of secession briefly, and not out of it : whilst others have assumed that the Republican party would infallibly carry out its policy to the letter the moment the party should acquire the power to do so, in which event it might prove too late to resist successfully, and that resistance at all events should be made out of the Union, and not in it; but none of us have contemplated submission. We have with perfect agreement, contemplated resistance at whatever hazard. Bell men, Douglas men, Breckinridge men, all alike, have agreed herein. is a unit.

[For the Herald,]

Mg. EDITOR :- Allow me to ask a question through your columns. Much has been said of patriotism, love of the South, etc., of late, and ! wish to know if we have patriotism enough in the town of Wilmington, among our monied enough to arm and equip one hundred men, who wish to organize themselves into a Rifle Company, for the protection of Wilmington, and the maintenance of Southern Rights? If that amount can be raised, the Mechanics and Working Men of Wilmington, with others who will join them, will demonstrate their love for this, our Sunny their sacred honor. Don't wait for the Legislature. You may need us before they will make an appropriation. MECHANIC VOLUNTEER. TO I see some of the papers propose a Convention of all the States, and I would suggest that the Convention be held at Mount Vernon. around the tomb of Washington. R. M. MCRACKAN.

Effects of Civil War upon the North.

Conceding that the South, as is claimed b Republican journals, and confidently believed by the Republican masses, can be crushed in the iron grasp of the North ; conceding that nine millions of Anglo-Saxons, accustomed to the use of arms from their infancy, fighting upon their own soil, defending their wives, children, fireides, property, honor, and all that makes life worth having, shall prove unable to protect themselves; conceding all this, what are to be its effects upon the North? What the results of outhern destruction and negro emancipation upon the manufacturers of Massachusetts, the consumers of New York, the ten thousand Northern interests which are supported by Southern money, and encouraged by the present system of Southern labor? What the consequences to Liverpool, Manchester, London, which the London Times remarks are as much interested in slavery as New York ? All experience proves that negroes will not labor except upon compulsion, and that the cotton and rice fields of the South can be cultivated by none other than negro labor. No white man can endure exposure to the sun n those regions. Do the Republicans expect to cultivate the cotton fields themselves ? or do they only propose to take the slaves from their present masters and make them work for themselves?

We commend this subject to the commercial and manufacturing men of the North. Would not the triumph of a Northern invasion of the South be worse than'a defeat? A bombardment of New York, Boston, Lowell, 'Philadelphia. Liverpool, Manchester and London, would not work half the mischief to those cities that a bloody conquest of the South and successful insurrection of the slaves would accomplish. Let the business men of our Northern cities think of these things, and if they cannot prevent disunion let them prevent a war of sections. For it is as important to Northern as to Southern interests

On Friday, week, Dr. Robertson had an attack of constipation, which was followed by jaundice and gastric fever, under which he sank. Dr. Robertson was only in his fifty-eighth year ; but though apparently robust had long worn the aspect of a more advanced age. He was ordained minister of Ellon in 1832, and when in that office attained his first and greatest celebrity as a debater in the General Assembly. In the latter years of the non-intrusion controversy, the burden of defending in the Assembly, and in the Synod of Aberdeen, (where the war was hottest) the policy of the moderate or constitutional party, devolved upon him ; and he performed the task with great skill, energy, and effect. His most distinguished opponent, Dr. Chalmers, remarked that he had never witnessed a finer display of "intellectual gladiatorship" than a combat that had taken place between Dr. Robertson and Dr. Cunningham.-Scotsman, Dec. 3. What would this world be without women ? A perfect blank-like a sheet of paper, not even principle, inasmuch as the nine States, which adopted the Constitution had seceded or stay out as she liked. We may have misunderstood Mr. Strange, but if we did not, there we wish to say a word, and that is in regard to the right of a State to take the forts, and other does not exist. A State may have a right to secede, but she cannot have a right to seize the property of another for which she has made a a pressing emergency, but, when she does, it is by the law of the strong hand, and the claim, if resisted, must be maintained by the strong hand. We merely make the digression because some persons seem to think that the possession of this ing that the committee of theirty three of the lower property is the necessary consequence of the ex- out covers, and all the horrible paraphernalia of ercise of a legal and Constitutional right. The possession cannot, be resumed like a delegated power: the transfer is an absolute parting with the title, a bargain and sale, by the State which of the other party. Of course Mr. Strange, as a lawyer knows this, but we thought his remarks calculated to mislead on the subject. At the conclusion of Mr. Strange's speech, John L. Holmes, Esq., was called out, and spoke, but the lateness of the hour induced us to leave without hearing him.
