SEE FIRST PAGE.

We see there is a general outcry all over the country against the exaggerated, and frequently entirely false rumors, which are brought by the telegraph from day to day. It is highly criminal to play upon the passions of the people in this way, but the newspapers which are supplied by the associated Press from Washington, have to pay for all the dispatches that are sent to them, and of course they know nothing about the truth, or falsity of the reports. We sincerely wish there was some way to put a stop to it, for, besides being deceived as to news, we have to pay for the cheat. We do not believe half that is published but there is no way to ascertain the correctness of the reports. We received yesterday, for instance, a report, and as our paper was being printed we received a contradiction of it.

Have we a Poet Among Us? It will be seen by the advertisement in another column, that Mr. Theo. H. Hill, of Raleigh, has now in press, a volume of poems bearing the title, "Hesper, and other poems?" He has written a good many fugitive pieces for the press at different times and we await with considerable interest the appearance of this volume, in order to ascertain if we really have a poet among us. H. D. Turner, Raleigh, is the publisher. We call the attention of our Book sellers to the advertisement.

We direct attention to the advertisement of Col. Tew's Military Academy at Hillsboro' N. C., to be found in another column. No School of any kind has ever attained such a reputation as this, in so short a time, in North Carolina. We most heartily commend it to every parent who has a boy 12 years old,more especially if he is delicate, or threatened with pulmonary disease. We know what we write. and write it with sincere pleasure. We wish a school as Col. Tew's.

We find the following jeu d'esprit in the Fayetteville Observer of to-day, We "trust" the Observer will not continue to make "fun" of the little pecuniary embarrassments of the General Government:

The Effects of Sympathy.

First with Sambo, next with Cuffee, we still bother Till a voice from public plunderers responds:

There's a fellow feeling, too, for "Indian bonds. COMMUNICATED,

MR. EDITOR :- I suppose the communication of "Mechanic Volunteer," was made in good faith, and I have been waiting to hear a response from some of our citizens more able to give it encouragement, than myself, I heartily appland the patriotism the communication indicates; and if the proposition means to place the Company, when formed, under the regulations of the State, as other volunteer companies, I will equip one member; and I am authorized by a distinguished and influential citizen, to say that he will do the same. I hope "Mechanic Volunteer," and those who may be concerned with him, will put his proposition in proper form, and place it before the citizens. I believe it will meet with prompt and hearty encouragement. Respectfully

WILL. GEORGE THOMAS. We are informed that there are already a number of mames signed to a subscription list, circulated in pursuance of the notice referred to in the above note. We have every reason for believing that the proposition was made in good faith, and with a patriotic desire on the part of those concerned, to serve the State in an effective way .-We do not know whether the papers, in circulation, state how the arms and equipments are to be held by the Company, or not, but we suppose, as a matter of course, that they will not be individual property. The Company, if organized, ought to be a permanent one, and would no doubt be, alike, an ornament, and a safeguard

As a citizen of Wilmington, we thank Dr. Thomas for the liberal proposal made on behalf of himself, and another, and, we ask. Who will and it is one which fi ts and armies can never do likewise?

[Correspondence of the Petersburg Expres.] Horrible Murder -- A Gentleman Butchered by Five of his own Slaves -- Confession of the Wretches.

WELDON, N. C., Jan. 5, 1861. Dear Express : On last Monday night, Mr. Lucius Woodruff, was taken from his bed, at his residence in Northampton county, by five of his own negroes, and brutally murdered. His body sited in the woods, near the residence of Mr. W. T. Stephenson.

From all I can learn the negroes have been under arrest for several days, but would tellnothing until this morning, when they made a full confession and marched deliberately with the officers and showed them where they had deposited the body. It was in a horribly mangled condition.

An inquest will be held to-day. Much excitement prevails, and I am unable to say what will be the result. Yours, General Scott and Army Movements. . Washington, Jan. 5 .- Lieut, General Scott was engaged until four o'clock this morning, on business connected with movements in his department in connection with the present national troubles.

The arrival of seventeen recruits from Philadelphia for the purpose of being drilled at the Marine Barracks of Washington, has been magnified into undue importance having created much excitament.

Military Movements.

Washington, Jan. 6 .- The enrollment of the District of Columbia military will probably commence to-morrow. The plan for their reorganization was matured more than six months ago, but all the officers were not appointed until recently. The movement now is to so concenshould it be necessary at any time to call them out to preserve the peace.

Not more than one company of Marines was out yesterday to garrison Fort Washington, which is on the Potomac river, about fourteen miles from Washington. The fort has had no red lips, kind words, shirts exulting in buttons, garrison for some years, and the object in supply- redeemed stockings, boot-jacks, happiness, etc. ing it with one now, is to avoid the possibility of atts being occupied by lawless persons as a rallying point for mischief.

Exciting Meeting at Philadelphia -- The Republicans Oppose the Non-Coercion Policy. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5 .- An adjourned meeting of citizens to consider the state of the Union, took place at the Board of Trade Rooms to-day The committee to whom the resolutions at the previous meeting were referred, made no report and there being an evident determination on the part of many present, who did not participate in the last meeting, to force the passage of Judge Lewis' non-coercive resolutions, which was resisted by prominent republicans, an exciting scene of disorder occurred, during which District Attorney Mann showed a willingness to fight on the spot.

On motion of a republican the meeting adjourned, but another was immediately called at the same place, when Judge Lewis was placed in the chair. Resolutions were then offered denouncing personal liberty bills, etc., and approving Mr. Crittenden's resolutions, were adopted

The republicans refused to participate in the second meeting, and manifested much ill-feeling at the conduct of their political opponents in thus overiding them.

How Fort Sumter is to be Taken. A Charleston correspondent of the New York World gives a sketch of one of the plans discussed there for taking Fort Sumter: The entrance to the hotels are blocked up by bevies of moist gentlemen discussing the news and talking over plans for the future. One of the moist gentlemen, who is of an inventive turn, has an idea which, if acted upon, he is certain will result in the capture of the redoubtable Fort Sumter; and his plan is a very plausible one. It is this: Fort Johnson is the nearest land approach to Fort Sumter, which, as your readers are probably very well aware, stands in the middle of the channel. Above Fort Johnson the shore sweeps inward, retreating, as it were, from Sumter. Very well. Now at a point a mile and a half above Fort Johnson commence a long series of log rafts. Continue this series. chaining the rafts securely together until it reaches Fort Johnson. The upper extremity of this raft should be well guarded with a wall of cotton bales, bound with, and fastened immovably to the logs by iron bands.

Now, having secured the lower end of the raft at Fort Johnson, cut loose the upper exremity. The ebb tide will now carry the raft slowly and surely around. When it extends in a straight line across the channel from Fort Johnson, its upper extremity will be immediately beneath the walls of Fort Sumter. Now, men protected by the cotton bales and standing ready with heavy anchors, will drop them, and the raft will thus be safely moored. Now the soldiers may spring from behind their cotton bales and escalade the fort. Reinforcements can pour down to their aid on the bridge that the raft makes from the mainland to the fort, and lower, with the loss of some five hundred men the later may be taken.

The inventive gentleman grows enthusiastic over his plan, and rushes off to submit it, through one of the Governor's aids, to the Governor .-That it will be favorably considered, though perhaps in a slightly altered shape, there can be Sumter, it can only be done by means of rafts. A sailing vessel would be blown out of the water in less than fifteen minutes.

How a Party of Abolitionists Were Outwitted by an Honest Old Darkey. A short time ago a widow lady living near the northern line of Missouri sent her negro man with a load of wheat to a mill in Iowa to have it manufactured into flour. The mill was much crowded on his arrival there, and the prospect was that he would have to wait several | Convention, days for "his turn." While waiting, some of the "freedom shriekers" in that latitude got around the darkey and proposed aiding him in securing his freedom. The negro seemed to be every boy in the State could be educated at such struck with the idea, but did not have any money to pay his expenses. "Well," said they 'sell your mules." 'Don't know about dat missus couldn't get along without dem," said Cuff. "Well, then," rejoined they, "you can sell the wagon-that will bring the money." "Well, I believe missus needs de wagon too, answered the black. "But if I had de wheat ground, I could sell de flour-dat would fetch de money." "Oh, well, said the negro-equalist, "we will swap you flour for the wheat to accommodate you," So the trade was made. The wheat was exchanged for the proper portion of flour, and the colored man was loaded already to drive off and sell his flour. But when he was about ready to start he said: "Massa, I's been studying bout freedom, but I don't believe

The Parallels of History. Less than a century ago, England had certain oval colonies in that portion of the American continent where the Stars and Stripes have floated for many years past. Had the British Government of that day listened to wise counsels, and conducted itself with forbearance, kindness and justice towards those colonies, it might have order of Gen. Scott. She is due at Charleston had them loyal and faithful to her even to this this afternoon. day. But it did not. That government attempted to inflict a grossly unjust policy upon its Colonies in America, and madly persisted in continuing these wrongs. The Colonies peti- the State and establishing a free port. oned, supplicated, protested, and finally threatened; but all was unavailing to turn the parent country towards what was right and just. Some wise men in her own councils whispered in her unwilling ear some words she might better have listened to, "You are foolish. Change your course. Be just. You are every day alienating feeting conservative speech on his resolutions. the hearts of a loyal people, and driving them to revolution." But those who thus advised were comparatively few in number, and their voice was scarcely allowed to be raised, and it was not at all heeded.

The same unwise and unjust policy was persisted in, and it did drive the colonies to declare their independence. A few wise men in England then, -a still smaller minority than before -whispered in England's ear, "The mischief's done. You have at last succeeded in thoroughly alienating the hearts of those people from you and in putting into their minds the desire and the determination to be free. That is the evil : remedy or remove. The people of those colonies once fully resolved to be nee, will be free, and you cannot help it. You may waste oceans of blood and tree ure, but you can never subdue those American colonies, -never-never! Make the best, therefore, of an unpleasant necessity and remember how unchristian it would be to commence what you know must be a fruitless. war. You will sacrifice none of your dignity in allowing now of a peaceable sundering of the ties which bound those colonies to you; buyou will be obliged to sacrifice some of it, when, after having tried to subdue them, you find that it is a thing which cannot be done, and even proud and powerful England will be forced in he end to back down.

Is it not wiser and better every way to yield gracefully at once to a painful necessity, than to sacrifice thousands of precious lives and milfions of property, and to be forced to back down after all ?" Those, who counseled thus, however, were in a very small minority, and their voice was drowned in the almost universal cry to put down reberion at every hazard and at every cost. So the war came and lasted seven years, and brought death to thousands suffering, and misery to millions. And what did England gain by that war? Did she add to her military or naval fame? Did she gain honor or wealth? Did she subdue the Colonies? Did she put down rebellion?

Now, then, these facts, it seems to us, suggest some thoughts which it will do no harm for a certain school of Republicans to revolve in their minds. Civil war, with all its inconceivable horrors, may indeed be brought upon our country: but can it result in anything but evil, to either section, and to every individual that may come within the wide range of its deadly influence? There is a chance that freternal relations, though temporarily ruptured, may one day be restored-if peace is preserved : but if some of the people of one section madly trate the militia as to be efficient for service proposes to itself the task of trying to whip the other section, the hope of reconciliation is extinguished forever.

Preamble and Resolution Passed.

The Preamble and Resolution were as fol-

Whereas, The only bond of Union between the several States is the Constitution, and whereas that Constitution has been yiolated by a majority of the Northern States in their separate Legislative action, by denying to people of Southern States their constitutional rights; and, whereas, a sectional party, known as the Black Republican party, has in recent election, elected Lincoln to the office of President, and Hamlin, Vicc-President of these United States, upon the avowed principle that the Constitution of the United States does not recognize property in slaves, and that the Government should prevent its extension into common territories of the United States, and that the power of the Government should be so exercised that slavery should in time be exterminated; therefore, be it

OXYGENATED BITTERS .- We have frequent occasion to speak of this remarkable medicine, because we have full faith in its excellence, and know of many instances where it has performed almost miraculous cures. It is principally designed as an antidote for dyspepsia, indigestion, and numerous disorders of the stomach. It was discovered and perfected by a regular physician, after years of research and practical experience in medicine. It is entirely unlike all other specifics with which we are acquainted, and extracts the disease by its very roots, leaving no vestige behind. Sold by all respectable druggists in the United States .- Flag of

Confirming the above in every particular, we have only to say that the remedy referred to is too well known to render it necessary to add a word

OXYGENATED BITTERS .- To such of our readers is are troubled with the debility incident to the approach of warm weather, we cordially recommend the use of the Oxygenated Bitters, as an invigorating tonic-safe, efficacious, and highly palatable, when diluted according to directions, containing no alcohol in its composition, and possessing more real merit than any preparation of the kind we have ever known. Many leading physicians use it in their practice, and have spoken of it in the strongest terms of praise over their own signatures. Its reputation as a cure for Dyspepsia, is universal .- Ogdensbyrg Republican. This peculiar and excellent remedy is worthy of all the numerous tributes which have been paid to its rare qualities as a healing medium. dec 17-4w COUGHS, COLDS, AND LUNG DIS-EASES. Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs, however long standing and severe in character, are quickly cured by that long tried, efficient and faithful remedy-

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. The universal opinion fully accords with that lately expressed by the "Saratogian," which says: "Wistar's Balsam has achieved many remarkable cures of Pulmonary disorders-its success being so great that taken in time it is deemed a specific." The thousands of Certificates in the hands of the propretors from those who from long suffering disease have been "redeemed, regenerated, disenthralled," and now by this remedy enjoy immunity from pain and suffering, are still better evidence | cede; and North Carolina was the last to ratify of the fact.

Still More Testimony. ANDOVER, N. H., Oct. 15, 1859. Messrs. S. W. Fowle, & Co., Boston,-Gentlemen:-I have an earnest desire that all persons 000 Sweet Oranges, which he is offering at the un-

the wonderful virtues of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and make the following statement with the hope that some skeptical person may be induced to give him a trial : Six years since I was attacked with a violent cough, and resorted to physicians, first at home, and next abroad, of acknowledged skill and reputation, and made use of many patent medicines, without the slightest benefit.

The disease augmenting to such a degree as to defy the skill of the physicians, and the hopes of friends, I was induced, as a last resort, to make a trial of your popular Balsam, without any confidence in its merits, as that had been destroyed by numberless trials of advertised nostrums. But the effect was magical! My friends were again hopeful, and I was astonished at the rapid change. The racking cough, the severe pain in my side, and de-luging night sweats, which had reduced me almost to a skeleton, abated, and I was soon in a fair way of recovery, and by a continued use of the remedy was restored to good health. Yours, very truly. GEO. W. CHASE.

Wistar's Balsam has the written signature of "I. Burrs," and the printed one of the Proprietors on the outer wrapper; all other is vile and worth-Prepared by SETH W. FOWLE & CO., Boston, and sold by jan 1

THIS SAYING was exemplified in the course of North Carolina, as regarded her action in the days of the Revolution. The Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, signed by Ephraim Howard, and others, was the first public assertion the right of a State or colony to be free-to sethe articles of confederation between, and forming the articles of confederation between, and forming these United States! Thus, quick and prompt to resist and repel aggression, she was slow to delegate away any of the powers vested in her. The inimitable CASSIDEY has also just received 10,-
