CAUGHT IN HIS OWN TRAP .- A giri, young, pretty, but above all, gifted with an air of candor, lately presented herself before a certain Pa-affair, I want to oblige a man I love to marry me in spitefof himself. How shall I proceed?" The gentleman of the bar had of course a sufficient elastic conscience. He reflected a moment. then being sire that no third person overhead him, replied unlesitatingly:

"Madempiselle, according to our law you always possess the means of forcin' a man to maryou. You must remain on three occasions lone with him. then you can go before a Judge and swear that he was your lover." 'And that will suffice, Monsieur?' Yes, Midemoiselle, with one farther condi-

tell me the name of the young man we are going to render so happy in spite of himself."
"You shall have it without fail." A fortnight afterward the young person, more naive and candid than ever, knocked discreetly at the door of her counsel's room. No sooner was she within than she flung herself into a chair saying, that she had mounted the steps too rapidly, and that the emotion made her breathand made her Pohale salls, and even proposed to trons, of his famous Dye. release her garnients. "It is uneless, Monsieur," said she; "I am much better. "Well, now tell me the name of the fortunate mortal you are going to expose. to you, is yourself," said the young beauty, did Dve. bursting into a laugh, "I love you, I have been three times tete-lete with you, and my four witnesses are below, ready and willing to accompany me to the magistrate's," gravely continued

The lawyer, thus fairly caught, had the good sense not to get angry. The most singular fact of all is that he adores his young wife, who, by the way, makes an excellent house-keeper,

THE VASTNESS OF LONDON .- The more I become acquainted with London the more I am amazed and lost in worder and astonishment at the vastness of its wealth, its poverty, and its crimes. The city of London is a very small place. It covers an area of only 870 acres, not paration. as large, I believe, as the new park in New York. This is the extent of the jurisdiction of the Lord Mayor of London. But the whole metropolis covers an area of not less than 50,000 acres, and contains a population of nearly or quite 8,000,-000. The bans of one single banking-house in London exceed $150,000,000 per annum, and twenty-ning bankers now clear, through the clearing-house, per annum, more than £1,000,-000,000 (a thousand millions of pound sterling) fess it is ugerly beyond my comprehension. I only knowat is a vast sum. The value of real property in London insured against fire, though probably not fifty per cent. is actually insured, mounts to a sum of at least $29,000,000,000. I made a recentivisit again to the London docks. the value of which could be measured only by ingots of untold gold. Piles of treasures were there, above and beneath the ground, which seemed to be almost as boundless as the seas over acres upon acres of treasures-enough, it would to comprehend the amount of riches there collected .- Correspondent of S. S. Times.

In all cases, Hair Restorer. the supplementary finger or toe is a twin of the little one, of a perfect shape, and acts quite independently of the others. The hands and feet kiel. are very elegantly shaped, and no one could notice at first sight that strange peculiarity. The young lady examined by Doctor Broca, far from being ashamed of her dozen of fingers, displays them with no little degree of pride, for they are delicate, slender, tapering, rosy, and decidedly pretty. She has gloves made expressly for her, and, as she is an excellent musician, she has invented a figering of her own, by which ordina-ry hands could never realize. GRAND VIRGINIA DISCOVERY.

Some four months since our excellent townsman, NAPHTALT EZEKIEL, informed us that he had prepared a hair restorer, with which he was experimentor $480,000,000 000 a sum so great that I con- ing upon his own head, whose top was entirely bald. We saw him two days since, and on the place so bald four months since, a fine crop of hair has sprung up with a vigorous growth. So convinced is Mr. Ezekiel of the efficacy of his discovery, that he has named it "THE INFALLIBLE accompanies by the missionary who labors most- VIRGINIA HAIR RESTORER." Mr. E. is about ly in one of the docks, and there'I saw cranes going into an extensive manufacture of an article creaking with riches, the extent of which I could which is destined to prove of anxious interest to not grasp. I saw warehouses stored with goods, our bald pated friends. - Richmond Enquirer, Dec. 12, 1850.

This famous article can now be had of the principal Druggists. Those persons who desire a fine which they had traversed. There were literally head of hair, have only to use the restorer according to printed directions on the bottle. Those seem, to supply the whole world. Indeed, it who have any doubts of its efficacy can have them was sufficient to make the brain ache to attempt removed in a short time, by using the Virginia and Joseph M Foy.
