WILMINGTON. Saturday Evening April 6. 1861.

We learn that the Cape Fear Riflemen Capt. Hankins, who recently offered their services to the Governor, have been received into the volunteer, corps of 10,000 and will soon be armed and equipped.

We are requested to give notice that here will be a meeting of the Southern Rights citizens of Sampson County, in CLINTON, on SATURDAY, the 13th inst. Several speeches may Sewan of the Harnett House Restautant, sent us this morning a mess of young Irish potatoes, the first we have seen this season .-They are very pretty, very tender and very nice. Thank you Sir. We will send the skins round to the Journal office.

BARRET'S VARIETIES .- "Variety is the spice of life." Mr. Bansy with good success appears to have appropriated the foregoing antiquated aphotism to himself. The play last night was a complete success, as the few empty seats, frequent appraise and hearty laughter attest. The characters were well sustained, especially "Our American Cousin," and Lord Dunbibbin. Alluding to the performance of the previous evening, we may praise the "Highland Dance" of Miss Exity, which was remarkably well performed, without the slightest balk in taking the irtricate steps. We wish him success.

Executive Committee.

The following gentlemen have been appointed an Executive Committee of the Southern Rights Party of the town of Wilmington

The Irrepressible Conflict.

The "Umon" men of Raleigh and that Congressional District are beginning to have an "irrepressible conflict' among themselves. The Register comes out against Henry W. Miller who is about to receive the nomination for Congress. The Register says it will not support him be- cludes them.

cause he is a renegade Whig. The funny paper with Douglas at its masthead for President in 1864-the Banner-is down on the Register for "fiddling thile Rome is burning," and delicate ly suggests to the Register not to "break its head until it is certain there are some brains in it.' We would suggest to the Banner that Rome is entirely burned, and nought remains but ashes which together with a few yards of sackcloth would make the Banner a very becoming outfit for Spring wear.

Take the Forts.

We have every reason to believe-such reasons in fact, as we never had before for believing, that Fort Sumter will be shelled by the troops under Gen'l. Besuregard before the sun sets to-morrow, Inot to-day. We also have reason to believe that Lincoln has showed his hand at length, and that in spite of all his protestations to the contrary, he intends to go into a war with the Confederate States. He is making preparations on a large scale for the removal of troops Southward. . Steamers have been chartered and active movements are progressing in the Northern navy yards for a military campaign of some sort. We think, and we are justified fully in our opinion, that war is inevitable. Are we prepared either offensively or defensively to participate in it?-Shall we wait until all our forts are garrisoned by our enemies, before we do anything? Will it do any term, at least, for the people to take possession of Fort Caswell until this last prospect of war shall have disappeared? We think not. Westink that fort ought to be garrisoned at once! Wis but an act of self defence and can do no hage to Lincoln's administration. If he makes no demonstration of a warlike nature, i can beiquigtly evacuated again. But if a fight is to take peace at Charleston, will not Fort Caswell be mede head-quarters for the enemy?-And will dur people suffer that? Never, never, -We will doubtless be called a revolutionist for these gems ks. Be it so. If our expectations are realized about this matter we are an uncompromising one. Let us take Fort Caswell at once. : What do you say?

A New and Splendid Atlas. We have examined a new and splendid Atlas recenter is ned by Messrs. Johnson & Browning of Richmond, Va., who have established a Geographical publishing house in that city, and we can safely recommend it as the best Encylopedia of Geography we have ever seen. The Beginning of the Real Struggle Between the Two Confederacies. The struggle for supremacy, commercial and A. M. WADDELL, - - Editor and Proprietor. to pass within the last few days. First, in the inauguration of the Morrill tariff on Monday last; second, in the tone of the English press upon that measure, as demonstrated by the pa-pers which arrived here yesterday by the Borus sia and New York; third, in the instructionsaid to have been imparted to our representas in the circular addressed by Mr. Chase to the savs: Collectors of Customs at the North, prohibiting entries of goods in bond about to be shipped to the ports of the secuded States.

Let us treat these incidents seriatim, and endeavor to arrive at the inevitable result to th future of both confederacies.

The operation of the Morrill tariff, as manifested in the New York Custom House for the past two days, and as we have described it in our columns, verifies all that has been predicted of the ruinous complication and confusion with interests of this city; and, as regards its effect upon the revenue, there can be no doubt, from chants are taking out of bond those articles up- site the Lighthouse headland. on which the duties are lowered-after that time the revenue will fall off immensely, in proportion to the decrease of importations. On the first day of the operation of the new tariff to the treasury declines, as it soon will, the government at Washington will find an alarming troops decrease in the revenue to be the consequence of the Morrill tariff. Many importations yet to arrive will be subject to much confusion. Of the steamers which arrived here from Europe yesterday, two of them bring cargoes, a portion of which must be levied upon under the old tariff, and a portion under the new. For instance, it is provided that all merchandise shipped on or before the 17th March, can enter at the releft Hamburg on the 15th, Havre on the 18th and Southampton on the 19th of March. Hence her Hamburg cargo comes under the old law, while the goods shipped in the two latter ports come under the provisions of the new law. And in like manner the cargo taken on board the New York at Bremen, on the 15th, will only to escape the prohibitory duties now imposed things. upon those articles; and also in Rochdale, to make up its shipments of woollen goods with a like purpose. But this is, as it were, the last spirt of trade in these articles with the Northern ports, for the Mcrrill tariff virtually ex-

It is evident, from the tone of the English ress, that all questions of American politics are ompletely absorbed in that country by the great commercial issue involved in the solution f the Northern and Southern tariffs. Slavery is swept out of notice altogether; there is no rital question there now is which confederacy shall receive most favor, in view of the manufacturing interests of England, and the verdict in every quarter is on the side of the South; for, savs the London Telegraph, "notwithstanding | The water in the spring is fresh and is by no all the sympathy for the free States, we canno: suffer our industry to be cut up by the roots in order that a slaveholding faction may be pros-

And the same journal says :- "France and them off from the trade of Europe." This is over it. Mr. Lincoln's alleged project of blockading the Southern coast, the same paper adds :- "We found. coln attempts to blockade them, the European law of blockade will be put in force, and the navy of the republic will be at once powerless upon the seas." The London Times, News and Globe are equally distinct upon this point. The Times says that Mr. Lincoln, instead of ignorit as a reality; and it gives deserved credit to the sagacity of the Southern statesmen by adding, that while the North is passing a prohibiive tariff, the Confederate States are acting with marked prudence and propriety.' From these expressions it can be seen that the commercial necessities of the case are compellof this country, but the whole civilized world. The republicans have got the negro all to them- saved her own life and the lives of her mother stow him away comfortably in the garden at Washington, all sensible nations are looking after the material interests of commerce, industry and manufacture, as they are affected by the vital commercial question involved in the operation of the Northern and Southern tariffs, and the division of the republic into two separate

While such is the sentiment abroad with regard to the North and the South, we hear that the Secretary of State is instructing our new representatives to foreign Courts to traduce the Southern Confederacy, and endeavor to head off its Commissioners and diplomatic agents in their efforts to establish friendly relations with other Powers. For the first time in the history of any administration, the whole diplomatic body representing the government at Washington at foreign Courts has been changed within one month from its instalment into power, and this, too, for the purpose of damaging the chances of the Southern States, which the policy of the dominant party has driven out of the Union in self defence. But this kind of diplomacy can effect but little towards that end while the Morril tariff remains upon the records of Congress. The statesmen of Europe will take the testimony of facts before the whisperings of the politicians recently appointed to foreign missions. They will see the Commissioners from the Sou-

tration, with a prohibitory tariff upon manufactures sticking out of their pockets; and who can doubt the issue? The first blow, then, in the centest between the Northern and Southern confederacies has been struck. It is plainly recognizable in the events here referred to: and to render the matter more certain, we have the important circular addressed by Mr. Chase yesterday to the Collector of Customs, declaring that as the control of the warehouses of the government in the ports of the States comprising the Southern confederacy has been usurped, and the officers of the customs have been forcibly excluded no entries for transportation of goods in bond to those ports can be permitted until further instructions emanate from the Treasury Department.

A CONTRACT TO CONQUER THE SOUTH .- A man, igning himself A. J. sed our inquiries, preparatory to our report of the 29th ult., the market was quiet. The very high prices demanded at the time for the little that was offering, checked the inquiry, and hence the stagnation. Middling had advanced to 121/4 a121/4, and Good Middling to 13c. The current week opened with a fair demand, but the stringency in the erms demanded retarded operations, which, during the first two days, were limited to some 600 bales. Purchasers, however, yielding to circum- thralled," and now by this remedy enjoy in hims stances, which they were unable to control, came forward more freely, and during Monday and Tuesday the sales reached 3400 bales, at very full prices. The receipt about this time of favorable advices from abroad, taken in connection with the thither, re-inforce Port Pickens and retake Fort small stock in the hands of our factors, further McRee, the Barrancas and the Navy Yard at stimulated prices, but purchasers have bought very sparingly in consequence of the large advance demanded for the article. The sales within the past two days have not quite reached 1400 bales. Pries, as the week drew to a close, were unsettled and the opinions of the trade as to the actual advance was very conflicting. We do not, therefore, at present undertake to give quotations for most f the qualities, but dealers seemed to settle upon 21/2c for Middling, and 13a131/4c for Good Middling, from which it will be seen that these grades are a full 1/4c higher than they were this day week The receipts since our last reach 6423 bales, and the sales in the same time foot up 5372 bales, at the subjoined prices, viz: 10 bales at 91/4; 5 at 91/2; 23 34: 225 at 10; 8 at 1014; 53 at 1014; 72 at 10% 81 at 1034; 44 at 10%; 151 at 11; 25 at 1116; 267 at 1114; 73 at 1136; 216 at 1112; 56 at 11 9-16; 33 at 11%; 204 at 1134; 38 at 11 13-16; 100 at 11%; 790 at 12; 28 at 121/8; 675 at 121/2; 218 at 127/8; 607 at 121/2; 108 at 125/8; 160 at 123/4; 770 at 13; 166 at 133/4.
