Some of them are very contradictory on several points, especially in regard the Gulf Stream, and stretch across a belt of to the number killed in Sumter. We think that cold water, the arctic current, which intervenes the last one in regard to it is correct.

Old Abe, in his Proclamation, says that the combination in the seceded States "is too powerful to be suppressed by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings or by the power vested in the Marshal's by law." The old fool guessed right then, and might have added, with the utmost propriety, that all Yankeydom was insufficient to the task. For he might as well try to stop a thunderbolt with a pipe stem, or back the waters of Niagara with a musquito net, as to hope to deter, much less conquer a united South, hat- and stronger, until, after many days, he at last tling for their rights and their honor. Perhaps he expects the "Old North State" to assist him -and she less given him good cause for so thinking-but we now advise him to dismiss all such hope from his brain. For as the Cape Fear region was the first place to oppose British tyranny, so will it be the first place to strike a death blow to all Abolition demons that may show their faces in our midst.

Under the head of "Telegraphic News will be found a proclamation from Abe Lincoln. President of the Northern Confederation, in which he salls upon all "loyal" cifizens to aid him in his hellish designs of butchering our brethren of the South. Sons of North Carolina, does not your blood boil within your veins when you think of being called upon to assist in such a murderous plot. Can we, will we, give him our aid? No, never! Although contentions may have arisen in our midst, and illfeeling existed, it is now all banished forever. We are now all one—with one feeling and one destiny. The cause of South Carolina, or any other southern State, is our cause. Will we prove traitors to the land of our birth ? Shall we as_ sist our friends, or shall we aid our enemies ?-We walt not for an answer. By all that is good, noble and pure, we will defend, with our lives, our property and our sacred honor, the cause of the South. Although the "Old North State' has been slow to move, she will be quick to strike a death blow at any that may attempt to cross her soil or use her property in subjugating the South. With opened arms and extendhospitable grave, that may enter our midst for days from South Carolina, has been of an exciting character. Our community has been a scene of perpetual commotion. The corners around lous spectators, by day and by night, awaiting jects. the arrival of news-news, that would either proclaim the success of their brethren or their overthrow. Persons who hitherto have beendisposed to jeer at, and those who have even openly avowed the right and justice of Lincoln's policy-which was understood to be opercionevinced a great deal of interest. When the telegraph revealed the fact that the first blow had been struck, a goodly number of our fellow-citizens who were honest in their convictions that and wait' longer, became at once convinced of the error of their position, and like true, honest, southern men, proclaimed their intention henceforth to be found battling for the honor of their own sunny South. But we are sorry to say that there are few-very few, we hope-that still uphold that corrupt, lying demon, who controls the destinies of a once happy and united people. They seem to be irrevocably attached to the once glorious and honored Stars and Stripes, and are loth to give it up. They look at things as they were, and are blinded as to how they are now. There are some of even these, whose eves will yet be opened, and they will see for themselves how matters now stand.

There are some, however, that will never be convinced that the cause of the South is sinst .-The right blood is not in their veins-there still lingers a slight portion of the spirit that was evinced be the tories in the revolution. They would sell their brethren into bondage, and make merry over the proceeds. They must and will be watched, and ere long they will be obliged, from force of circumstances, to find a clime more congenial to their well-being.

Upon the reception of the news of the surrender of Sumter, our citizens went nearly frantic with joy. We have never seen such demonstration of pride, under any circumstances before. In a very few moments, our streets near the telegraph office, were crowded by hundreds. Cheers and shouts rent the air, cannon were fired and speeches were made by five or six of Cape Fear's noble sons. Each one in turn giv" ng utterance of his abhorrence to that negrostealing, contemptable Black Republican government of Abe Lincoln's and their intention to stand firmly and united with their sisters of the South. We cannot pretend to give a synopsis of their speeches, for we were overcome with the demonstration of our fellow-citizens. We were particularly struck with the correctness of one remark, which was, "as powder had been burnt in the cause, we of the South are one!" to which we say, amen! And we would suggest, that if we have any among us who cannot heartily join notify their respective commands to assemble in in that sentiment, the propriety of their taking front of the Carolina Hotel, at o'clock, up their stakes and traveling for the clima shows mentioned. For those who are not for us are against us.

The Gulf Stream. As the best known and longest studied of oceanic currents, the Gulf Stream affords us a perfect picture of the other, perhaps greater, but ess appreciated rivers of warm and cold water which traverse our seas. Heated in a tropical furnace to about '86 degrees Fahrenheit, a current of hot water, with a sharply defined edge on either side, and flowing over a cushion of cold water running down from the Arctic zone, rushes with a force equal to that of the Gulf of Mexico, along the shores of the Floridas. Then curving upon a great arc to the northeastward, it flows three thousand miles, into the 40th degree of north latitude; yet such is the volume of that heated water, that its temperature thro' so long a journey only falls 83 degrees or 84 degrees. In that latitude the Gulf Stream overflows its banks, and flaring out over many thousand square leagues, diminishes much in heat enough of the former to rescue us from the horrors of a Labrador climate-to keep our seas open up to the 60th degree of latitude, when on the opposite side of the Atlantic, the American continent is sealed up with ice, 960 miles south of the Orkneys; and that warm current of water causes the vapor-laden, atmosphere of Britain. which, although much abused, is still, we believe, preferable to the six months of frost to which Canada and Russia are subject in similar no doubt give our readers a full and interesting latitudes. Such a torrent of hot water traversing the Atlantic wastes naturally occasions perturbations of the atmosphere, and the Gulf Stream may justly be called "a foul weather breeder.

The English trader knows this well, but it navigator, because, on either quitting or sailing towards his shores, he has invariably to traverse etween it and his home. Then the cunning master mariner, undismayed by the battle of the elements occasioned by the contact of the Gulf Stream with the arctic current, turns his ship's prow again towards the former, and confidently steers towards its well-defined limits. If there are ny tough, marrowless bones, bits of gristle, or fragments of crust left by the hungry "carpet bag' herd from the West, they will be swept out of doors, and Mr. Abraham, together with Master Bob, and the younger children, will look brough one of the windows of the White House, and laugh consumedly at the "Submission scramble.' The scene will be intensely enjoyed by all the fat, sleek Republicans who have been easted at the first and second tables. What snarling, snapping, growlling, hustling, biting and scratching there will be over such refuse 'spoils' as watchmen's places, lean consulships, starveling postoffices, tide-waiters' places, marshalships; and the like. Would it not be a pleasant sight to be present when the Submissionists from the Border slave States prostrate themselves before the throne of King Kangaroo, and put up their humble petitions for office, and to hear these abject creatures boasting of their ignominious agency in handed hands be welcome all Yankee hirelings to a cuffing and selling slave States to an Abolition Republic? The evident scorn and contempt in which the Submissionists are held by Chase and Lincoln is really refreshing places to such bold, daring Border slave State Republicans as Blair, Clay and Bates, but they regard the poorest scrap as good enough for timid, skulking Submissionists. no one in Moultrie has been killed. Eleven shots have penetrated the famous Floating Battery below water mark. What few shots Anderson fired in the early part of the morning were effective in knocking about the bricks and chimneys of the officers'

quarters in Moultrie like a whirl wind.

It seems to be Anderson's only hope to hold out for aid from the ships, two of which are making in towards Morris' Island with a view to land troops and silence the destructive batteries.

Whooping Cough, Diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs, however long standing and severe in character, are quickly cured by that long tried. efficient and faithful remedy-WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY The universal opinion fully accords with tha lately expressed by the "Sarategian," which says: "Wistar's Balsam has achieved many remarkable cures of Pulmonary disorders-its success being so great that taken in time it is deemed a specific The thousands of Certificates in the hands of the propreters from those who from long suffering disease have been "redeemed, regenerated, diseathralled," and now by this remedy enjoy immunity from pain and suffering, are still better evidence Still More Testimony.

Annover, N. H., Oct. 15, 1859. Messrs, S. W. Fowle, & Co., Boston,-Gentle men: I have an earnest desire that all persons suffering from pulmonary complaints, should know. the wonderful virtues of Dr. Wistar's Balsam . Wild Cherry, and make the following statement with the hope that some skeptical person may be induced to give him a trial : Six years since I was attacked with a violent ough, and resorted to physicians, first at home, and next abroad, of acknowledged skill and reputation, and made use of many patent medicines, without the slightest benefit. The disease augmenting to such a degree as to lefy the skill of the physicians, and the hopes of friends, I was induced, as a last resort, to make a trial of your popular Balsam, without any confdence in its merits, as that had been destroyed by numberless trials of advertised nostrums. But the effect was magical! My friends were again hope ful, and I was astonished at the rapid change. The racking cough, the severe pain in my side, and delugingnight sweats, which had reduced me almost to ask eleton, abated, and I was soon in a fair way of recovery, and by a continued use of the reme dy was restored to good health.

Yours, very truly. GEO. W. CHASE. Wistar's Balsam has the written signature of Butts," and the printed one of the Proprietors he outer wrapper; all other is vile and worth Prepared by SETH W. FOWLE & CO., Bo
