It tells them to look out for homes, and when they get homes to keep them, teaches these people that they are to be punshow to be entirely unthought of by them.

This order is a good one, and comes at the proper time. There are large numbers of the people in and around the city who will actually starve before they will work. The winter is coming on, and they can all get homes, and good ones, and will be protected in them. The order will not only do well for them, but will for all, because when the next season comes on they will be found ready to go to work to support them-

It has a local interest. This city alone will be purged of a large lot of lazy fellows, who are stealing whenever they can. They will be compelled to go off to get employ, in a great measure, and by so doing will relieve this community, as well as all other towns of the state, of a great and uncalled for annoyance. > MAYOR'S COURT .- The old gentleman that presides over the mayor's court is getting to be quite "sharp," or "keen," to use a common phrase. One day he commits the only case before him to jail, in order to have something to do the next. This is what he did on Thursday with the two negros arrested for cotton stealing, and vesterday he released them. We rather agree with him about such things, and when there are no cases on the docket at all, that he order the arrest of an outsider to keep things moving. It will never do to be without a case in the court, no how.

The Suicide of Preston King.

NEW YORK, November 14. The reported death of Preston King is true. A little boy and girl saw a gentleman, answering his description, jump overboard from one of the Hoboken ferry-boats on Monday morning. The at brought to the city was recognized by Mr. Thurlow Weed and Mr. King's private secretary, and Mr. Usher, deputy naval officer. Mr. King, t is said, stated to a very intimate friend on Sunday night that he would never see him again. His health had been poor for some time, and latterly he had shown indications of softening of the brain. Mr. King had been much perplexed ever since his appointment, over affairs at the custom house, which weighed heavily upon his mind, and undoubtedly culminated in his death. Those most intimate with Mr. King have carefully watched his failing health; and recently he has been attended by a companion who occupied a room with him at the Astor House, and watched his movements. Mr. King was a bachelor.

Previous to the discovery of the above facts,

There is no truth in the reported resignation of Collector King. He has been in St. Lawrence county, and returned benefitted in health. He left the Astor House yesterday morning, as was supposed, for a short walk, but not being heard to-day, at the custom house, amounts to $975,000. of, was thought to have gone to Washington. United States Authorities Refuse to Return British Deserters,

[From the Hartford Courant, Nov. 13.] We hear, through a semi-official source, last evening, that trouble was brewing on the Canada border, arising from the desertion of British soldiers. Our informant stated that a lieutenant in her majesty's army crossed with a company being of gold and having inscribed upon it the officer, declaring themselves free, and refused to name, "James H. Laler." The cartridges were return with him. Application was made to the made up in packages of six each, the covering United States authorities to have the men given up, which was refused, and it was stated that there was danger of an outbreak. The authoria conical ball at one end, and the paper casing ties at Washington were advised, and Hancock's containing the powder at the other. Upon the corps was ordered to rendezvous in Maine. This is substantially the statement made to us. That "Six combustible envelope cartridges, made of there is a movement of troops is certain. Mississippi News. JACKSON, MISS., Nov. 11. Major-General Howard addressed a large assemblage of freedmen to-day. He assured them that the plantation lands would not be divided among them, and that the freedom which they enjoyed was the privilege to work for their living and support. The State legislature is still engaged in discussing the negro testimony question. The condition of the people of Mississippi appeals powerfully for protection. State creditors long patient, look for measures of relief, and measures must be quickly taken to provide against the disastrous consequences of inundation in various parts of the state.
