Out in the night my thoughts are fluttering Like black winged birds;

And their weary, weary muttering Floats back in the words, Tired, tired. Into the dark that seems so fit-

Under the cypress dark and tall -My brooding fancies have gone to sit; And echoing back is their call, Tired, tired. Into the gathering gloaming

My heart has gone to wait. I hear it sadly monning, As to a spirit mate, Tired, tired

In shadow never lifting, That falls from the cross of life. My soul is onward drifting, And sighs amid the strife. Tired, tried.

My eyes have ceased their gazing For sunny paths to track, And upward sad are raising As each tear drop has said, Tired, tired

In shadows deep ammassing Some lives must fade away golden reefs they're passing Tired, tired.

> NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 24, 1863. DEAR SIR:- I have been afflicted many years with severe prostrating cramps in my limbs, cold feet and hands, and a general disordered system. Physicians and medicine failed to relieve me .-Some friends in New York, who were using Plantation Bitters, prevailed upon me to try them. I commenced with a small wine-glassfull, after dinner. Feeling better by degrees, in a few days 1 was astonished to find the coldness and cramps had entirely left me, and I could sleep the night, through, which I had not done for years. I feel like another being. My appetite and strength have also greatly improved by the use of the Plantation Bitters.

JUDITH RUSSELL. Respectfully, If the ladies but knew what thousands of them are constantly relating to us, we candidly believe one-hall of the weakness, prostration and distress experienced by them would vanish. James Marsh, tsq., of 150 West 14th St., N.
