WILMINGTON, N. C., DECEMBER 27.

MR. RAYMOND'S REMARKS.

We surrender a large amount of space to-day in printing the remarks of the Hon. Henry J. Raymond, of New York, in reply to the strictures of Sumner and Stevens on the president's late message to congress. And we are convinced that we could in no more satisfactory way to our readers appropriate this space. Mr. Raymond is the leader in congress of the conservative republican faction-that is, the faction of the republican party which sustains the policy of the present administration of the general government. He is the representative in congress of that class of politicians who derive their political ideas from such eminent and patriotic sources as the Albany Evening Journal, the National Intelligencer and the New York Times. It is the old silver grey wing of the ancient whig party, conspicuously represented in the government by the distinguished premier, Hon. William H. Seward, and outside by Thurlow Weed. It is a party that has ever been noted for ability in the maintenance of dignified principles, and the only semblance of a party that has ever manifested a worthiness to cope with the old democratic porty.

The utterances of a leader of such an influential political organization are more than interesting-they are important, they become, in dom and patriotism that animates that venerable association, that seeks opportunities of bringing together once more the people of all parts of the country, and aims to cement the friendship that should ever mark the intercourse between cit zens of a common country. the legitimate fruits of this grand, benignant vic-tory by rendering liberty and opportunity the common heritage of the whole American people now and evermore.

Discountenancing all unmanly exultation over or needless infliction of pain or privation on the upholders of the lost cause, it will insist on the earliest possible restoration of the southern states to their former power and influence in our union on the basis of all rights for all their people.

It will labor in hope to prove that the substitu-tion of free for slave labor must inevitably and universally conduce to the increase of industry, universally conduce to the increase of industry, thrift, prosperity and wealth, so that the south, within the next ten years, must look back amazed on her long persistence in a practice so baleful as the chattelizing of man. It will labor for the diffusion of common school education, manufactures, the useful arts, &c., &c., throughout every portion of our country, but especially throughout the sections hitherto devoid of them, believing that every good end will thereby be subserved and the interest of every useful and worthy class promoted.

It will urge the protection of home industry by discriminating duties on foreign products import-ed, with a view to drawing hither the most capable and skillful artificers and actisans of Europe, and the naturalizing on our soil of many branches of production hitherto all but confined to the Old World, while it would strengthen and extend those which have already a foothold among us. It will give careful attention to progress and improvement in agriculture, doing its best at once to bring markets to the doors of our farmers and teach them how to make the most of the opportunities thus afforded them. It will devote constant attention to markets, especially for agricultural products, with intent to save both producer and consumer from being victimized by the speculator and forestaller. And, giving fair scope to current literature, to the proceedings of congress, and to the general news of the day, it hopes to retain its old patrons and attract many new to bear them company.

We rarely employ traveling agents, as so many impostors are habitually prowling in the assumed capacity of solicitors for journals. We prefer that our subscribers shall pay their money to persons they know and of whose integrity they are assured. Any friend who believes he will do good by increasing the circulation of THE TRIBUNE is authorized to solicit and receive subscriptions Specimen copies will be promptly sent without charge to those requiring them, and we trust many friends will be moved to ask their neighbors and acquaintances to join in making up their clubs. The Great Family Newspaper. NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE. THE NEW YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE. is printed on a large double-medium sheet, making eight pages of six columns each. It contains all the important Editorials published in THE DAILY TRIBUNE, except those of merely local interest; the most interesting and important new books; well. the letters from our large corps of correspondents; the latest news received by telegraph from the foreign news received by every steamer; exclusive reports of the proceedings of the farmer's club of the American institute; talks about fruit and other horticultural and agricultural information essential to country residents; stocks, finaneial, cattle, dry goods and general market reports, making it both of variety and completeness, altogether the most valuable, interesting and instructive WEEKLY NEWSPAPER published in the world.

VALUABLE PLANTATION

For Rent or Lease. HE SUBSCRIBER offers for rent, for one or five years, his plantation on Town Creek, ten miles below Wilmington. 500 acres are cleared and fenced, well adapted to the production of corn, cotton, wheat, potatoes, &c., and a part is excellent ground-pea land. In addition to which there is a Large Orchard of Fruit Trees,

Bearing large quantities of fruit. On the place there are two framed dwelling houses, large barns, stables, &c. Also, seventeen framed houses for laborers, now occupied by freedmen, most of whom may probably be hired to work on the place.

The proximity of this plantation to Wilmington, the easy approach by large flats at all times to it's several landings, insuring shipments to any point, offers inducements to enterprising men, especially those familiar with hired labor, that few places possess. great measure, the foreshadowings of the policy of the government, so long as the government shall continue to be influenced and guided as it is now influenced and guided.

But beyond this important character of this speech, or these remarks. They will be eagerly perused in the south because of the antagonism they develop between the party of the administration and the radicals. Messrs. Sumner, Stevens, Wilson, Chandler and others of that stripe, are very noisy in congress, but as they possess but little of the brains that enter into the composition of the bodies to which they belong, they can be counted as having little influence. Influence usually goes with intelligence. Neither influence no intelligence usually abide long with fanatism or radicalism. Mr. Raymond develops the rupture in the republican ranks, and of course the intelligence and influence of the party will take the conservative side; and thus the radicals will be very apt to sink away into the insignifi- | Wat. A CONFLICT OF AUTHORITIES. At the last term of the New Hanover county court two negros, convicted of larceny, were sentenced to be sold into servitude for a term of five years, in accordance with the provisions of will sail as above, with despatch. an old statute of this state, in force long before the war. We learn that the case has been brought to the knowledge of the freedmen's bureau, and that Major Wickersham, agent of the bureau in this district, acting under instructions, has directed the chairman of the county court to revoke the sentence already passed in the case.

The principle upon which the interference is based is that no laws which recognize a difference in the races shall be enforced. It is claimed by the authorities that, as the statute upon which this action is based does not include white people, but is solely applicable to free negros, therefore it must not be enforced.

THE PROSPERITY OF THE SOUTH .-- It is reported that General Grant remarked during his recent visit to Raleigh, that in ten years the south would be richer than before the war. The prosthe southern journals, says an exchange, indicate that the commerce of the southern cities is rapidly increasing, and that their business prospects are decidedly encouraging. Seven daily papers pear to be well sustained. Similar signs of newspaper vitality are observable in the other leading southern cities, and especially in New Orleans, cent number of one of its journals-the True IN Bbls. and Hlf.
