LONDON, Oct. 25.—A St. Petersburg despatch says: Semi-official Journal, de St. Petersburg, commenting on references to the Afghan question in Sir Stafford Northcote's recent speeches says: "If Great Britain is aiming at extension of its frontier in Asia, an attempt to carry out such policy might easily lead to serious complications."
A Constantinople despatch says: Arif Bey, President of the Red Crescent Committee, has gone to Mecca ostensibly to superintend the execution of the sanitary arrangements adopted at the approach of the Lourdabairam festival. His real motive however, is to confer with pilgrims from India, Afghanistan and Central Asia, who will reach Mecca in large numbers within the next month to influence them favorably towards the British policy and adversely to Russia.

Revenue Offences in Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The Cabinet held a brief session today. It was devoted to general interest. Some conversation concerning the reports of the trouble at the political meetings in South Carolina. Some 400 illicit distillers and tobacco blockaders are now under indictment at Statesville, N. C.
A petition from revenue officers for the same clemency as recently shown similar offenders. That is to be allowed after pleading guilty, to have their sentence suspended during good behavior. The petition will probably be granted.
Telegrams were received from parties in that State, complaining of difficulties there, but it was agreed that nothing could be done by the General Government, while the judicial processes of the United States Courts are not resisted, and it is acknowledged that they are not.

The Santa Cruz Insurrection.

KINGSTON, JAM. Oct. 17.—The negroes who controlled largely to the insurrection in Santa Cruz were emigrants from Barbadoes, whose time of service had expired and who could not obtain their money out of the savings bank, which was insolvent. They were refused passports, because they would not re-engage with the planters for another year, unless they paid $10 a head, the regular fee being 33 cents only.
The failure of Colborn, Marton & Co., of London, and the manufacturers agents of Hough Balfour & Co., of Manchester, seriously affected this island. The former have fifteen plantations here, all of which have in a very large measure stopped cultivation and the circulation of money.

The Indian Frontier.

CAMP ROBINSON, Oct. 25.—Companies B and D of the Third Cavalry, under command of Capt. J. B. Johnson, captured one hundred and fifty Cheyennes, under Dull Knife, on Tuesday. The hostiles at first showed fight, but afterwards yielded, and were brought into Major Carlton's camp, on Chadron Creek, where they were dispersed and their stock taken away.
A courier from Chadron Creek this afternoon reports that when the hostiles were informed that their destination was Camp Robinson they refused to go, and scattering over the prairie, commenced digging rifle pits with their hunting knives. They appeared to have rifles secreted which they secured, having given up only a few old guns and revolvers. Artillery has been sent from here to shell them from their positions should they continue resistance. Considerable excitement prevails over anticipated trouble.

C. E. Schmidt, of New Orleans, and L. L. Lewis, of Richmond, were admitted today to practice before the Supreme Court. According to the re-assignment of the petitioners would then be considered parties for that purpose. Judge Hughes dissented, thinking the petitioners ought to be made parties now. The opinion of Judge Bond, however, stands.
The court next took up a motion submitted by the trustees and English bondholder for the foreclosure of the mortgage and sale of the road.
Attempted Assassination of the Spanish King.
MADRID, Oct. 26.—As the King was driving through the street known as Calle Mayor, this evening, a man in a blouse fired a pistol at him. The King was unhurt, and continued on his way to the palace amid the acclamations of the crowd. The assailants were immediately seized by the soldiers and taken to prison.

The A. M. & O. R. Cases.

RICHMOND, Oct. 25.—In the United States Circuit Court today Judge Bond declined to allow the Dutch bondholders to be made parties defendant in the suit in the matter of the Atlantic, Mississippi & Ohio railroad, as trustees are acting for them as well as for the English bondholders. He stated, however, that should an occasion arise necessitating an appeal, the petitioners would then be considered parties for that purpose. Judge Hughes dissented, thinking the petitioners ought to be made parties now. The opinion of Judge Bond, however, stands.
The court next took up a motion submitted by the trustees and English bondholder for the foreclosure of the mortgage and sale of the road.

LATEST MAILS.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Rapid Outline of Third Day's Proceedings.
Sun Special Report.
The full proceedings would be too elaborate for the general purposes of a secular newspaper. Rev. R. B. Anderson preached on Thursday night. Friday was a busy day. The reports of a body like this occupy a large part of the sessions always. The agents of Sustentation, Education, Publication, and Sabbath Schools made reports, some of which were extended, and all were carefully prepared. Discussion followed, in which the day was interestingly consumed.
The report of the Agent of Foreign Missions will be made at night after public service.

TIMMONSVILLE.

The Way They Serenade Radicals.
Special Correspondence of the Sun.
Timmonsville is a small village situated on the line of the Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta Railroad. In this little village you can find some as true and as hospitable gentlemen as we have in our State. Radicalism is a subject that is very distasteful to all of them. If there is a white Radical residing there, I am not aware of it. The younger portion of the population has supplied themselves with small horns, and as soon as a Radical makes his appearance in this town, the first one of the "tin horn" company that sights him blows his horn and the company immediately assembles to serenade their visitors with tin pans, cow bells and almost anything that can make a noise. A Mr. Lockhart, the white nominee for County Commissioner was serenaded not long ago, and he was not very well pleased with his reception, pulled his knife and went for some of the boys, but did not do much damage fortunately.

THE STORY OF THE STORM.

Tremendous Damages in Philadelphia.
Philadelphia Times, 24, Shortened.
High masses of timber partly covered with roof-tin, three newly fitted Pullman cars with their tops badly damaged, and eighteen other passenger and freight cars with smashed roofs, smashed chairs and smashed platforms were among the debris at the Pennsylvania Railroad depot at Thirty-second and Market streets. The storm seized the outgoing shed, demolishing it entirely. Ten passengers and fifteen employes were on the platform at the time, but all managed to escape uninjured with the exception of a fireman, who was slightly hurt. The shed, which was handsomely built, was located in the rear of the depot and was 70 feet in width and 500 feet in length. The damage to it alone will amount to $12,500. Twenty-one cars were in the depot at the time of the accident. The damage to them amounts to $11,500, making a total loss of $24,000. This is independent of the telegraph wires, which were broken down in large numbers.
[We skip much of the Times' elaborate report, and proceed.]

PUBLIC BUILDINGS, HOSPITALS, ETC.

About half of the roof of the Wagner Institute, Seventeenth and Montgomery avenue, was carried away.
Old Fellows Hall, Thirty-seventh and Market street, and Engine House No. 5, Paid Fire Department, Thirty-seventh and Ludlow streets, and Warren School House, Thirty-eighth and Spruce streets, and the Central Market House, Haverford and Union street, were partly unroofed.
The entire roof of the Morgue, Beach and Noble streets, was torn off.
The entire front of the North Delaware Avenue Market House, a brick building, was blown down, and half of the roof was torn off and hurled against a five-story brick row on the opposite side of Water street, damaging the wall.
The tin roof of St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum was entirely taken off.
The large depot of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad at Washington avenue wharf was demolished, and the southern side of the Pennsylvania grain elevator, in the immediate vicinity, was blown away and what was left of the benches and stools was scattered around the square.

THE PERMANENT EXHIBITION AND PARK.

The same puff that unroofed the Trans-Continental Hotel and dwellings along Girard avenue and Elm avenue drove in some of the lower windows, several with sash and all, at the Permanent Exhibition Building, ripped off the tin roof in about half a dozen places, principally on the eastern end, letting in the rain and sending flying the trophy containing the medalion head of America and the coats-of-arms surrounding the roof over the entrance at the west end. This went down to the sidewalk, a distorted mass of splinters and tin. The crash hurried the janitors and guards to the eastern end, where the storm was beating in the loose portions of the roof, shrieking like creatures in agony. One

The Black District.

Washington Press.
Radical affairs are very much mixed and muddled in the Second Congressional District. In July or August last the regular, authorized and legitimate convention of the party was called to meet at Goldboro. At this convention, regularly appointed delegates from every county in the district were present, and at the time it was considered, and was, in fact, the convention of the party. At the hands of this convention James E. O'Hara received the nomination for Congress, and while this was legitimate and regular yet the disappointed aspirants for the nomination determined that the convention's work should be undone. After some time had elapsed, enough, however, to sow the seeds of discontent, the executive committee of the district met in Goldboro, and under the plea that the good of the party demanded the removal of O'Hara, they, without more ado, threw him overboard and nominated in his stead Lot W. Humphrey. This movement instead of having the effect of stilling the troubled waters, stirred them to their very depths, caused them to bubble and boil more furiously, and threw to the top a host of hitherto forgotten petty politicians, whose aspirations in turn had to be quieted and satisfied. On Tuesday the 15th inst. a convention to again nominate a candidate for Congress was called to meet in Kingston, on the 5th ballot James H. Harris (col.) of Halifax received the nomination. So now we have the novel sight of three nominees in one district for the same office, and each claiming the regular nomination; and what adds still more to the fun of the thing, is: the Nationals have got their backs up, because the Rev. B. W. Morris, their regular nominee, allowed his name to go before the Kingston (Radical) convention. The Nationals therefore have held an informal meeting at which, they have determined to call a second convention to censure the outrageous treachery of Morris, and to nominate another in his stead, and so the fun goes on. We wish them all the pleasure and success of Kilkenny Cats. The glorious hug sheet of tin sailed away one hundred feet eastward, tearing a cedar tree to splinters. None of the exhibits were damaged in the least, and tarpaulins soon covered the cases under the damaged roof.

Part of Maj. John W. Moore's circular: The undersigned has been publishing for more than a year back, a work entitled "Historical Sketches of Hertford county." It has been seen that this narrative contained much of the history of North Carolina since 1776. The frequent commendations of various journals and eminent citizens, have induced the author to greatly enlarge the original scope of his undertaking, and a history of North Carolina is the result. No important man or event from 1764 to 1876 will be omitted. The author flatters himself that a new interest and understanding will be found in the narration of colonial times. Elaborate examination and port royal of men and events with full citation of authorities as to every period of our annals has been long needed and called for in the State. Dr. Hawks did not bring his work to a period later than 1729. Col. Wheeler, Mr. Jones and Judge Martin all concluded their histories with 1776, so for a century past, there is absolutely no book that pretends to chronicle events in North Carolina. The undersigned has endeavored to fill this want, and will, soon as enough subscriptions are obtained, put to press the results of his labors. This work will be published in one large octavo volume of about eight hundred pages at four dollars per copy, to be paid for on delivery, or two volumes at five dollars. The author will want agents in every portion of the State, with whom he is willing to make liberal contracts for the sale of the work.
